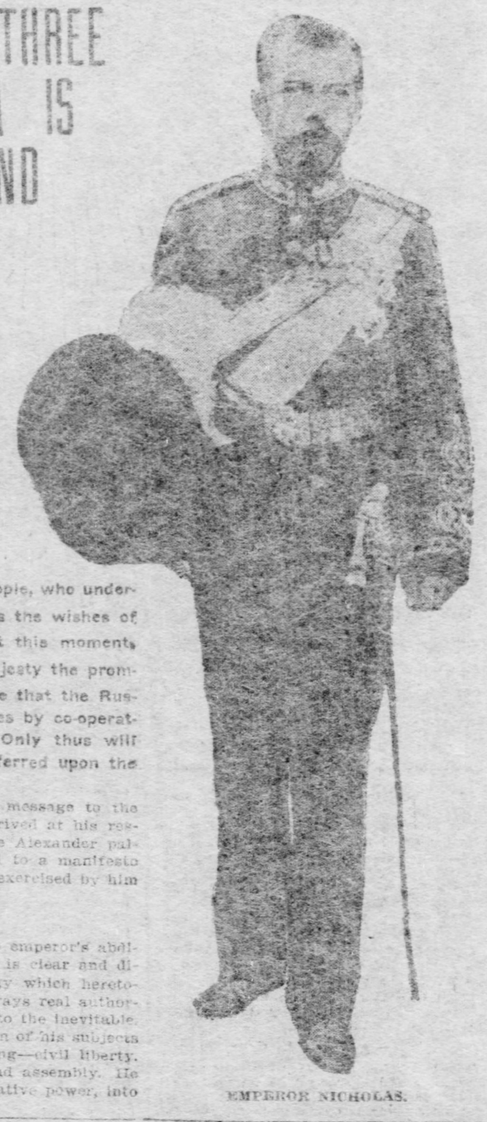
NICHOLAS HUMBLY BOWS TO WILL OF THE PEOPLE

THE AUTOCRATIC POWER OF THREE HUNDRED YEARS IN RUSSIA IS ABDICATED IN MANIFESTO AND CIVIL LIBERTY GRANTED

Farcial Imperial Douma Converted Into True Legislative Assembly.

COUNT WITTE IS MADE FIRST PRIME MINISTER



EMPEROR NICHOLAS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—"I am sure the American people, who understand what freedom is, and the American press, which voices the wishes of the people, will rejoice with the friendly Russian nation at this moment, when the Russian people have received from his imperial majesty the promises and the guarantees of freedom, and will join in the hope that the Russian people will wisely aid in the realization of those liberties by co-operating with the government for their peaceful introduction. Only thus will it be possible to secure the full benefits of the freedom conferred upon the people."

Count Witte, Russia's first premier, tonight sent the above message to the American people through the Associated Press. He had just arrived at his residence on Kammeniovlov Prospect, from Peterhof, where, in the Alexander palace, the emperor two hours before had given his final approval to a manifesto and to a program which will forever end the rule of absolutism exercised by him and his Romanoff ancestors for 300 years.

Driven to Yield Everything.

A simple perusal of the manifesto shows how complete is the emperor's abdication of his autocratic power. The very style of the document is clear and direct and devoid of the verbose, vague and bombastic phraseology which heretofore has characterized his majesty's manifestos. It not only betrays real authorship, but shows that the emperor at last has irrevocably bowed to the inevitable. He does not even conceal the fact that the discontent and agitation of his subjects has driven him to take the step, and practically yields everything—civil liberty, the inviolability of person, and liberty of conscience, speech and assembly. He not only converts the farcical imperial douma, with only consultative power, into a true legislative assembly, without the assent of which no measure shall become law and before which all governmental authorities must answer, but promises eventually universal suffrage.

The title "autocrat of all the Russias" with which the manifesto begins, now takes its place with the title of "king of Jerusalem," borne by the king of Spain and the emperor of Austria, and with other obsolete titles of European sovereigns.

"Russia Has a Constitution."

J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., and George W. Perkins were with Finance Minister Kokovsoff when the latter received the news. It was a dramatic moment. The minister was called to the telephone, and when he returned he was greatly agitated, and said:

"Gentlemen, the old order of things has changed. Russia has a constitution."

The news spread like wildfire throughout the city. The revolutionists and active agitators generally declared loudly that the government's promise would no longer suffice and that the strike must be continued. In fact, an hour after the news became known the revolutionists took occasion to throw the first bomb in St. Petersburg used since the strike began. The incident occurred near the Polytechnic school, but there was no fatality. Practically all classes, except the socialists and extreme radicals, however, read the document with delight and amazement, declaring that it could not fail to rally the Moderates to the support of Count Witte.

Strike Prevents Printing Manifesto.

By the irony of fate, while the strikers are clamoring for a constitution, it has been impossible to persuade the striking printers to resume work and, therefore, not a single newspaper except the Official Messenger will print the momentous document for distribution tomorrow. Arrangements, however, have been made to placard the manifesto on every dead wall in the city, and the text will be telegraphed tomorrow to every city, town and hamlet with which there is telegraphic communication. It also has been ordered read in all the churches of the empire.

The effect throughout Russia is expected to be instantaneous. While the extremists threaten an attempt to keep up the present struggle, the best opinion is that the backbone of the strike is broken, but the final analysis will depend on how far Count Witte will be able to execute the heavy task which he has assumed.

Some persons high in the government believe it still will be necessary to use ball cartridges to suppress the present movement, but Count Witte appears confident he has become the bridge whereby the people are to cross to constitutionalism.

Witte Selects Cabinet.

The count already has tentatively selected the members of his cabinet. He

CZAR'S MANIFESTO GIVES LIBERTY TO RUSSIA

Autocrat Grants Freedom of Person, Conscience, Speech and Assembly.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The following is the text of the imperial manifesto:

"We, Nicholas the II., by the grace of God emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, grand duke of Finland, etc., declare to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow.

"The happiness of the Russian sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the sovereign.

"From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our empire.

"The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourself and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central government and to assure the success of measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well-being of our people.

"We therefore direct our government to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner:

"First—To extend to the population the immutable foundation of civic liberty, based on the real inviolability of person, freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

"Second—Without suspending the already ordered elections to the state douma, to invite to participation in the douma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the douma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of the electoral right in general to the newly-established legislative order of things.

"Third—To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without the approval of the state douma and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

"We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty toward the fatherland, to aid to terminating these unprecedented troubles and to apply their forces, in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our natal soil.

"Given at Peterhof, October 30, in the eleventh year of our reign.

(Signed.) "NICHOLAS."

MRS. SARA RODGERS DEAD.

Daughter of Naval Hero Who Opened Japan and Niece of Lake Erie's Fighter, Dies of Old Age.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Oct. 30.—At an advanced age Mrs. Sara Perry Rodgers, widow of Robert S. Rodgers, died today at the home of her son-in-law, Lieut. J. F. Meigs.

Mrs. Rodgers was the daughter of Commodore M. C. Perry, who led the expedition against Japan in 1852. She was also a niece of Commodore O. H. Perry, who as commodore of the American fleet of the battle of Lake Erie won great fame.

OVER ONE HUNDRED ARE KILLED AND WOUNDED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

RIGA, RUSSIA, Oct. 30.—Cossacks dispersed several meetings here during the night. The people fired from windows upon the cabmen who have refused to join in the strike. During the day collisions between the troops and the armed populace continued. Many persons were killed or wounded. The strikers used knives and revolvers and killed a number of police with cold steel.

REVEL, RUSSIA, Oct. 30.—The soldiers fired two volleys on a crowd in the Market place today, killing or wounding over 100 persons. A mob last night destroyed the Hotel de France.

ROSTOFF-ON-DON, RUSSIA, Oct. 30.—A mob attacked the synagogue here today. Two Jews were killed. Finally the rioters were dispersed by Cossacks who used their whips.

WARSAW, Oct. 30.—Night—The news that the emperor had signed a constitution spread like wildfire and created a tremendous sensation, causing a feeling of joy, mingled with the fear that the news might be premature.

ODESSA, Oct. 30.—It is impossible to fix even approximately the number of yesterday's victims. The officials in charge of the hospitals, cemeteries and lockups are strictly forbidden to give the slightest information. The dead and wounded, whose numbers must be very considerable, have been removed by the police and hidden out of sight of inquirers.

LODZ, Oct. 30.—The situation here grows worse hourly. The infantry when ordered to fire on the people, are discharging their rifles in the air. The shops are closed and those who refuse to shut up are destroyed. Crowds are busily tearing down Russian flags which are displayed by order of the police.

FIERCE FIRE DAMAGES WEST VIRGINIA TOWN

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 31.—Fire that started in the Pine Grove hotel at Pine Grove, Wetzel county, on the Short Line railroad, at 12:30 o'clock this morning has wiped out the greater part of the town and the flames, which are still raging, threaten to destroy every building. The fire started from a natural gas explosion, quickly enveloping the hotel and spreading to nearby buildings.

At 2 o'clock the following buildings have been burned to the ground: Pine Grove hotel, Commercial hotel, Pine Grove bank, Methodist Episcopal church, Morgan business block, seven stores, 19 dwelling houses.

The Grove has a population of less than 1,000, and most of the buildings are close together. There is practically no fire protection, and the men of the village are fighting the flames with water carried in buckets. Dynamite is being used to tear down structures in the path of the flames in the hope of stopping their progress. It is rumored several lives have been lost.

FREIGHT TRAIN IS BACKED INTO CAR AT CROSSING

Two Passengers Are but Slightly Injured and Rear Platform Is Torn Away.

Fourteen persons had narrow escapes from death last night when a freight ensine on the Allegheny Valley railroad backed several cars into a street car which was crossing the tracks at Twenty-eighth street. Two passengers, Stella Deong of Homewood avenue, and Herbert M. Wells of the Hotel Henry, each had an ankle sprained and others of the passengers were bruised.

The accident happened at 9:30 o'clock. A freight train had been cut in two at the crossing and the engine and about a dozen cars were lying south of the crossing. A Shady avenue car, city bound, came up and the conductor signaled for the motorman to cross. At that moment the freight engine started to back the cars to couple up, one of the brakemen evidently having previously given a signal. The motorman was warned by the noise of the cars taking up the slack in the coupling and threw on full current in the hopes of clearing the track. He was partly successful for the freight car caught only the rear end of the street car, smashing the platform and hood off, and forcing the wheels from the rails. The street car was turned at an angle and ran into the curb.

Several of the passengers jumped from the car. All the windows in the car were broken but the running gear was not wrecked. The accident drew a great crowd of people completely blockading Penn avenue.

While the excitement was at its height two men, Hugh Wilson and J. A. Clement, attempted to drive through the crowd with a wagon and narrowly missed running over several persons. They were locked up in No. 3 police station, charged with disorderly conduct.

It was said by employes of the railroad company that the reason the freight backed up was that the signal had been given to couple up, and, the engine being over 12 car lengths away and lying on a curve, the engineer could not see the street car and was at such a distance from the crossing that he could not receive the signal of the flagman in time to stop.

PAUL IS NOT MARRIED.

Pittsburgher Denies Story of Secret Wedding in Which Actress Figures as His Bride.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—L. V. D. Paul of Pittsburgh, tonight declared untrue the story published in St. Louis today of his alleged secret marriage to Miss Margaret Sutherland, who takes the part of Princess Angelcake in "The Runaways," now playing here.

"Miss Sutherland and I have been good friends a long time," said Paul, "but we are not married. Such a rumor greatly embarrasses both of us."

REQUIRE THEATRICAL PEOPLE TO FURNISH INFORMATION ON SUIT CASE MYSTERY

Police Officials from Boston Today Will Make Examination of Members of the "Shepherd King" Company.

Every member of Wright Lorimer's Shepherd King" company who knew anything of Ethel Durrell, the victim in the Boston suit-case tragedy, will be detained by the authorities to give information regarding the dead girl's career while she was with their forces. Inspector W. J. McGarr of the Boston Metropolitan police, and Silas P. Smith, an officer in the Massachusetts state constabulary, will arrive in Pittsburgh this morning to take custody of Morris Nathan, and will call up the members of the company for a searching examination.

An information was made against Nathan in Boston, charging him with complicity in the murder and he will be taken back on that authority.

Nathan yesterday confessed his knowledge of the crime to Supt. Thomas A. McQuaide of the Pittsburgh bureau of detectives. He gave the name of a woman in Boston who is alleged to have performed a criminal operation upon the Durrell girl. This fact was immediately communicated to Boston and the woman's arrest is expected to follow. Nathan will be a star witness for the prosecution when the famous case is brought to trial.

Yesterday's developments practically resulted in untangling all mystery of the murder. While it is almost unbelievable that a woman could commit such a heinous crime, all theories held by the detectives and all the clues which have so rapidly come to light, point out almost conclusively that the tragic deed was the work of a feminine hand.

Nathan tentatively admitted that his relations with Miss Durrell were those of extreme intimacy. While he protests that he is ignorant of being responsible for the girl's condition which would drive her to risk her life to save her good name, he told of having overheard a conversation between his sweetheart and two of her young women companions, which caused him to grow suspicious.

"About five weeks before Miss Durrell disappeared," said Nathan, "she was talking with two other girls and their conversation was of the most confidential character. Then I heard her say, 'If you ever happen to be in trouble, go to Mrs. ——, in Boston. She can treat you quietly and there will be no publicity.'"

This part of Nathan's story was instantly recognized by Supt. McQuaide as a most important clue. The prisoner told the woman's name, but it is being withheld until an arrest is made in Boston, where the police set to work the moment the Pittsburgh authorities telephoned the name of the new suspect.

Private advices say that the Boston detectives are looking for Dr. Jane Bishop, who kept a house in Tremont street, that city, where women were treated. Regarding the quest for the woman, an Associated Press dispatch last night says:

"The place searched in Tremont street is one widely-advertised in certain papers as an institution devoted especially to the treatment of women. When the police made inquiry in Dorchester for the practitioner alleged to be the head physician at the Tremont street institution, they were told he had not been in the city since last August. Another doctor, who is said to have been connected with the institution for whom they also made inquiry, was said to be 'in New York.'

"In connection with the search for the second doctor it was learned that a theory had been developed that when an operation upon the woman seemed likely to prove unsuccessful, a second doctor more skillful than the first was called in, and that he, after death had taken place, dissected the body."

To what extent Nathan was implicated is yet to be discovered. He still sticks to his original story and says that he parted with Miss Durrell on Saturday night, September 9, at the Boston subway station at Tremont and Boylston streets, and that he never saw her again. He says he went to Boston from Lowell, on the following Thursday, to look for the doctor whose name was given on a certificate sent by the girl to the manager of the company. He says he spent the day in Boston after a futile search, and returned to Lowell in the evening in time for the performance. The theory is that this was about the day that the girl was operated upon.

Nathan's Second Trip.

Ten days later, while the "Shepherd King" was playing an engagement at Providence, Nathan made another trip to Boston on the same errand, but says that he found no trace of the physician. Entire New England at this time was startled by the finding of the suit case containing the torso of the murdered girl and Nathan avers that it was then that he first grew suspicious of Miss Durrell's fate.

Such, in brief, the substance of the latest developments in the case. When Nathan returns to Boston additional clues will be followed. The dealer who sold the suit cases will then be enabled to give information which is likely to settle the question as to whether or not confederates were employed.

It is expected that the Boston officers today will bring out additional details as to Miss Durrell's condition when they examine Nathan and the members of the company who were closely associated with her. Information was received here yesterday which says strong hints that the girl made no secret of her trouble and that several members of the chorus were

MORRIS NATHAN VAINLY CRIES FOR HIS DEAD SWEETHEART

Grief of Prisoner in Suit Case Tragedy Causes Pitiful Scene at His Cell in the Central Police Station.

Morris Nathan spent a restless night at the police station following the ordeal of his arrest at the Hotel Henry and his searching examination by the detectives. He wept all night and ignored the presence of Detective George W. Cole, who watched the cell, fearing that the young man might attempt to do himself violence. At 4 o'clock yesterday morning, utterly exhausted by his grief, he fell asleep and was left undisturbed for several hours. Director Harry Moore visited the cell and called Nathan. With hair dishevelled and his eyes almost closed as a result of his constant weeping, the prisoner rose up on his elbow and greeted the director with a convulsive sob. He talked in a disconnected fashion and moaned despairingly over his sweetheart's death. Before he closed his misty eyes in slumber he had called for her to come back and comfort him, and now, with another unhappy day dawning he repeated the heartrending plea—half-wail and half-prayer.

"I want to go back home, even if I go to disgrace," cried the man, springing from his cot. "I want to avenge the horrible butchery of the woman I loved. I will spare no one. I will tell the authorities everything I know."

Nathan refused to be comforted and told Director Moore and Supt. McQuaide other details of his intimacy with Miss Durrell, which are mentioned elsewhere. During the morning he asked for stationery and spent more than an hour writing letters. These he requested to have posted with all possible haste. They were addressed to his relatives in Boston and to other friends in New England. He asked to see an attorney and Charles M. Johnston, counsel for Nixon & Zimmerman, visited the cell. The distressed man reiterated his former story and laid stress on his willingness to return to Boston. He said the would consult a lawyer on every move that he would make.

A dispatch from Boston last night stated that the prisoner's father had retained Jesse W. Grove, a prominent attorney of Boston, to defend the son. Mr. Grove left for Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon.

her close confidants. The Boston police are following a clue which originated when a conversation was overheard in Hunt's drug store in Tremont street, Boston. It is said that Miss Durrell went to the store accompanied by Miss Rita Marie, a fellow-member of the chorus, and called up a certain physician of rather shady reputation.

Manager Reinold Puts Up Bar.

Manager B. A. Reinold of the "Shepherd King" company, refused to let Miss Matie be interviewed last night while she remained on the stage, and abruptly refused to allow newspapermen to speak to any member of the organization. Miss Marie, as she left the theater, was asked regarding the suspicious telephone message.

"I know nothing about it. Please don't ask me anything about this horrible affair," she cried as she hurried away to her boarding house.

MORRIS NATHAN,
The "privilege" man" with "The Shepherd King" company, who is held by the Pittsburgh police charged with complicity in the death of Ethel Durrell.

Miss Eleanor Barron, one of the dancers in the company and Miss Durrell's chum last season, is much aggrieved over her old room-mate's murder, but talked at length about their long association. She said:

"Miss Durrell was modest and rarely talked of her affairs. She was a graceful dancer and had no difficulty in obtaining an engagement. Her home life must have been not entirely happy and after we closed in Hartford, last season, she intended spending the entire summer resting for the new work which was to begin in September. However, her step-father grew angry at what he termed idleness, and the girl did specialties with several companies playing at the seashore resorts along the Massachusetts coast. When we resumed again at Hartford she came back to us and did her old part.

"I did not room with Miss Durrell this season and saw little of her up until the time of her disappearance. She seldom went out with men, although, both last season and this, she was in Mr. Nathan's company much of the time.

"We girls are almost heartbroken over the misfortune which has come to a member of our company. We cannot realize the truth of the tragedy. We were curious to know why she left so suddenly, but would not have believed that she had encountered such an unspeakable fate. She was a girl of good education and fascinating manners."

Lorimer's Strict Rules.

It is peculiar that the rules enforced by Wright Lorimer are the strictest of any theatrical company on the road. The women are not allowed to receive men friends at the theater or at their boarding places, and are instantly dismissed if they are seen on the streets with strangers. The men in the company complain of this and several of them yesterday, while discussing the case, recalled that seven people in the chorus were discharged since the beginning of the season for violating the rule.

"You know this is a good, religious play and we must behave," was their rather sarcastic comment.

S. Kimeo, the Japanese valet for Lorimer, is greatly distressed over Nathan's position. For two years they have been almost inseparable companions. In Providence when Nathan first showed alarm about his sweetheart he announced it first to Kimeo. Together they cherished the secret for several weeks. At length the lover's demonstrations of grief became so marked that other members of the 'Shepherd King" discovered the cause of his trouble.

When Nathan was arrested his Japanese friend accompanied him to the police station and stuck to him until he was led to his cell. Yesterday he called at the police station several times and told of his distress to Supt. McQuaide.

"After the young man was locked up I walked around the streets all night," he said. "I believe he is innocent and his arrest will almost kill him. He is one of the best souvenir sellers in the country and has traveled with Richard Mansfield, Henry Irving and other large companies. His parents are well-to-do and will have plenty of money to defend him."

It is believed in Boston that the mystery has reached its last stage and arrests are expected to occur within a day or two. The detectives refused last night to discuss the matter, in its details.

Dead Girl's Mother Quizzed.

Last night Mrs. Catherine Geary and Miss Evelyn Geary, mother and sister of the dead girl, were summoned to the office of Superintendent of Police William H. Pearce for an extended conference. Earlier in the day Mrs. Geary and her daughter had been closely questioned by Cambridge police detectives. While nothing was given out at headquarters regarding the nature of the conference, it was learned that Mrs. Geary and her daughter, under rigid questioning had given the authorities additional information regarding the circumstances immediately preceding the girl's disappearance.

FIREBUG WORKS WITH KEROSENE

Responsible for Three Blazes and Sharpsburg Residents Are in State of Terror.

ALL IN THE SAME LOCALITY

Residents of Sharpsburg rested uneasily last night, every ear was strained for the sound of the fire alarm, which might mean that another home had been set on fire by the unknown incendiary who has spread terror through the borough by causing three fires in two days, two of the blazes occurring between 8 and 10 o'clock last night while the police force and firemen were on the lookout for the "firebug." Each fire has shown unmistakable evidence of the work of an incendiary, and a peculiar feature of the man's work is that every blaze has been started near the St. Mary Roman Catholic church, near Sixth street and Altmayer alley.

Early Sunday morning the first fire occurred, starting in a small shed built against the side of the frame house of Mrs. John Niehaus and used by the family as an outside kitchen. The family were awakened at about 2.30 a. m. by the sound of an explosion in the shed, and had barely time to escape before the house was gutted.

Yesterday evening at 5 o'clock the second blaze was discovered by Daniel McCauley of 22 Clay street in his woodshed, which faces on Altmayer alley, a few doors away from the Niehaus home and across the street from the St. Mary church. Mr. McCauley found that the shed and the wood and coal it contained had been oil-soaked and set on fire. He extinguished the flames and upon finding the bottles which had contained the kerosene, reported the matter to Chief W. C. Myers of the Sharpsburg fire department, who called upon the police to investigate the fire.

Officer William Muckle was detailed to watch the alley. He remained on guard until shortly before 10 o'clock when he was called away to quell disorder in another part of the town. He had been gone scarcely 20 minutes when the large carriage sheds in the rear of the St. Mary's church yard burst into flame. When the firemen reached the church yard the sheds were blazing fiercely and a number of small frame houses adjacent were in danger of being destroyed. The firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames after they had demolished one end of the structure. The loss is estimated at $250.

This blaze was discovered by Fred Milke of 210 Clay street, who says that he saw a man run from the church yard as he approached, and leap over the rear fence of the church yard. Milke has had the unusual good fortune of discovering two of the three fires resulting from the work of the incendiary. He happened to be near the Niehaus home at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, and he spread the alarm. Again, he happened to be near the fated structure which was set on fire at 10:10 last night.

GOING TO BEAVER FALLS.

State Officers Will Assist in the Institution of a New Knights Templar Commandery There.

Pittsburgh Knights Templar will go to Beaver Falls in large numbers on Friday to witness the institution of a new commandery to be known as the Beaver Valley commandery, No. 84. The ceremonies will be conducted by William J. Diehl, grand commander of Pennsylvania, assisted by other officers of the grand commandery from all parts of the state.

The Pittsburgh delegation will go to Beaver Falls over the Pennsylvania, leaving Union station at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Ascalon commandery No. 59 will go as an organization and the members of other commanderies as individuals. Accommodations will be provided for knights to don their uniforms on the train.

There will be a parade at Beaver Falls from the depot to the hall where the ceremonies will take place, and later the visitors will be entertained in the dining-rooms of three of the churches of the town, the number of guests expected exceeding the capacity of the Templar hall. The party will return to Pittsburgh at 5 o'clock in the evening.

CZAR NICHOLAS BOWS TO WILL OF THE PEOPLE

will himself hold no portfolio. All the present ministers except those of war, navy and foreign affairs, will be retired. Prince Alexis Obolensky, one of the count's former assistants in the ministry of finance, will become minister of interior; M. Romanoff, another former assistant to the minister, will take the finance portfolio; M. Koni, at present a senator and Russia's ablest jurist, will be minister of justice; M. Krosovsky, president of the St. Petersburg municipal council, will take the ministry of education, and M. Ziegler von Schaffhausen, chief of the railroad department of the ministry of finance, will become minister of ways and communications.

Late tonight, after the news got abroad, crowds began marching up and down the Nevsky Prospect singing the national hymn and hurraing for liberty. It is significant that the great searchlight which has been lighting up the Nevsky Prospect from the admiralty tower for three nights, was turned off tonight.

A ludicrous incident occurred at midnight near the university, when newsboys with an extra edition of the Official Messenger hurried into a crowd of strikers. The instant the news became known the strikers raised an unroarious cheer and the Cossacks who were patrolling the street, missing the import of the demonstration and thinking the cries were seditious, charged and dispersed the workmen with their whips.

At all the fashionable restaurants wine was drunk in toasts to "Liberty and the constitution."

Railroad Strike Ceases.

The strike has ended on the Moscow & St. Petersburg, the Moscow & Kazan and the Moscow & Archangel railroads.

A meeting of the strike committee was held tonight after the promulgation of the emperor's manifesto was known. The question calling the strike off was discussed, but a decision was postponed until tomorrow. A damper was thrown upon the strike enthusiasm by the news that work had been resumed in a large part of the factories of St. Petersburg, including 11 of the 12 departments of the Putiloff works and that stores had been reopened.

The committeemen talked boldly of their ability to call out the men again and to intimidate the store clerks into re-closing, but the committee probably tomorrow will put a good face on their defeat and issue a proclamation calling off the strike until January.

The municipal council, at its sitting this evening, after reading the imperial manifesto, decided to send the following telegram to the emperor: "The council welcomes with delight the long desired tidings of freedom, firmly relying on a bright future for our dear fatherland. Hurrah for the emperor of a free people."

There appears to be no foundation for the rumors of mutiny on the vessels of the Black Sea fleet which are in circulation in Odessa and which have been industriously propagated by the strikers here for several days.

Witte a Guide to Czar.

Count Witte's report to the emperor who inscribed thereon "To be taken for guide," is as follows:

Your majesty has deigned to indicate to me directions for a government in consideration of the actual state of Russia.

The agitation of human society is not the outcome of partial imperfections in the social and governmental regime or of actions organized by the extreme elements. Its roots are much deeper. It took birth in the violation of the balance between the moral aspirations and the exterior forms of Russian society.

Believing that Russia aspired to laws based on civil liberty the chief problem of the government consists in making effective, even before approval by the state douma, all elements of civil liberty in the elaboration of normal legislative measures giving equality before the laws to all Russians without distinction of race or religion.

The problem ensuing consists in the establishment of legislative forms seeming to guarantee the benefits of civil, political and economic liberty. These benefits should be extended to the masses of the people, under the reserves safeguarding the laws in all civilized countries.

It must be realized, then, that these objects cannot be maintained immediately, as no government could suddenly prepare 130,000,000 men with a vast administration for new liberties. It is therefore necessary to have the powers of a homogeneous government united in its aims, taking care to put in practice the stimulating principles of liberty and to display sincerity and uprightness in its intentions.

Will Not Interfere in Elections.

The government should abstain from any intefernce with elections to the douma and keep in view my sincere desire for the realization of the ukase of December 25, 1904. It must maintain the douma and have confidence in its labors, and no way reslat its decisions so long as they are not inconsistent with Russia's historic greatness.

It is necessary to respect the ideals of the great majority of society and not the echoes of noisy groups and factions, too often unstable. It is especially important to secure the reform of the council of the empire on an electoral principle.

I believe that in the exercise of the executive power the following principles should be embodied:

First—Straightforwardness and sincerity in the confirmation of civil liberty and in providing guarantees for its maintenance.

Second—A tendency in the direction of the abolition of exclusive laws.

Third—The co-ordination of the activity of all organs of government.

Fourth—Avoidance of repressive measures in respect of proceedings which do not openly menace society or the state.

Fifth—Resistance to acts which manifestly threaten society or the state, such resistance being based upon law and moral unity.

Confidence must be placed in the political tact of Russian society. It is impossible that society should desire a condition of anarchy which would threaten, in addition to all the horrors of civil strife, the dismemberment of the empire.

Crowds Cheer for Emperor.

Celebration of the issuance of the imperial manifesto still continues at 3 o'clock this morning in many parts of the city where crowds are singing the national hymn, cheering for the emperor and shouting themselves hoarse. The restaurants and cafes were closed at 2 o'clock, disgorging their crowds which had been drinking and making merry for hours around the tables to augment the demonstration in the thoroughfares. The Cossack patrols were utterly discomfited and confounded, and were wholly at a loss to understand the meaning of the demonstration or why the crowds were singing "God Save the Emperor," Russia's magnificent national anthem, instead of "The Marseillaise."

The people displayed the utmost good humor towards the Cossacks. They surrounded their horses and patted their perplexed riders on the boots, shouting, "You can go home now. We no longer need you. We have liberty." Then they bade the Cossacks toss their caps in honor of the constitution. After 2 o'clock all the patrols were withdrawn from the streets which were left in charge of the ordinary night force of policemen.

Soon after midnight a crowd of several hundred gathered in the great square before the winter palace and sang a chant from the church liturgy addressed to the emperor and the national anthem and finished with rousing cheers for his majesty and the imperial family. There was no illuminations or other formal demonstrations, the population of the capital having lived too long under a regime under which all initiative for outward festivities came from the police.

CHINA SHOWS AWAKENING IN HER IMPROVED ARMY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PEKING, Oct. 30.—The army manuevers, which have just been completed, greatly impressed foreigners, especially those acquainted with the condition of Chinese troops five years ago. The opinion expressed on all sides is that China has accomplished an absolutely marvelous feat in raising an army of 40,000 men to its present efficiency.

The foreign military attaches criticised the generalship displayed—for instance, the absence of proper support for the artillery which they thought was injudiciously placed—but they gave unstinted praise for the complete control of the troops and the steadiness of discipline exhibited, the latter bearing comparison with that of European troops.

The infantry was armed with Mauser magazine rifles. The officers carried a sword, a revolver and a field-glass. The men's kit, weighed 54 pounds each, the knapsack being of Japanese pattern. The pioneers carried picks, shovels and saws, every one being in full marching order.

The cavalry was armed with Mauser carbines and swords, the officers carrying revolvers. The saddlery and accoutrements were bad and the men had no spurs. This is regarded by the military observer as the weakest branch of the army, being unsuitable for work as cavalry or mounted infantry.

IS NOT A PROSECUTOR.

Attorney Hughes Says He Has No Idea of Pressing Criminal Actions in Insurance Cases.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Charles E. Hughes, counsel for the insurance investigating committee, was asked today about the possibility of his assisting in any criminal prosecutions that might grow out of the inquiry. District Attorney Jerome last night announced his purpose of securing Mr. Hughes as special counsel to conduct such prosecutions. Mr. Hughes said:

"As I was one of Mr. Jerome's nominators, it is proper for me to say I shall vote for Mr. Jerome and that I hope he will be elected, but I wish to make it clear I have no idea of taking charge of any criminal prosecution which may grow out of the pending inquiry. I say this because I believe it would be a misfortune if the idea were to go abroad that I was conducting the investigation, or doing my part in it, with the object of making it a preliminary to a criminal trial."

Price for Ring Too Low.

Two young men giving their names as George Gills and Daniel Gshan tried to sell a valuable ring to Charles Tyler, a negro constable, yesterday. The price they asked was so low that Tyler's suspicions were aroused, and he turned the men over to Detectives Daily and McGough. They were locked up, charged with being suspicious persons.

CORONER INVESTIGATING INITIATION OF PIERSON

Says Boy Was Tied to Railroad Track, Marks of Cords Are Found on the Body.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 30.—Stuart L. Pierson, a student of Kenyon college, who was killed at Gambier, O., Saturday night by a Cleveland, Akron & Columbus train, while awaiting initiation into the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, was apparently tied to the railroad tracks, according to a statement made today by Coroner Scarborough of Mount Vernon, after an examination of the body, which was brought to Cincinnati by the boy's father.

The coroner said he found marks on the arms and legs and on the body indicating that the boy had been tied to the railroad track. The right hand was torn from the wrist. A narrow bruise encircled the right wrist, as if it were caused by the pressure of a cord. Similar wounds were on the ankle and the left foot.

Coroner Scarborough refused to say whether Pierson was tied to the track by the members of the college fraternity, but declared that he would thoroughly investigate the case.

TEAR DOWN THE STARS.

Canadian Churchmen Are Incensed at Decoration of Their Edifice With American Banners.

WINNIPEG, MAN., Oct. 30.—When members arrived at the Maryland Street Methodist church today to attend a thanksgiving service, they were surprised to find the edifice decorated with American flags and a picture of President Roosevelt in a prominent position. The committee appointed to arrange the decorations dwindled down to a few who were American in sympathy, and they put up the United States flags.

There was little time to alter the decorations, but several of the starry banners were torn down by irate churchmen and British emblems were substituted.

Transfers from the West Virginia to the Dolphin and Reaches Washington Today.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 — President Roosevelt has transferred to the United States dispatch boat Dolphin and aboard that vessel left Wolftrap light on the last leg of his journey to Washington at 12:40 o'clock this morning. He is scheduled to reach Washington today. The following dispatch was received at the Washington navy yard early this morning:

"NAVY YARD, WASHINGTON, D. C.—Please inform the navy department that the Dolphin with the President aboard, left Wolftrap light at 12:40 a. m. and should arrive at the navy yard at Washington between 10 a. m. and 11 a. m., today.

EXPRESS PACKAGE ROBBED.

Contents, Amounting to $14,000, Are Stolen En Route and Newspaper Clippings Substituted.

HELENA, MONT., Oct. 30.—A sum of money, said to be $14,000, en route by express from Hamilton, Mont., to New York, is missing. The Northern Pacific Express Company, through several detectives, is trying to discover what became of it. The money was shipped by Charles F. Kelley to N. H. Harris & Co. for investment.

Instead of receiving the securities he had purchased, Kelley was dumbfounded to receive a letter stating that the contents of the package, upon receipt by the New York firm, consisted of newspaper clippings. The seals were intact.

CITIZEN AND BURGLARS BATTLE AT SAEGERTOWN

Thieves Cut Telephone and Telegraph, Blow Bank Safe, but Flee Without Booty.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MEADVILLE, PA., Oct. 30.—Saegertown, the well-known summer resort, was aroused at 3 o'clock this morning by the crack of revolvers, followed by a muffled explosion. Men in scanty attire rushed into the street to learn that a daring and well-planned attempt to rob the Saegertown National bank had been frustrated through a resident catching sight of the robbers at work.

Samuel Shorts, a barber who lives across the street from the bank, was awakened by a loud crash and going to a window saw two men enter the bank by crawling through the transom over the front door. He quickly got his revolver and began shooting in the air to arouse the residents of the village.

Guided by the flash of his revolver the bank thieves sent eight bullets whistling past his head. Almost at the same time the report of an explosion was heard in the bank building. Men were now running about the street looking for the cause of the disturbance and the robbers, four in number, fled, getting outside the village in safety.

An investigation showed that the combination of the vault locks had been blown off, but nothing of value had been secured. The thieves had made careful arrangements for escape. They had cut the telephone and telegraph wires leading from Saegertown and had two double-horse teams standing in readiness to whirl them away with the booty which they expected to get. The rigs had been stolen from nearby barns and livery stables. The horses and buggies were found by the police of this city at 6 o'clock this evening tied in a hollow near town. The four men who are supposed to have attempted the robbery have been seen hanging about Saegertown lately and are believed to be professional cracksmen.

ONE CAME FROM TARENTUM.

Thought of the Festive Halloween Proves Too Much for Rural Guest and Hostess.

Seventeen-year-old Viola O'Brien of Tarentum went to Allegheny yesterday to pay a visit to her friend, Birdie Brown, aged 26, of Main street. Rejoiced to see each other they celebrated the approach of the festive Halloween. First they drank whisky straight, then they had a beer, then they tried a sandwich of the two; finally they mixed them. Then they began to mix their personalities.

Screams came from each as the other landed a good blow, bit a good bite or tore out a good hank of hair. Officer Charles Heckman tried to separate the pair, but had to call to his aid several citizens. It needed a dozen men to put the fighting women into the patrol wagon and the wagonmen needed all their strength to keep the pair apart on their way to Central station. Racing behind the patrol wagon came a crowd of 500 which followed to the rear of City hall.

When searched by the matron at the police station, in one of the O'Brien girl's stockings was found a wig of false hair. Charges of disorderly conduct were made against both.

PRESENTS FOR PASTOR.

The Rev. William Surdival Receives Remembrances on Leave-Taking.

Loving tribute was paid the Rev. William Surdival by the congregation of the Welsh Congregational church, South Side, last night, during a reception tendered him upon his leave-taking to accept a call to the Gomer (O.) congregation. Addresses were made by the Rev. B. G. Newton, Benjamin James and others and a musical program was carried out.

During the evening the Rev. Mr. Surdival was presented with a purse of money by the Dafeddifod society; a gold watch by the young men's society; a gold watch, chain and fob by the Cambrian society, and a handsome Morris chair by the congregation.

Gas Grate Ignites Woman's Dress.

Mamie Russell, aged 22, of 812 Balkan street, Allegheny, was badly burned about the body last evening by her dress catching fire from an open gas grate. John Helm went to her aid and one of his hands was badly burned. Helm and the girl were sent to the Allegheny General hospital.

Great Audience Greets Prof. Moulton.

The biggest audience of the season greeted Prof. Richard G. HUSBAND SHOOTS WIFE AND HIMSELF

John L. Phillips of Allegheny, Takes His Life After Firing Bullet into Woman's Head.

TRAGEDY OCCURS IN STREET

John Lee Phillips, aged 47, a widely-known resident of Allegheny, shot and killed himself last night after firing a bullet into his wife, Zelia. The woman is in the Allegheny General hospital with a bullet from a 32-caliber revolver lodged in her brain. The physicians say there is slight hope for her recovery.

The tragedy was the termination of years of domestic unhappiness. Mrs. Phillips had just left the boarding house of Mrs. Anna Kirk, 1310 Allegheny avenue, and was walking up the latter thoroughfare, when her husband from behind fired the revolver, and the bullet entered the woman's head at the base of the brain. She fell on the pavement and Phillips sent a bullet into his throat. It took an upward course into his head, and he died on the way to the hospital.

For six years Phillips was on the police force of Allegheny, but resigned six years ago and went into the bicycle business at 1248 Locust street. Three years ago he was appointed engineer at the city pumping station at Montrose.

The Pair Often Quarrelled.

According to those who have known the family for years, Phillips and his wife quarreled frequently. Several times within the past few years the woman left her husband, but in each instance a reconciliation was effected. The couple had one daughter, Louise.

Recently there has been more or less contention in the Phillips household, and, according to Miss Phillips, her father drank and made their home life almost unbearable. Last Wednesday Mrs. Phillips and her daughter left the family residence in Locust street and went to the Home hotel in Duquesne way, where they had been stopping since. On returning to the home yesterday afternoon Mrs. Phillips came unexpectedly upon her husband, whom she supposed was at work. He had telephoned to the water works that he was ill, and in J. P. Urben's drug store, at Locust and Fulton streets, where he used the telephone, it is said he looked very pale yesterday afternoon. When Mrs. Phillips met her husband she remained in the house and talked for a while, and then left, declaring she could not live with him any longer.

From the Locust street house Mrs. Phillips went to Mrs. Kirk's boarding house where a cousin, Mrs. Aline Leonard, is living. She spent the afternoon there and took dinner with her relatives. Apparently Phillips followed his wife in the afternoon, for about 7 o'clock he appeared and was admitted to the Kirk house. Mrs. Phillips had telephoned to her daughter to come to her, stating that she was going to remain with Mrs. Leonard all night. When Louise Phillips arrived she found her father.

Daughter's Story of the Tragedy.

"As soon as I saw father," said Miss Phillips last night, "I never said a word, for we did not get along well. I turned without saying anything and walked out of the house. I had gone only a few steps when I heard a shot. I did not pay any attention to it and then I heard another shot. Even then I did not suspect anything. By the time I reached the corner of Boquet street I saw several men running and heard one say a man and a woman had been shot and were lying on the pavement near Mrs. Kirk's house. I walked back and found father and mother lying together. Mother must have followed me out of the house and I suppose father walked after her and shot. Father has had that revolver in the house for years, and I have heard him several times [illegible] mother. For this reason I was [illegible] against him and did not speak to [illegible]."

Detectives England and Einstein were at the scene of the shooting a few minutes after it occurred and had the man and his wife removed to the Allegheny General hospital. Phillips died before reaching there. The physicians did not try to locate the bullet in Mrs. Phillips' head, as her condition was critical. At a late hour last night her condition was somewhat improved, but there is slight hope of her recovery.

GREAT CELEBRATION TO MARK THE HALLOWEEN

Downtown, in East End, West End and Manchester There Will Be Parades.

Pittsburgh's Halloween celebration promises to be this year the greatest in the annals of the city. The East End has so much to do that the evening will not hold it all and so the afternoon has been pressed into service. Downtown all will be hilarious, and the mob will be entirely disorganized.

In the West End and in Manchester there will also be celebrations, all being timed to allow the crowds from each center to reach the downtown part of Pittsburgh and take part in the big show toward its close.

The executive committee of the East End organization met last evening at Alderman Negley's office and by every member the prospects were reported excellent. All who wish to be given a place in the line are ordered to report at Fifth and Penn avenues, Point Breeze, not later than 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. There will be scores of floats in the procession and several military organizations. In the evening there will be another parade in costume with prizes for the handsomest and most grotesque. About a dozen bands will be in line.

HONOR POLICE VETERAN.

Comrades Give Patrick Kennedy, 34 Years an Officer, Supper, and Say Kind Things.

Policeman Patrick Kennedy retired from the police force yesterday after a service of 34 years, and in honor of his entrance into the list of pensioned policemen his comrades gave him a supper. It was a surprise to Kennedy. He was sitting at his home when a delegation of policemen waited on him and asked him to come down to the Penn avenue police station. He went and there found tables spread and a great layout of eatables ready. Forty persons sat down to the feast.

Magistrate Moke was the toastmaster. The speechmakers were Inspector W. J. Boyle, Capt. Peter Welch, Lieuts. Charles Bostwick and C. F. Ford, Sergeant Charles Johnson, Patrolman Michael Connelly, Wagonmen John L. Page and Michael Joyce and Drivers Henry Sweeney and Ray Pickles.

Dean Reception Postponed.

The Dean Pupils' association has postponed indefinitely its reception to Mrs. Grace Dean, the widow of Prof. Pillotus Dean, in honor of the latter's birthday anniversary. The reception was to have been held last night, but was postponed owing to the infirm condition of Mrs. Dean, which prevented her making the trip from her home in New England to Pittsburgh at this season.

ORPHANS WILL ALL BE IN LINE

Notify Twenty-first Ward Republicans They Are Working for the County Ticket.

LINCOLN TICKET STANDS

There is perfect harmony between the Republicans and Orphans in the Twenty-first ward. They are working together for the success of the Republican ticket and that ward is certain to return a handsome majority.

At a ward meeting last night attended by 750 voters Republican Chairman A. C. Gumbert read this communication from J. K. Wymard, chairman of the Orphans' ward committee:

The Orphans organization of the Homewood district, Twenty-first ward, has this night voted to give their hearty support to the Republican ticket in the county and state election, and we hope all parties interested in the welfare of the party will forget any personal spite and join hands with us in the overthrow of Czar Bigelow.

Monster Ward Meeting.

When the foregoing had been read Mr. Gumbert said Dr. George W. McNeill, formerly a strong opponent of the Republican party, heartily coincided with the letter and that he would co-operate with the Republicans in their efforts to gain for Allegheny county an honest government.

Presiding over the meeting, which is considered to have been the greatest Republican gathering ever held in the ward, was Harry Bingham, who introduced Congressman J. F. Burke as the first speaker. Mr. Burke said in part:

Possibly there have been times when some may have thought themselves justified in leaving the Republican party. There was but one justification and that was the belief of dishonesty. For the first time in the history of this part of the country we have a Democratic ticket whom the opposition acknowledge to be honest and patriotic men. They are publicly declared as honest men and there is not a man who has a vote in the county who will have any excuse whatsoever to offer for not voting the Republican straight ticket.

Charles B. Price, candidate for county commissioner, made a practical and sound common sense speech that caught the audience. Representative Charles H. Kline dwelt upon the necessity of maintaining the Republican supremacy. W. B. Kirker was another candidate who helped to keep the audience in a good humor and told of the persistency of the candidates and their endeavor to gain votes for the Republican party. P. A. Shaner closed the meeting with an eloquent appeal for support of the Republican ticket and told of the corrupt methods employed by the Citizens since their incumbency of the past three years.

Lincoln Party Papers Stand.

The Lincoln party nomination papers were yesterday amended in accordance with the recent ruling of the courts. The ticket will appear on the ballot, carrying W. H. Berry as the candidate for state treasurer and the Republican nominees for county offices. W. J. Brennen, who led the attack on the nomination papers, now admits that at least 10,000 votes will be polled in the Lincoln party column.

Carrick Republicans will have a parade, followed by a smoker this evening. The parade through the principal streets of the borough will be led by the Carrick Republican club. The smoker will be held in Ahlborn's hall. Congressman A. J. Barchfeld, William Dodds, candidate for clerk of courts, and other speakers will be in attendance.

A Republican meeting will be held in Wyllie's hall, Elizabeth, this evening. The following will make addresses: W. D. Grimes, J. P. McKee, William B. Kirker, Capt. John A. Reed and the Rev. A. W. Fuller.

County Chairman Thomas J. Ford conducted a large and representative meeting of voters in Ochse hall, Etna, last night and the remarks of the six speakers provided were greeted with enthusiasm. J. L. Adams, Col. J. W. Moreland, J. B. McAdoo, U. G. Vogan and John F. Cox joined Mr. Ford in flaying the Citizens party and expounding the issues of the campaign. Capt. Irwin K. Campbell, candidate for county commissioner, was present and although he did not speak, he was accorded an ovation by the workers present.

M'NICHOL CHALLENGES FOR PROOF OF CHARGES

Says He Will Donate $500,000 Worth of Work to City If His Alleged Enormous Profits Are Proven.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—Sweeping and absolute is the denial of Senator James McNichol of the charges made in their report on the filtration contract by Maj. Casatus E. Gillette and J. D. MacLennan. Not only does he deny he has or will have a profit of $6,320,000 in addition to a "contractor's profit" of 20 per cent, but he says the profit on work completed will not amount to half of 20 per cent. He declares the report was written for political effect, along lines desired by Mayor Weaver and James G. Gordon. For direct quotation Mr. McNichol said:

"If Mayor Weaver or Maj. Gillette can prove to me where I made 20 per cent profit on the contracts we hold, let alone the figure at which it is placed, I shall be glad to contribute $500,00 worth of work to the city free of cost on any of the contracts I hold. The sum which the experts say the work cost us would not begin to pay for the material used in the construction."

In support of McNichol's statement Vallum, Fronley & Vallum, public accountants, made affidavit that all work done by McNichol on the filtration contract and so far paid for by the city, from records in the public works department, amounts to $4,113,848 40, and that the profit to McNichol on this sum amounts to $251,429, being 5 55-100ths per cent of the total amount of the contract. The mayor's experts agree that the contractor is entitled to 20 per cent profit.

GOL. W. S. GUFFEY SPEAKS IN SOHO

Utters Thundering Denunciation of Citizens Outfit and Back-Sliding Democrats.

BREAKS UP A BRENNEN PARTY

The local promoters of the Lincoln party held a mass meeting in the Soho public school last evening that was quite interesting. In fact it was so very interesting that it put a meeting of the Democratic ward committee, which William J. Brennen was presiding over in the basement of the school building, all to the bad. This happened when Col. Wesley S. Guffey, who was one of the principal speakers at the Lincoln party's meeting, began to speak.

Col. Guffey was full of his subject, and his voice swelled in such a robust manner as he commenced his delivery, that it would not have been very hard for a man in Westmoreland county to hear what he was saying, had the man inclined his ear in this direction.

As Col. Guffey got warmed up his words of denunciation of certain people who think they are the real thing as politicians, had a ring about them that discounted the clarion tones of any famous man who in times past called on the people to rise and be men. His language was picturesque, his gestures free and suggestive, and at no time was there any diminuition in the volume of tone.

The Democrats in the basement did not really have to go upstairs into the assembly hall to hear what Col. "Wes." was saying, but as his voice rolled out, ever deeper and stronger, the Brennen cohorts and supporters could not withstand the fascinating call, and letting the matter they were called to consider go to the bow-wows, they turned their backs on Brennen and tramped upstairs in a body to hear some red hot things said about their mongrel county ticket and their man Brennen, who had go much to do in the framing up of it. And Mr. Brennen—he went along with the others. What they heard was a-plenty.

Everybody laughed when the bunch from the basement put in an appearance, but Col. "Wes" did not let their appearance disturb him. Rather he redoubled his efforts, and his trumpet-like tones grew more full, and his utterances more impassioned. It was quite an event in the political history of the old Soho schoolhouse, where more important and significant ward political meetings have been held than in any other hall in the city.

There were other speakers at this Lincoln meeting. Register George H. Stengel, who was turned down by Dictator Bigelow of the Citizens party when it came to framing a county ticket, said some things that were caustic and cutting. Former Councilman W. H. Stevenson continued his expose of the falseness of the Bigelow outfit and told of the present mismanagement of public affairs at its hands.

Dr. J. P. Shaw, another former councilman told of some other interesting features, and William B. Wolfe, another former councilman, who used to be prominent in the affairs of the Citizens party before it became a one-man party, added to the volume of well-merited denunciation which the present city hall administration was given.

CORONER WILL BEGIN HIS INVESTIGATION THURSDAY

Hazel Kirk Mine Disaster Will be Thoroughly Probed—Funerals of Victims Begin Today.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONONGAHELA, PA., Oct. 30.—The inquest into the death of the five men who were killed by an explosion of firedamp at Hazel Kirk mine No. 2, yesterday, has been postponed until Thursday.

Funeral services for John Hornickel, superintendent of the mine, will be held tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, following which the body will be taken to Youngstown, his former home, for interment on Wednesday. The funeral of Daniel Griffith, mine foreman, will be held here tomorrow afternoon at 2. The funeral services for Joseph Hunter, fire boss, will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at Hazel Kirk. Henry Claybourne's funeral will be held Wednesday morning at the African Methodist Episcopal church.

The funeral of Mr. Hornickel will be in charge of the Monongahela lodge of Elks, to which he belonged. The condition of Andrew Roeder, the machine foreman, who escaped from the burning mine terribly burned, is critical.

At the mine the work of rebuilding the bulkhead, which was blown down by the force of the explosion, is being conducted with the utmost caution under the direction of Mine Inspector Henry Loutitt. John McVicker, superintendent of the Black Diamond mine, and William Lewis, superintendent of the Schoenberger mines.

The explosion which yesterday ended the lives of five officials of the mine was caused by piercing the bulkhead before flames, that had been started from an explosion three weeks ago, were wholly extinguished.

BEGIN NOON MEETINGS.

First Daily Evangelistic Service Is Held by Christians.

The first week day session of the Century revival being conducted by Christian churches of Western Pennsylvania, and which will continue a month, was held at noon yesterday in the old Third Presbyterian church, Sixth avenue.

The attendance was large and the address was delivered by the Rev. Cecil J. Armstrong of Kentucky, while the Netz sisters' quartet furnished music. The noon services will be continued daily excepting Saturday, with different evangelists presiding.

Mrs. Stein Identifies McKee.

Mrs. Alice Stein of Hazelwood, from whose home valuable papers were stolen and then returned by mail, identified George M. McKee at the jail as the man who visited her house on the pretense of buying it and then stole the papers and some money. McKee is in jail on four charges of larceny and two for entering a building with intent to commit a felony. A letter was received at the jail yesterday stating the published descriptions of McKee answer the description of a man who followed McKee's methods in Kittanning in stealing from houses.

Today Closes a Busy Month.

WE have set about to make today a specially interesting one, as you already know. October has been a wonderfully and commercially big month here, and on this last day of this big month it is desirable to make store history. Already we have gone into detail regarding the business of today, and herewith attention is called to some of the features that demand more than passing notice:

The Delights of Hallowe'en.

Tonight will be the one night in the year when the town is given over to merrymakers. Jollity of the very best sort will reign supreme—innocent fun, with all the rudeness expurgated.

For the Nuts and Fruit Side of the Evening—

In our Silverware Department, first floor, East, these requisites of the round table filled with fruit and nuts—silver-plated nut picks, crack and fruit knives.

6 picks and one crack in neat lined box, 38c.
6 picks and one crack in neat wood case, 50c.
12 picks and 2 cracks in wood case, $1.00.

These are things that women look up along about Christmas time, so today we offer a lot of tapestries, velvets and silk upholstery materials, 24x24 inches, for 25c each.

These will be found in the fifth floor, West.

Good Pictures for Little Money.

At $2.00 we are selling some very fine etchings—certainly as good $4.00 etchings as anybody ever offered, yet our price today is but $2.00. The size is 18x38, glass measure—landscape and marine subjects.

The Gallery of half-price pictures is greatly depleted, nevertheless some very good things remain at half of former prices.

$15.00 Pastels at $7.50.
$25.00 Oils at $12.00.
$6.00 Colored Prints in heavy gold frames and shadow boxes, $3.00.
$4.00 Hand-colored Prints in oak or gilt frames, at $2.00.

At 75c each there is an exceptionally fine collection of colored prints of girls' heads in oval gilt frames, very neat and pretty.

Fur-Lined Coats for Women.

Fur-lined Coats can be had this season in light colors for evening wear, as well as black for street wear. The combinations of fur in the collar and cuffs are probably better than ever. We have taken particular pains to have the skins in the very best condition before putting in the coat, so they will always retain their shape.

You can have collar of beaver, or of fine fox, black lynx or Persian. The lining in coat of squirrel, in light or dark gray.

Some of these coats are fastened with military frogs, others with loops and buttons.

Prices start at $25.00 and go up to $250.00.

Tuesday, October 31, 1905.

Observers of the Chinese army maneuvers report surprise at the efficiency attained by the 40,000 men engaged, during their five years of training. These soldiers gave evidence of thorough discipline and the bravery of the Chinese has never been disputed. A feature worthy of note is the marked preference shown by the Chinese for guns and accoutrements of Japanese pattern.

It is probable the attack on Admiral Train and his son, a consequence of the accidental shooting of a Chinese woman, will be settled without serious diplomatic consequences. This is the more likely because the admiral is in good part to blame. It is admitted "accidents" of this sort have been rather numerous, and with this fact in mind naval officers had better forego the pleasures of gunning than run the risk of inciting the Chinese to riot.

If it be true, as a New York political observer says, that there is less betting than usual on elections this year, it is a sign of increasing common sense. The influence which the betting exerts on the result has always been exaggerated. "Money talks" says the betting man, but the election does not always turn out in accordance with the way the odds are manipulated. When it comes to betting, one does well to remember the old advice: "Better not."

By a tie vote the New York elections board has refused to place the name of William Travers Jerome on the Republican ticket. The Republican members voted in the affirmative; the Democrats in the negative. No such failure of political intention could occur under the Pennsylvania ballot law, so often attacked by persons and organs opposed to the Republican party. It is a manifest injustice, but the Democratic principle of action in New York, as elsewhere, is that any unfairness is proper if it may embarrass the Republican party.

Three criminal courts are in action to dispose of the cases prepared by the district attorney, Judge W. D. Patton of Armstrong county sitting in one. This assistance will be supplemented later by the like service of Judge R. E. Umbel of Fayette county and should serve to clear the calendar. It is distinctly to the credit of District Attorney Stewart that he has been able to present so many cases and the fact will explain some of the additional expense approved by the Democratic-Citizens majority of the salary board, but complained about by Democratic-Citizens campaigners.

District Attorney Stewart's desire to avoid all possibility of mixing justice with politics can be appreciated at the full. Since his induction into office he has sought justice alone and carefully excluded political influence and prejudice. But in the matter of beginning actions against persons charged with "jury fixing," The Gazette is of opinion he puts too fine a point on it. The mere fact that an election is pending and that accused persons are active in politics might be overlooked. This is said with due regard and appreciation for Maj. Stewart's conscientiousness.

New York is making the experiment of a school for the exclusive use of truants and incorrigibles. Boys whose behavior cannot be kept within the prescribed bounds at the regular public schools will be sent thither, where teachers of exceptional executive ability will attend to their disciplining. The experiment is an interesting one, but the beneficial effect of putting all the bad boys together and giving them the wholesale classification of badness may be questioned. Giving a boy, as well as a dog, a bad name, is not generally considered an auspicious beginning of his reformation.

If the information of the Salt Lake Tribune be correct, Reed Smoot, whose seat in the United States senate is by no means secure, is rapidly losing favor with the people of his own church. His deposition from the office of chief political dictator is attributed to the odium he has brought upon the church and the selfish arrogance he has displayed in his political manipulations. In many quarters there is a feeling that a man of higher standing should have been selected to stand the test of investigation at Washington. With determined opposition from both without and within the Mormon church, the lot of Smoot will be "not a happy one."

Pertinent Issues.

Director Bigelow continues to deny there is any plan on foot to give the Pennsylvania railroad a free franchise on Liberty avenue for an elevated road. This was to be expected. If the director had the plans in his possession he would hardly admit it until after election. Mr. Stevenson, however, is positive in his assertions. This question can be met when it comes up.

The people are more intimately concerned, at the moment, with what has been done. The Grant boulevard franchise, granted without a cent of compensation on a plea for competitive service, was auctioned off to the highest bidder for the private profit of Citizens party leaders and their financial backers. That is a live issue in the campaign. It is typical of the manner in which the solemn pledges of the Citizens party were violated—every one of them. It is typical of the raiding and corruption that will follow if this perfidious aggregation is given another lease of power.

There is the favoritism in the matter of city deposits. Though City Controller Larkin openly agreed to obtain 3½ per cent from responsible banks, the city funds were placed at 2 per cent. The issue of bonds was insisted on long before the money was needed in order to give the favored depositories more funds at the low rate—a rate the Post has declared is wholly inadequate, even when the depositories are bonded in double the amount of the deposits. These same people are claiming great credit for obtaining a higher rate on the small amount of comparatively active funds of the county—funds so far exhausted that letting of contracts has been suspended for the remainder of this year.

There is the tax rate of 13 mills on $400,000,000—falsely represented in the city manual as 12½ mills—and here is inefficient police protection, bad streets, barely sufficient water supply and low grade public service in general. Every resident of Pittsburgh knows how far short of good government the Bigelow-Verner-Hays combination has fallen. Every taxpayer knows how much it costs for this efficiency. The cost would be tolerable if it secured good public service.

Here is the record and there is the election approaching. Every voter knows how to start toward getting better service and toward enforcing his demand for the reforms promised by the Citizens party. The way is to defeat the entire Democratic-Citizens ticket next Tuesday, and follow that by smashing the same party's city tickets in February, if that aggregation of pledge breakers has the temerity to put up city tickets again.

Happy Halloween.

Tonight is Halloween, the vigil of Hallowmas. The origin of the day is to be traced away back into the mists of pagan antiquity. How many thousands of Halloweens have been observed thus far by young and old we do not know, but certain it is few annual customs that have been handed down to us and we still delight to honor are half so ancient. This is the night when superstition holds sway, when spirits are supposed to walk the earth and in divers strange methods send us messages of hope or discouragement. Unless we are already happily mated, this is the time to discover whom we shall wed, and what of fame, fortune or failure is to be our portion. Imagination runs riot, and the wilder the superstition the more popular it will be tonight wherever young and old gather to dabble in the mysteries of divination.

The small boy, who takes little stock in superstition and doesn't bother about matrimonial plans, also has his inning tonight, and in carrying out his own peculiar ideas as to the proper observance of the festival is only following in the footsteps of our pagan forefathers when they were young. When he smashes a pumpkin against his neighbor's door, carries off the front gate and leaves it high and dry on a telegraph pole, or scares the servant with the clever combination of a jack-o'-lantern and a bed-sheet, the small boy is ignorant of the antiquity and honorable history of the custom he is so faithfully observing, but he is having just as much fun out of it. He may, however, have more fun with the "mummers." Locally the observance of Halloween promises to be a lively one. It is to be hoped there will be no excesses. The police have granted a wide measure of liberty to the celebrators, which should not be construed as license to be disorderly. There can be plenty of fun without lawless disorder. It is a good thing to throw dignity to the winds once in a while, so let all who can participate in tonight's celebration of happy Halloween.

To Suppress Slang.

The Anti-Slang society which has been founded by University of Chicago purists has undertaken a big task, but our heartiest wishes go with it. It has a wide field for endeavor and many opportunities, not only for accomplishing much good, but for making numerous mistakes. However, the good it may do in removing some of the vulgarity from the vernacular should counterbalance any interference with the natural, healthy growth of the language. This has always been a vexed question, the extent to which the use of slang is permissible to educated persons. On the one hand we have the argument that without the constant introduction of new words the language cannot grow. On the other, the academic plea for the preservation of the pure well of English undefiled. Friends of slang point to classic literature for justification. Shakespeare is full of colloquial English that had not yet received the stamp of approval by polite society. The slang of one generation is the good English of the next. Very true, but the majority of modern slang expressions add nothing to the language in the way of new and useful words as, for instance, the common phrases, "not in it" and "up to you." Most American slang is borrowed from the race track and the gambling table.

A resident of this country who has just returned after an absence of four years in Europe says: "I am shocked at the universal prevalence of slang in polite circles. I can hardly understand ordinary conversation and find myself in constant need of an interpreter, while I am regarded as quite behind the times. That young women should habitually use unrefined, indelicate, coarse phrases, borrowed from the gutter, is incredible, and soon Americans will speak an entirely different language from the English. And what a language! Even now, abroad, it is quite impossible for a person to obtain a position as instructress in English if known to be an American." Words worth heeding. Modern American slang is not funny. Rarely is it as expressive as good English. Slang is the lazy person's language. It weakens one's vocabulary. Only when used economically is it effective. It is flavoring, not nourishing substance.

Autocracy Overthrown.

Czar Nicholas has, at last, yielded to the importunities of Count Witte, granted the liberties asked, decreed the constitution, appointed Witte president of the cabinet and instructed him to make the assembly legislative, with broadening of the electorate. This revolutionizes the Russian form of government and is all the revolutionaries can hope to gain in any event. Yet it is a momentous question whether the decree can now serve to stop the bloody revolt that has begun.

Count Witte is a man of great force and is popular. He needs his best qualities to stem the tide of forcible protest which has gained headway while the weak and vacillating emperor has been hesitating. It is probable the educated revolutionary leaders will be willing to stop the movement if they can, for their object is attained without wholesale shedding of blood. The trouble will be with the ignorant rabble. It has taken patient years of cultivation of the revolutionary spirit to induce the mob to act, and it may be just as difficult to induce it to abandon its hope of revenge for the long years of oppression. The destructive impulse has been aroused and bloodthirstiness excited; it may be hard to allay them without slaughter and plunder.

If direst consequences follow, much of the blame must rest at the door of Nicholas. If he has not been a brutal tyrant at heart, he has, at least, lacked wisdom and decision. He has permitted injustice to stalk abroad in his land without protest. He has permitted the massacre of his Jewish subjects and the trials of their oppressors to end in farcical failure of the law. The civilized world will hope his tardy grant of popular rights will bring peace to the realm of Nicholas, but it cannot put aside the fear he has taken action too late.

And the Dispatch goes into fits over the Ehrhardt bill which passed but one house of the legislature, while it defends "Buck" Wallace, who refuses to enforce the Edlis law for the suppression of the white slave traffic in this city. There's hypocrisy for you.

The sultan's decision to accept the demands of the powers regarding Macedonia indicates a disinclination on the part of the Sick Man to swallow any more bitter medicine.

Ex-Ambassador Choate says American life has struck a more rapid pace since he went abroad six years ago. He has probably been dodging a few automobiles.

Every Allegheny grafter is supporting the Democratic-Citizens ticket. Does any respectable voter need any other indication to vote against that ticket?

William H. Stevenson says the Grant boulevard franchise grabbers got $1,000,000 for their plunder. Yet they ask of the people a new lease of power.

A professional burglar has written an article for one of the women's magazines. Tired of house-breaking, he decided to break into print.

Controller John B. Larkin says the Citizens party can never be restored to public confidence "with stolen goods in its pockets," and that is true.

The killing of another matador should induce President Diaz to get in line by calling for the reformation of Mexico's favorite pastime.

Of course the Leader can be relied on for a dose of billingsgate in lieu of argument and the truth to which it is a stranger.

Gamblers and thugs are protected so they may support the Democratic-Citizens ticket. It is time to eliminate that system.

The reopening of the French parliament means busy times for the Paris sporting editors.

Same old crowd of pledge-breakers with stolen goods in their pockets. That is the Citizens party.

A vote for the Republican ticket is a vote against the public franchise plunderers.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

A Trifle from Each Means Something Great for All.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

As memorial that's fitting they desire a stately hall
That shall stand for generations and heroic deeds recall.
Let this boon to them be granted, freely give them what they ask,
For 'twas freely they were giving in their nation-saving task.

THEODORE H. BOICE.

It is very different after the danger has passed.

Many of you may be able to recall the days in the early 60's when Pennsylvania was menaced with fire and sword, and the life of the nation hung uncertain in the balance.

If you remember this you can readily recall the promises made to those who volunteered to go forth and at the risk of life help to repel the invaders, and to sustain the old flag.

The good people at home promised to keep their places for them in shop, or store, or mill, and to see to it that their families should not want for any of the comforts of life.

And further, they solemnly promised that in case they fell in the fight their memories should be kept green, and their names ineffaceably graven in memorial halls.

Wives and mothers gave up sons and husbands, and sweethearts sent those dear as their own hearts to meet the sentence of the god of war, and waited weary days, and months and years for their return, either wrapped in the folds of the flag, or borne on litters, or keeping step to the music of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Have the people kept their pledges to those who stood between them and the desolation of war, and successfully defended the union against those who fought so stubbornly and so well to destroy it?

This question is sometimes asked by those who have lived to see the union not only restored but strengthened even beyond the hopes and expectations of those who fought for its preservation.

None of these ever expected to see a union President make a triumphal tour of the southern states, welcomed in the two capitals of the confederacy with more enthusiasm and display of patriotism than was even accorded to its president in its most promising days.

Those who ask this question do not regret having endured the hardships and braved the dangers of war, but they do, sometimes, feel a bit sore that they should so soon be forgotten and that events of which they were a part should be relegated to the niche set apart for ancient history.

What has been done to keep green the memory of these patriot defenders of peaceful Pennsylvania homes, to perpetuate the names of those worthy of special mention, or to preserve the record of their achievements, their bravery, their success?

True, the state is dotted with monuments while vast cemeteries bloom like rare gardens in summer time, and lie so calm and peaceful with the evergreen above the white winter blanket.

These are silent tributes to the memory of the soldier dead, but trivial as compared with the records of the soldier alive and battling for the right as God gave him to see the right.

The fact of the matter is that personal records of the soldiers of the wars in which we have been engaged have not been properly cared for. Nor has there been a place prepared for the reception and preservation of relics and mementoes of the several wars.

Already the historian is finding much difficulty in securing reliable records concerning interesting and important events in which men of this state were the moving spirits and chief actors.

This should not be so, for in the near future the personal history of the soldiery of each state will be the thing descendants of these will be soon asking for, the records of events of which their forebears were a part.

The veterans of Allegheny county have wisely decided upon a commodious hall as a memorial to its soldiery of all our wars, instead of a towering granite shaft, or massive arch.

There is something practical in a memorial hall, while a memorial shaft or arch is expressive of sentiment, nothing more. The hall will not only commemorate the memories of those who served, but will perpetuate them in song and story and relic. To coming generations this will not only be more interesting, but more instructive than the mere sight of a monument, be it ever so costly and grand.

There are thousands of records and of relics and stories that ought to be preserved, but are being lost for want of a place where they may be safely kept, and yet within easy reach of those who have legitimate use for them.

This want can only be supplied by a building specially adapted to the preservation of records, relics and mementoes. Nor will a small or ill-designed place answer the purpose, for of the various things worth preserving there are many. From the flint-lock musket of the soldier of the revolution to the fine rifle of today, there are many specimens representing various changes and improvements.

And of valuable records there are enough to fill a large and commodious building.

The voters in this county are asked to say yes or no to this projected memorial hall. Already the state legislature has given its consent, four grand juries have acted upon it favorably, and the court judges have set their seal upon it.

But that it might be more peculiarly a work of the people the legislature, at the request of the veterans, gave the voters an opportunity to pass upon it. This they will do on Tuesday next.

The cost to the individual taxpayer will be so little that it may be said to be insignificant, yet in the aggregate it will be sufficient to erect a building that will challenge the attention of the world, besides setting an example to other counties and states, and even nations, that surely will be followed, that must be if they hope to successfully preserve the histories of wars in which their sons took a part.

Every soldier will vote "yes," and so should every friend of the soldier; and who is not his friend?

You should bear in mind that marking for the whole ticket does not mark for the soldiers' memorial hall. It is at the bottom of the ticket and must be specially marked.

You won't forget, will you?

THE SUICIDE.

They found him on the mountain side
In the chill of the early morn;
Alone on a ledge of stone he died.
While the glad, new day was born.
Perhaps 'twas the mockery of the dawn,
Allied with the taunts of men,
That drove his soul despairing on
To its mad, relentless end.

Who knows the thoughts that crazed his brain
Through the long hours of the night—
The thoughts that shuddered and sought in vain
For the vantage ground of right?
Who knows but the quivering heart-string broke
And the mind refused its sway,
When reason faltered and madness spoke
To the soul it held at bay?

Oh, fair were his curly locks of hair,
And fair was his boyish face!
So fair they wept who found him there
A corpse in that lonely place.
And oh, for that wealth of sympathy!
One tear for the heart that bled!
A word in life had soothed its strife,
But naught can revive the dead.

HEARST LOOKS LIKE THE WINNING MAN

Ivins May Be Second and McClellan Third—Sentiment Shifts to Jerome.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to the Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—W. M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for mayor, began the closing week of the campaign by appearing at his headquarters in the Breslin at an early hour, and discussing the situation freely. He said:

"Two weeks ago today I thought that we had a possibility; today I believe we have a certainty. No one who doesn't get direct information from the inner circles of Tammany hall has any idea of the extent to which Mr. Murphy and his friends are scared. The fact is, they began their campaign on the theory that they were going to poll the Republican votes through default. I am now sure that I will get practically the entire vote of the party. The evidences that I will have the independent vote are overwhelming. I have every justification for the utmost satisfaction with the progress of the campaign."

"Tammany is trying to make the issue appear to be one between the stars and stripes and the red flag of anarchy. Have you anything to say about that?" was asked.

"Tammany is evidently doing that in the same spirit in which it supported the stars and stripes in 1860. Its unselfishness in the matter of desire for office and its devotion to the nation have always been its most notable attributes. The nation can take care of itself; the real question is: Can Tammany hall take care of itself? It has got all that it can do right here at home without troubling about the nation."

Mr. Ivins also said that McClellan will be third man in the race. It certainly does look that way now, but at this moment Hearst looks to be first and Ivins second.

Jerome Becomes Favorite in Betting.

Election betting on the Broad street curb at the beginning of the week shows Mr. Jerome a still stronger favorite for the district attorneyship, with McClellan still an odds on choice for the mayoralty, at about 3 to 1, the quotation that ruled at the end of last week. No little significance is attached by the speculative community to the way in which the betting on Jerome has turned in his favor, for less manipulation of the betting market can be suspected in his case than is true of the other candidates for the same or other offices. A week ago the betting odds were 2 to 1 against Jerome, and the change in prices to the 10 to 8 offered on him today is considered to have reflected rather more faithfully than is usual in election betting the drift of the political currents.

Kaskel Celebrates Fortieth Robbery.

Samuel Kaskel is again in the limelight of publicity. Again he has suffered from the depredations of burglars and again Mr. Kaskel is happy. Since 1866 Samuel Kaskel has kept a cigar store on the Bowery, and on an average of once a year has he reported to the police that his place has been robbed. Upon every occasion a policeman would repair to his place of business, make close examination and rigid investigation, but in not a single instance could sufficient evidence be accumulated to apprehend or even furnish the slightest clue to the guilty parties.

Will Expedite the Mails.

Commencing today United States mail from Chicago coming on the Twentieth Century limited of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, will be "distributed" on the train. This means that when the train reaches this city the mail will be so divided that the uptown and downtown mail can be taken to the sections where they belong. Heretofore all of the mail coming in on the Twentieth Century has been taken to the general postoffice, where, after it had been sorted, a large part of it had to be sent uptown again.

Our Victor Herbert Is Happy.

Artists are not usually happy, even when they are successful; but Victor Herbert is one of the happy exceptions. No one could be more successful than he, and the resulting buoyancy and gladsomeness overflow to his orchestra and his audiences. Last night the Majestic theater, as a matter of course, was again crowded when he gave his second Sunday concert. Litolff, Tschaikowsky, Glazounoff, Goring, Thomas and Wagner were on the first part of the program; Herbert, Chadwick, Hatton and Moszkowski on the second. Details are hardly called for. The playing was good, and many extras were demanded. The soloist was Mr. George Moore.

Not So Many Pupils in Manhattan.

Fewer children are registered in the public schools of the borough of Manhattan this year than in 1904, according to figures for the month of September, made public by City Superintendent Maxwell today. The decrease of 472 is attributed to the shifting of population, for Brooklyn shows the remarkable increase of 9,462, while in Queens the increase is 5,405. The registration in Manhattan during September, 1904, was 273,510, while in September, 1905, it was only 273,058.

Fined $5 Just the Same.

Magistrate Barlow fined two men who had pleaded guilty to violating the ordinance against charging admission to athletic games on Sunday $5 each in the Harlem court this morning, and then delivered himself as follows: "I'm sorry I wasn't there to see the game. I'd a lot rather see you young men playing a game on Sunday than sitting in the backs of saloons to spend the day." Nevertheless, he fined them each $5.

The Pernicious Suitcase.

The suitcase is getting into bad company. In Boston it concealed the dismembered body of a murdered girl, and it now appears that the money which Cunliffe stole from the Adams Express Company was carried from Pittsburgh to Bridgeport in a suitcase. Is it going to be so that no man can carry a suitcase without being suspected?—Columbus Dispatch.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

A clergyman in Richmond, Va., tells this story at his own expense: "One Sunday I was returning home when I was accosted by a quaint old woman, housekeeper in the employ of a dear friend of mine. 'I want to tell you, sir,' said the old woman, 'how much I enjoy going to church on the days that you preach.' Expressing my appreciation of the compliment, I added that I was much gratified to hear it, adding that I feared I was not as popular a minister as others in the city, and I finally asked, 'And what particular reason have you for enjoyment when I preach?' 'Oh, sir,' she answered, with appalling candor, 'I get such a good seat then!'"—New York Tribune.

Getting Back at a Joker.

"That reminds me," said Manager John H. Langton of the Belvedere, as he finished telephoning regrets to a launching party on Mr. Sylvanus Stoke's boat, the Madge, "of an experience I had in New York—once upon a time. I was invited to go with a yachting party down the sound, and couldn't make it. Just for a joke I sent a note to my host saying I was sorry I couldn't go, but he could make it right by just sending me what he thought I would have won on the trip. Thought it was a great joke, I did. That evening a boy brought a message, collect, and the message ran:

"'Dear Langton: You lost $37 45. Please remit by bearer.'

"And what did you do—send him the money."

"Not. Father John! I wrote across the note, 'opened by mistake.—J. H. L.,' and fired it back. The boy collected double charge on the other end."—Baltimore News.

A Prince of Butlers.

The late Thomas Coldwell, the inventor of the lawn mower, was a great admirer of witty and alert persons. At a dinner in New York, Mr. Coldwell said of a famous millionaire:

"This man through hard luck once had to work as a butler. He made an excellent butler. Let me give you an instance of the sort of work he did.

"His mistress was giving a dinner party of 12 covers on a certain evening. One of the courses consisted of scalloped oysters in silver shells. The set of silver shells was broken—there were only 11. The mistress, therefore, told the butler that she would not eat any oysters, and thus there would be just enough to go around.

"The butler, when the oyster course came, placed before the lady one of the shells. To his horror she did not decline it. Calmly she let it rest before her. If she started to eat it, one guest would be short of oysters. What was the matter with her, anyway?

"The butler watched her nervously. She took up her fork. She was actually about to plunge into the dainty shell. Then the man, ever alert and ready, flew to her side and bent over her respectfully.

"'Pardon me, madam,' he murmured, 'but you said I was to remind you that the doctor forbade your eating oysters on any account.'"—Los Angeles Times.

When It Rained Clothes.

The English language is so rich in synonyms that a precise speaker, who values the nicëties of speech, can by a careful selection from his vocabulary express delicate shades of meaning. But the foreigners and our own children find it an embarrassment of riches, often learning only from the laughter of their auditors that words of similar meaning are not always interchangeable.

In illustration of this a North Side woman tells the following story about her little son. During the rainy spell of the first part of the month she was busily employed assisting a sewing woman. Naturally her thoughts were turned toward textures and articles made from them, and during a very heavy rainfall she exclaimed, "Just see the sheets of rain."

The next morning her small 4-year-old was heard calling to a still younger sister, "Oh, Olga, come quick. Mamma says it's raining clothes.—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Eloquent Intercession.

Gen. Booth has won the gratitude of the newspaper men of the world. The chief of the Salvation Army at a recent revival meeting invoked the aid of the Almighty as follows: "And now, dear Lord, bless the newspaper men, whose nimble pens catch every word almost before it is uttered. Like Thyself, they are omnipresent and almost omnipotent. If we take the wings of the morning and fly to the uttermost parts of the earth, they are there. They meet us in the jungles of Africa, they waylay us even on the Atlantic ocean, and when we tread the prairies of North America, behold they are there. May their light and their goodness be equal to their power, and in the general assembly of Heaven let no newspaper man be excluded."—Salt Lake Tribune.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

Former President Grover Cleveland, accompanied by other members of the party who passed through Pittsburgh last Wednesday evening, returned eastward through this city this morning on Pennsylvania train No. 31. They occupied the private Pullman car, Rocket, in which Mr. Cleveland and Paul Morton, president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society went to Nebraska City, Neb., to assist in the dedication of the monument to J. Sterling Morton, who was secretary of agriculture in President Cleveland's cabinet, and who was the father of Paul Morton.

Mr. Morton, who remained at Nebraska City to attend to private matters, and who will also spend a few hours in Chicago, was not with the party, but will arrive here on the Ft. Wayne's Pittsburgh special at 8:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. He will spend the day in Pittsburgh in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of the Pittsburgh office of the Equitable society.

There will be a number of notable men of the society at the anniversary. Gage E. Tarbell, second vice president, will pass through the city this morning en route to Wheeling, where he will spend the day, returning to this city this evening to be present at the celebration tomorrow. Dr. Franklin C. Wells, medical examiner of the society, arrived in the city yesterday and will spend a couple of days here. Dr. Arthur L. Sherrill, medical examiner at Chicago; Henry J. Powell of Louisville, manager for Kentucky, and Thomas B. Sweeny of Wheeling, manager for West Virginia, will also be here. Another person of interest at the celebration will be Mrs. Florence E. Shall, head of the woman's department of the company at Boston, and one of the most notable women in the insurance world.

Manager Edward A. Woods of the Pittsburgh office said last night that everything is in readiness for the anniversary. In addition to the above officers, all of the agents and medical examiners of this district will be present and several of the larger policy holders will also be here.

Greek Letter Men Have Banquet.

One of the private dining rooms of the Hotel Henry was in gala array last night, being decked out in purple and red for the fourteenth annual banquet of the Delta Gamma, chapter, Pittsburgh, of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. About 30 of the Greek letter men were at the festal board. The speakers included George M. Noonan, toastmaster; Dr. J. H. Douglass and Dr. J. J. Sullivan of Pittsburgh; Dr. C. B. Smith of Philadelphia, and Dr. A. M. Parks of Richmond, Va.

A Business Man's Judgment.

Mr. Marshall Field's general indictment of the municipal operation of the public utilities intrusted to the city reads as follows: "In my judgment enough money is collected in this city today to insure its being well paved, well cleaned, well watered, well lighted and well policed if it were one expended intelligently and honestly." Ought not the men who are contending that the municipal ownership of street railroads will benefit the public pause long enough to take up and disprove—if they can—the charges brought the capacity and intelligence of Chicago municipal government? The charges are not made by a politician, but by a capable business man.

Puts a New Face on It.

So far as Mr. Osborne's political future is concerned, it would be much better for him to retire now than to be defeated. His defeat by Mr. Jerome has now become quite possible, the events of the next few days may make it certain. We have not hitherto regarded the election of Mr. Jerome as probable. It is hard for an independent candidate running without an organization to beat Tammany in New York county, its stronghold. But the magnanimous act of Mr. Flammer puts a new face upon the matter altogether.—New York Times.

A Retromingent Paper.

It is to the credit of the press of Western Pennsylvania that the Clearfield Monitor is the only paper willing to make a political polecat of itself for money. We are especially glad that none of this odoriferous breed of newspapers are to be found in Jefferson county, and we extend to our decent brethren across the line our sincere sympathy. We know they are not proud of their company.—Brookville Republican.

Spikes Many Guns.

The request of Gov. Pennypacker to President Roosevelt asking for a federal investigation of the wrecked Enterprise National bank of Allegheny is timely and commendable and will meet with the approval of the majority of the people of the state.—Erie Dispatch.

Value of Intangible Asset.

The financial value of the sentiment attached to Valley Forge has been fixed at $30,000 over and above the value of the land, and thus we have the means of reckoning the worth in dollars and cents of a very intangible asset.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Kickers Will Be Scratchers.

Official and business rascality is responsible for hundreds of thousands of "kickers" in this city, and it looks as if they would get to "scratching" on election day.—New York Herald.

SAYS THERE WAS NO PENROSE NOTE

Attorney Dahlinger Searches Notary's Records for Several Years and Makes Denial.

PLANS FOR CRIMINAL SUITS

In contradiction of a story to the effect that a note of Senator Penrose for $75,000 had gone to protest in the Enterprise bank, Attorney Charles W. Dahlinger yesterday made a strong denial. Mr. Dahlinger was made acquainted with the story recently and declares that he can find no record of any effort on the part of the late T. Lee Clark to protest any such note.

A story was sent from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia to such effect. The late A. C. Henry was the notary with whom the Enterprise National bank transacted its business, and it was reported that it was before him that Cashier Clark had protested the note. Henry has been dead for more than a year, and his administrator is C. M. King. This latest rumor goes on to say that Edward Lanam, a clerk in the Bank of Secured Savings, found the record of protest while going over Henry's papers; that King would not consent to making the record public without the consent of Mr. Dahlinger, his attorney; that the latter first wanted to talk with Receiver Cunningham, and that Mr. Cunningham advised him not to let the record become public at this time.

No Record in Past Three Years.

"I first heard of this Penrose note in a note sent me by King from Indianapolis, recently," said Mr. Dahlinger yesterday. "In the letter was a telegram which King had received from a Pittsburgh paper requesting that he permit an attorney to examine Henry's notarial papers. I went to Lanam and secured Henry's books. There are seven of them, very large ones, too, and it would require a good deal of time to go through them. But I did examine them for three years back, and I am very certain that there is no record of any note given by Senator Penrose having gone to protest in that length of time. The books are now in my custody, but I do not know that I will examine them further."

Attorney Frederick L. Kahle who represents a score or more of the depositors of the Enterprise bank, announced yesterday that before the end of this week he will start criminal proceedings against certain individuals who are to be held responsible for wrecking the bank. Mr. Kahle will not mention the names of those who are to be made defendants, but says their names have frequently been used in connection with the affairs of the bank.

Certain depositors, Mr. Kahle says, will be the plaintiffs and prosecuting witnesses in the suits that will be made first before an alderman and then carried to the district attorney. The action will be carried on under the state statutes covering fraud and conspiracy, and what information not now in possession of Mr. Kahle, he expects to obtain from the reports of Examiners Moxie and Cunningham.

It was reported yesterday that evidence enough to warrant criminal action against four the clerks in the Enterprise bank had been found by the two examiners. The basis for these suits, it is said, will be the evidence found of fraudulent entries made in the books of the institution.

Depositors Become Impatient.

Depositors and stockholders of the bank are impatient for further developments in the investigation being made by federal agents. Recent events in connection with the examination have given rise to the belief that the late T. Lee Clark covered up nearly every bit of evidence of his financial operations before killing himself. This opinion seems to have foundation in the fact that in entering suit against W. H. Andrews, Receiver Cunningham places Andrews' liability to the institution at little more than $52,000. This is several hundred thousand short of the amount named by President Frederick Gwinner the day Clark shot himself.

Besides this, there was a disposition at first to believe that Francis J. Torrance and Arthur Kennedy had made extensive loans, and that this money could be recovered promptly. Since then Mr. Torrance has admitted a liability of the Pennsylvania Development Company to the extent of $58,000, which Mr. Torrance says will be paid whenever demand is made for it. These two known debts aggregate something above $100,000, and so far seem to be the only available assets of the institution. If more than this was borrowed by those who are charged with having political and commercial relations with Cashier Clark, it is contended the suit would have been for a greater sum, or that the statement of Mr. Torrance and Attorney Walter Lyon would have been denied by Receiver Cunningham.

What Did Clark Do With It?

With these facts facing them the depositors and stockholders are anxious to know what became of the hundreds of thousands of dollars in currency and assets that were in the bank. Appearances indicate that Cashier Clark alone disposed of them and the sum of the reported loss to the bank is so great there is positively curiosity to know how Clark got away with so much, and what he did with it. Receiver Cunningham and Judge F. F. Oldham declared yesterday that no further civil suits were contemplated, and this seems to corroborate the evidence so far made public that action has been taken to collect on all the known liabilities of persons who borrowed from Clark.

It is known that Clark's business affiliations were extensive and the opinion prevails that he was of the "plunger" type in recent years, but to those who are financially affected by the closing of the bank it seems almost beyond belief that he could have, individually, removed and used for his own use, money and collateral assets worth considerably more than a million dollars.

The conclusion reached by those interested in the bank is that Clark destroyed a vast amount of valuable evidence that would have cleared up the situation entirely, or that the investigation of the bank has not gone along so far that very much is known yet. Clark either took means to cover up all records of his transactions, or there will be considerably more discovered in the bank's accounts, and additional suits entered for amounts greatly in excess of those already named in legal processes.

All is conjecture, however, and until there is further action by the federal authorities there seems no hope of a more intimate knowledge of Clark's business affairs, or of the true condition of the Enterprise bank.

Andrews Expected to Refund.

Receiver Cunningham spent most of yesterday at the bank. He had little to say, but expresses as his belief that W. H. Andrews will refund the amount loaned him at various times by Cashier Clark. Special Examiner Moxey spent Sunday in Philadelphia and was not at the bank yesterday. Neither did Judge F. F. Oldham visit the bank during the day and he returned to Washington last night to confer with Comptroller Ridgley.

If Judge Oldham has concluded his work here it leaves the inference that Receiver Cunningham will be in need of no further legal advice. This would mean that there is no evidence to warrant proceedings against anyone else, or Receiver Cunningham has in his possession all the necessary data to start further proceedings. This latter contingency he denies, so that if Judge Oldham has finished his work here the Enterprise bank has only one recourse in the matter of recovering financially—the Clark estate.

After leaving the coroner's office yesterday morning the directors of the Enterprise bank met in the office of Attorney Thomas P. Trimble in the Frick building, and discussed the affairs of the bank. Vice President William T. Bradberry said after the meeting that there had been a general talk engaged in by all the directors, but nothing had been determined upon. Mr. Bradberry said that he had not heard that a meeting of the stockholders had been called.

It is understood a meeting of the stockholders of the bank will be held on Thursday in the Manchester (Second) Presbyterian church in Allegheny, of which the Rev. D. A. Greene is pastor. The church has $3,400 on deposit in the bank. The Sixth United Presbyterian church has $600 on deposit.

CORONER BEGINS CLARK INQUEST

Absence of the Cashier's Widow Causes Postponement Until This Morning.

PROMINENT MEN WITNESSES

The inquest into the death of T. Lee Clark, cashier of the Enterprise National bank, who killed himself, was begun yesterday by Coroner Armstrong, but was adjourned until 11 a. m. today because of the absence of Mrs. Clark, the widow. Many witnesses, men prominent in business circles, were on hand, ready to testify, and the coroner directed them to attend today.

Coroner Armstrong took charge of the inquest, although he is still visibly weak from his sickness. He swore in the jury and then called the name of Mrs. Delia Clark. She did not answer, and Thomas P. Trimble, her attorney, said she was too ill to appear. Dr. W. W. McCreary, her physician, was sworn and said Mrs. Clark was suffering with nervous trouble and was too weak to appear. The doctor said he did not know when Mrs. Clark could attend the inquest, whether today or a week from now, whereupon the coroner adjourned the inquest until today.

Frederick E. Gwinner, the 73-year-old president of the Enterprise National, was there as a witness, as were: Wilson A. Shaw, president of the Bank of Pittsburgh, N. A.; William T. Bradberry, vice president of the Enterprise; Bank Examiner J. B. Cunningham, the receiver, and several of the directors.

Before the inquest began Frederick L. Kahle, an attorney, told the coroner that he represented several depositors of the bank and would like to be permitted to ask some questions of the witnesses. The coroner said that if the questions dealt directly with the question at issue, the death of Clark, the witnesses could be questioned by Mr. Kahle, but the attorney could not go into the affairs of the bank. Besides Messrs. Kahle and Trimble, Attorney John S. Wendt, representing the receiver, Mr. Cunningham, was present.

The coroner had consulted his counsel, Fagan & Magee, relative to his rights and duties in conducting the inquest. The following extracts from their written opinion tells what the coroner may or may not do in the Clark inquest:

> In reference to the conduct of the particular case which caused you to request our opinion, that of the investigation of the death of T. Lee Clark, now pending before you, we are of the opinion that the first inquiry should be directed to ascertaining the manner of his death. If any of the testimony leads to a suspicion of murder you should inquire further, but if all the evidence clearly shows the death to have been caused by his own hand, your power ends. The motives and reasons for his act are not the subject of legal inquiry by a coroner's inquest. It is not within the province of your duty or authority to institute an examination of his personal affairs, or of his conduct or actions as an officer or employe of any company or institution with which he may have been interested or concerned. These functions come within the jurisdiction of other departments of the government. An investigation by you of matters such as these, however painstaking it might be, would nevertheless be incomplete because of your lack of authority to compel the production of evidence and force the witnesses to speak the truth, and, even though all the possible testimony were given voluntarily and truly, would not be conclusive of the facts or the persons concerned, because not authoritative.

REVENUE COMMISSION TO EXAMINE ALL BANK BONDS

Will Meet November 9 to Consider State Depositories and the Security Offered.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Prompt measures for the protection of the public funds in the state depositories in Pennsylvania are about to be taken by the board of revenue commissioners. This board consists of Secretary of the Commonwealth McAfee, Auditor General Snyder and State Treasurer Mathues, and its members have equal authority in the selection of the state depositories and the approval of the bonds for the protection of the deposits.

It was announced tonight that a meeting of the board will be held November 9, ostensibly for the purpose of examining the list of the banks and trust companies in which the public funds are deposited and scrutinizing the bonds which these financial institutions have furnished for the protection of these deposits.

Those familiar with these bonds say they are ample to protect the state against loss in case of failure of any of the state depositories, and that the board of revenue commissioners will find this to be the case when its members examine the securities.

Cigarette and Tobacco Habits

CURED FREE IN ONE DAY.

Each of the undersigned, for himself, freely and voluntarily certifies as follows:

I hereby certify that I was completely and permanently cured of the tobacco habit by a free sample package of Tobacco-Specific, more than a year ago. I have positively disliked tobacco ever since I took the sample, have not used any in any form and my health has been better than it was before. I state these facts freely and voluntarily, hoping other victims of the tobacco habit will profit by my experience.

These people and hundreds of others in all parts of the country, have been cured of the tobacco habit by free sample packages of Tobacco-Specific. It is a harmless, practically tasteless remedy that can be given in food or drink and will cure all forms of tobacco, cigarette or snuff habit without the knowledge of the patient. Taken by the patient himself the remedy is just as certain to cure.

Tobacco-Specific will cure any case of tobacco habit. Even the free sample package may be sufficient to cure you or your friend, no matter how long tobacco has been used. People are being cured by the free sample packages all the time. Try it. It cannot do any harm, but will surely do good, even if not sufficient to make a complete cure, and it will cost you nothing.

The Rogers Drug & Chemical Co., 6124 Fifth and Race Sts., Cincinnati, O., will send you, by mail, prepaid, in plain wrapper, a sample package of Tobacco-Specific exactly like those that cured the people named above, absolutely free. Write for it now. Do not wait.

HOTEL MEN WILL OPPOSE BERRY

Find Fusion Treasurer Candidate Has Made Violent Attacks on Liquor Traffic.

HE MADE SPEECH LAST JUNE

The Pennsylvania State Hotel association has been making some examination into William H. Berry's attitude on the liquor traffic. It finds that ever since he was nominated by the Democrats for state treasurer and before the Prohibitionists indorsed his candidacy, Berry gave utterance to his opposition to the saloon. He quit it after the campaign opened when he found the majority of the liquor dealers in the state are Democrats.

Berry was nominated by the Democrats on May 24, and on June 19 he gave utterance to the following:

> I want to see the liquor traffic abolished and will do all in my power to bring about the desired results. I gave it a hard knock the other day and I wish I had been able to give it a harder one. I would like to do what the boy did when he was given permission to cut his dog's tail off. He cut it off back of the ears. Then the liquor traffic in this state will be overthrown.

The hotel men have adopted resolutions setting forth the necessity of voting and working against Berry. The above quotation from Berry is made a part of the resolutions. The association has decided to work for an amendment to the liquor laws which allow hotels to serve its guests with liquor at all hours of the day and night, with the exception of election days.

The executive committee of the Allegheny County Anti-Saloon league held a meeting yesterday. A resolution was adopted calling attention to the fact it had received information that in other elections in Allegheny county liquors have been sold and given away at the polling places. In the election next week the league gives notice it will watch for violations of the liquor laws and make prosecutions. H. H. Willock, who has been president of the league since its organization in this county, has resigned, and the Rev. Dr. John K. McClurkin has been chosen to succeed him. The Rev. Dr. C. E. Page succeeds the Rev. Paul S. Leinback as secretary of the executive committee.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY.

Quarterly Meeting of Protestant Episcopal Diocese Is Held.

The quarterly rally of the Sunday schools of the Protestant Episcopal churches of the Pittsburgh diocese was held last evening in St. Peter's church, Craft avenue, and nearly every school in the county was represented.

The Rev. E. M. Paddock, president, presided, and delivered an address, as did the Rev. Dr. E. H. Ward, J. J. Husband and the Rev. D. L. Ferris. The speakers dwelt upon the necessity of a series of lectures for teachers to be given during the winter. Before conclusion several of the teachers and superintendents gave short talks on systematic Sunday school work.

MAKES TRADE WHICH LANDS HIM IN PRISON

Max Boharus went into a second-hand clothing store in Wylie avenue yesterday and tried on a coat and vest. Leaving his own garments lying on the counter and wearing the others, he darted out of the store, followed by the proprietor. Detectives Crooks and Riley saw the fleeing man and started after him, catching him in Washington street.

BLANKENBURG IS NAMED DEFENDANT

Felix Isman Promptly Enters Suit Against Him for Campaign Utterances.

PENROSE AGAIN MAKES DENIAL

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 30.

Rudolph Blankenburg, City party candidate for county commissioner, was today made defendant in a suit for criminal libel instituted by Felix Isman, a prominent real estate man, for statements made in a speech he delivered Thursday night at the Academy of Music. Bail was given in the sum of $800 for a hearing Thursday.

Isman organized a syndicate which bought the old mint site on Chestnut near Broad street, for $2,000,000. Blankenburg alleged that through political influence Isman secured an exemption from taxation for seven years, the total saving being $210,000. Blankenburg, after his arrest, said he would prove the charge.

That the City party regards the report of Mayor Weaver's filtration report as good campaign material is shown by the fact that Chairman Edmonds today increased his majority claim from 50,000 to 60,000. Many engineers today discussed the Gillette report and almost without exception declared it an extraordinary document from a professional standpoint. Instead of passing upon each contract individually, the report shuttlecocks backward and forward in a manner so confusing as to create the presumption that the end sought was political.

Although admitting that only $6,000,000 worth of work is completed, which Major Gillette says could have been done for approximately $400,000 less, the report charges the contractors with making a profit of more than $6,000,000. This is a "prospective profit" and the entire report has a basis no more substantial.

Ex-Judge J. G. Gordon tonight announced that no more political arrests would be made until after election.

Referring to the report that a note of his for $75,000 was in the Enterprise National bank a year ago, Senator Penrose today said:

"The statement that a note for $75,000 signed or indorsed by me, is or at any time was in the Enterprise National bank, or was ever protested, is an absolute malicious falsehood. I never knew anything about the Enterprise National bank; nor did I ever, directly or indirectly, recommend a deposit from the state treasurer. Nor have I ever suggested, recommended, or had any relation, direct or indirect, with any similar state deposit in any bank in Pittsburgh, or in the county of Allegheny or elsewhere. The effort to connect me improperly with the state deposits has absolutely no foundation to rest on. I have never interfered in these matters, and have never attempted to obtain a personal advantage from a state treasurer in connection with the state deposits. The malignant effort to connect me therewith is solely for political campaign purposes."

Warrants were issued today for election officers of the Eighth division of the Eighth ward. The Bellevue-Stratford is in this division and the charge is that the names of transient guests are recorded as having voted at the last election. The committee of seventy is prosecuting the cases. Among others claimed to have voted and who say they did not, are Charles T. Schoen of Pittsburgh, and S. M. Pease, a Chicago promoter.

WONDROUS SIGHTS TO BE SEEN

Taylor Reese, Old Man Geary's ever-reliable pumpkin, or rather "punkin," specialist, said last evening at 10:30 that 15,000 people, 6,000 in the afternoon and 9,000 in the evening, had attended the first day of the Pickering's Punkin show at Old City hall. It is a safe statement that everyone who went felt well rewarded for his visit, for in the big auditorium are stored enough pumpkins of record-making size to furnish all the country fairs throughout Western Pennsylvania with a good exhibit.

There were over 500 pumpkins entered and the average would be close to 100 pounds per punk. This would make a total of 50,000 pounds of the article on which the frost gathers, and made up into pies would supply all the crowds that have attended pole-raisings during the present campaign in the rural districts of the Keystone state.

Prizes had been offered by the enterprising advertising department of the furniture store for a goodly proportion of the contestants, and when one looked over the array of wonders that were piled high on the show counters the only regret was that every grower, whether farmer or gardener, could not have taken a prize. As there were only eight roof-grown pumpkins in that class went to Little Jimmie Flaherty, the crippled newsboy.

Many Prizes for Jimmie.

In addition Jimmie was given the long array of articles included in the special prize for the smallest and lightest pumpkin grown on a roof. The grower's name was withheld. The pumpkin weighed one-half ounce. This prize contains among its 11 features, 20 shaves and five haircuts. Some one might be able to buy 20 shaves at a bargain price, for James has no use for them.

Over at the general store conducted by Dr. Jane Blanchard a rushing business was done all evening and its big glass safe over $200 was stored before the evening was over, while Jimmie, perched on the counter, had a pocketful of silver from the cigars and stogies he had sold.

The scene at the hall last night was most picturesque. The decorations were all rustic, mostly in autumn leaves, while the big stage was taken up by a farm scene, enlivened by the activities of one farmer, one farm boy, one squealing porker, three hens, one rooster, one black rabbit, one cider-press, seven shocks of corn, eight pumpkins, one mill stream, one negro cabin, with a string quartet of the same color at the cabin, one brick residence and one canvas background done by the Old Man's own artists. When the plantation negro quartet on the New England farm was not busy the graphophone in the gallery was, and the old hall was filled with music all the while. Following are the prize winners in the farmers' and gardeners' contest:

Other Winners of Prizes.

1. Cashdollar and McCall, Stewart station; weight, 153½ pounds.
2. W. J. Henderson, Cheswick; 132½ pounds.
3. George W. Jacobs, Berkeley Springs, Pa., 109½.
4. Alex Large, Harmarville; 102.
5. S. E. Tilbrook, Jevin; 95½.
6. Mrs. Fred Keyser, McKeesport; 125.
7. Samuel Hartman, Apollo; 121.
8. Ismel Kunkle, Mervin; 119½.
9. J. H. Kearns, Apollo; 118.
10. Mrs. C. Cribbs, Youngstown, Pa.; 117½.
11. W. G. McCormick, Sharpsville, 116.
12. J. F. Daegle, Butler; 114.
13. J. W. Kunkle, Apollo; 113½.
14. M. Bardo, Pleasant Ridge; 108.
15. T. G. Troutman, Pollack; 107½.
16. H. H. Manghanaw, New Cumberland, W. Va.; 106½.
17. Miss Costello, Leechburg; 106.
18. A. M. Kunkle, Apollo; 105.
19. Louis Prager, Sharpsburg; 104½.
20. A. Heath, Greenock; 104.

The first prize for the best marked pumpkin was won by J. A. McDonald, Gatchelville, York county, Pa. Mr. McDonald won first prize last year. The 22nd prize winner's name was mercifully not announced. It was for the meanest and ugliest pumpkin shown, and it deserved the prize.

The roof-grown pumpkins won in the following order:

1. C. A. Kloppman, Sheradan; 14½
2. G. W. Snyder, Bankville; 11¼.
3. John Walker, South Side, Pittsburgh; 7½.
4. Mrs. Wertz, Allegheny; 7¼.
5. J. H. Forney; 7.
6. L. Anderson, Intram; 5.
7. Charles Freeburg, West Etna; 4¾.
8. J. J. Epstein, Herron Hill; 3½.

Ninth and tenth prizes were awarded to Jimmie Flaherty in absence of competitors.

The Death Roll

John Leonard Feerst.

John Leonard Feerst, aged 52, the oldest resident of the Eleventh ward, died suddenly at 5 o'clock last evening of heart failure at his home, 2135 Center avenue. Mr. Feerst lived in the same house 50 years, during which time he was prominent in business and politics in the Eleventh ward. He served three terms as a school director in the ward and never voted any other than the Republican ticket. Mr. Feerst was born in Bavaria and was a veteran of the revolution of 1848. In 1853 he came to America, and settled in the Minersville district, two years later moving to the hotel in which he died. He had been engaged in the shoe and grocery business and at the time of his death conducted a notion store. He was a charter member of the First German Lutheran church in Sixth avenue, near Fifth avenue, and for some years served as a trustee of the church. Mr. Feerst was one of the original stockholders of the German National bank. He is survived by one son, John L. Feerst, president of the Latshaw-Feerst Company, produce dealers of 68 Liberty avenue, and three grandchildren. Mrs. Feerst died two years ago.

Miss Jane Hartford.

Miss Jane Hartford, one of the oldest and most widely known residents of North Huntingdon township, Westmoreland county, is dead at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Jennie H. Thompson, 2017 Columbia avenue, Swissvale. Miss Hartford, or "Aunt Jane," as she was familiarly called, had passed her long life within a few miles of the old homestead along the old Greensburg pike, five miles east of Turtle Creek, where on June 4, 1820, she was born. She was blind at birth and during all of her life. She is survived by three nieces: Mrs. Thompson, at whose home she died; Mrs. William Miller, of East McKeesport, and Mrs. D. D. Blickman, of Freedom, Beaver county.

Mrs. Peter Knortz.

Mrs. Susanna Knortz, aged 65, wife of Peter Knortz of 865 Ridge street, McKeesport, died yesterday. She was born in Germany and went to McKeesport 42 years ago. She was twice married, her first husband, Andrew Papke, having died in Germany. She was a member of McKeesport German Evangelical Protestant church. She is survived by her husband and these children: Katherine and Frederick Knortz, McKeesport; William Papke, Germany; Mrs. Julius Eichler, Toledo, O.; Emil Papke, Wellsville, O., and Mrs. Herman Grunewald, McKeesport.

Mrs. Margaret McIrvine.

Mrs. Margaret McAra Irvine, aged 63, widow of James Irvine of Cottbridge, Scotland, is dead at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William McAra, 1413 Jenny Lind street, McKeesport. She was born in Ireland and her husband died two years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church of McKeesport, and is survived by one brother, James Evans, of Washington, Pa.

Mrs. Thomas Greenfield.

Mrs. Mary Greenfield, aged 52, wife of Thomas Greenfield of Comrie avenue, Braddock, died Saturday at Mercy hospital. She was a member of the First Christian church, Braddock. She leaves her husband and three daughters: Mrs. John Jackson of Braddock, Mrs. David Morgan, Youngstown, and Mrs. William Irvine, Pittsburgh.

Sebastian Scherf.

Sebastian Scherf, aged 60, proprietor of a tailoring establishment at 4213 Penn avenue, died suddenly at 1 o'clock yesterday morning of heart disease at his home, 612 Fremont street, Millvale. He was a native of Germany and had resided in this country many years. His widow and two children survive.

Obituary Notes.

Mrs. Sarah J. Harvey, aged 75, is dead at her home in Tarentum. She was a lifelong member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Mrs. Eliza Woods Cunningham, widow of Judge Joseph Cunningham of Wampum, is dead, aged 81. She was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church.

John Dean, aged 75, a cousin of the late Justice Dean of the state supreme court, dropped dead from heart disease at his home near Williamsburg, Pa., when preparing to retire Sunday evening.

JUSTICE POTTER IS HOST AT RECEPTION

Prominent Professional and Business Men Meet Supreme Court Justices.

One of the most interesting of the several receptions tendered the members of the supreme court of Pennsylvania during the fall term of the court in Western Pennsylvania, was held at the Country club in Beechwood boulevard, where an informal reception tendered by Justice W. P. Potter, was held, at which the judges of the local courts and several hundred prominent professional and business men met the members of the state supreme bench. The hours were from 9 till 12 o'clock, and after the reception refreshments were served in the club dining-room.

Chief Justice James T. Mitchell and his associates, Justices D. N. Fell, P. H. Brown, S. L. Mestrezat, John P. Elkin and John Stewart, with their host, Justice Potter, received the guests in the reception room of the club where, after the formal introduction, a social was held.

Justice Potter had issued about 500 invitations to lawyers and other prominent men of Western Pennsylvania, to judges of counties outside of Allegheny county and to his friends in other sections of the state. Most of the invitations were accepted and during the evening the Country club house was crowded by the distinguished gathering.

WILL WORK WITH AMERICA.

Germany Proposes a New Trade Agreement With the United States Designed to Increase Commerce.

BERLIN, Oct. 30.—Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German ambassador to the United States, who sailed for New York October 25, will on his arrival at Washington this week submit to President Roosevelt the proposals of the German government for a new trade agreement between the United States and Germany. Prince von Buelow said today:

"An idea I suspect is abroad in America that the changes in the German tariffs and the modifying agreements with other European countries were in some way directed against the United States and that Germany desired to damage the trade of the United States. This I am glad to say was never a motive with the German government and the proposals that are about to be made are designed to increase the exchanges between the two countries and not to contract them."

Piles Cured

Suffering for Years, and Bed-Ridden From Piles, a Contractor of Marion, Indiana, Is Cured by Pyramid Pile Cure.

Trial Package Mailed Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

"I was troubled with piles for several years before I would let it be known. But at last they became so severe that I could not walk and I had to take my bed. I tried everything and anything the doctors prescribed, and took their treatments for a long time. But nothing ever did me any good. I had seen your ad in different newspapers, so I got a 50-cent box and began using them. From the very first I got quick relief and by the time I was starting on my third box I saw I was cured. I have not been troubled with them since. Now you can use this as you please, because it is genuine. Yours, T. A. Sutton, Stone and Cement Contractor, Marion, Ind."

Instant relief can be gotten by using the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure. It immediately reduces all congestion and swelling, heals all sores, ulcers and irritated parts.

The moment you start to use it your suffering ends and the cure of your dread disease is in sight.

The Pyramid Pile Cure renders a surgical operation foolhardy. Don't hack to pieces those tender muscles which must be intact if a satisfactory cure is to be obtained.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is put up in the form of "easy-to-use," specially made, suppositories. They are soothing, painless, instant and certain.

A trial treatment will be sent you at once by mail, in plain, sealed wrapper, without a cent of expense to you, if you send your name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 4908 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich.

After you receive the sample you can get a regular size package of Pyramid Pile Cure at your druggist's for 50 cents, or if he hasn't it, send us the money and we will send it to you.

ARRANGE FOR CONVOCATION.

Presbyterian Ministers and Elders Prepare to Evangelize Themselves.

At a meeting of the joint committee on evangelism of the Allegheny and Pittsburgh presbyteries of the Presbyterian church, held in the parlors of the Central Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon, it was definitely decided to hold the proposed convocation in the Second Presbyterian church from November 20 to 24 inclusive.

All ministers and elders in the two local presbyteries will be expected to attend these daily meetings, the purpose of which will be to arouse interest in evangelistic work and, in a measure, to evangelize those already within the church. It has been decided not to engage any professional evangelists to conduct these meetings, and local evangelistic pastors will make the addresses.

TO VISIT FOUNDER'S HOME.

Excursion to Be Run to Old Home of Organizer of the Christian Denomination Next Month.

The home of Bishop Alexander Campbell, the founder of the Christian church (Disciples of Christ), which denomination is now conducting a successful simultaneous revival in Pittsburgh and vicinity, is to be invaded Saturday, November 11. On that day the Pennsylvania lines west will run special trains to Bethany, W. Va., where the distinguished minister lived and where the old Campbell homestead still stands. Among the guests on this occasion will be A. C. Thompson of the Colonial Trust Company, a grandson of Bishop Campbell.

President T. C. Cramblett of Bethany college was in Pittsburgh yesterday and made arrangements with the Central Evangelistic committee to have those who visit Bethany on this occasion come as guests of the college. Reduced railroad fares have been secured for the trip and on account of the marked enthusiasm of the members of the church, it is believed that it will require several trains to carry the excursionists.

An excursion will also be run later to Washington, Pa., which was Campbell's first home in America. The first Disciples church was established at Brush Run between Bethany and Washington.

Twenty-Six Cases of Typhoid.

Twenty-six cases of typhoid fever, nine of scarlet fever and five of diphtheria were reported to the bureau of health yesterday.

THE WINNING STROKE

If more than ordinary skill in playing brings the honors of the game to the winning player, so exceptional merit in a remedy ensures the commendation of the well informed, and as a reasonable amount of outdoor life and recreation is conducive to the health and strength, so does a perfect laxative tend to one's improvement in cases of constipation, biliousness, headaches, etc. It is all important, however, in selecting a laxative, to choose one of known quality and excellence, like the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., a laxative which sweetens and cleanses the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects, as it acts naturally and gently on the internal organs, simply assisting nature when nature needs assistance, without griping, irritating or debilitating the internal organs in any way, as it contains nothing of an objectionable or injurious nature. As the plants which are combined with the figs in the manufacture of Syrup of Figs are known to physicians to act most beneficially upon the system, the remedy has met with their general approval as a family laxative, a fact well worth considering in making purchases.

It is because of the fact that SYRUP OF FIGS is a remedy of known quality and excellence, and approved by physicians that has led to its use by so many millions of well informed people, who would not use any remedy of uncertain quality or inferior reputation. Every family should have a bottle of the genuine on hand at all times, to use when a laxative remedy is required. Please to remember that the genuine Syrup of Figs is for sale in bottles of one size only, by all reputable druggists, and that full name of the company—California Fig Syrup Co., is plainly printed on the front of every package. Regular price, 50c per bottle.

JOHN A. GLENN'S CAREER CLOSED

Death Brings Relief to Pennsylvania's Corporation Deputy at Holly Inn.

NOTED EXPERT ON TAXATION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CARLISLE, PA., Oct. 30.—Col. John A. Glenn, corporation deputy of the auditor general's department, died at Holly inn, Mt. Holly, at 9:15 this evening. He was stricken with paralysis two weeks ago and from the first his life was despaired of.

Col. Glenn was one of the leading authorities on corporation law in the state. He was born at Erie, August 2, 1854. In 1854 he removed to Philadelphia and in 1868 entered the law office of the Hon. Samuel Gustine Thompson. Until within the last few years he was associated with Mr. Thompson in his office. Under the administration of Col. A. Wilson Norris Col. Glenn was appointed corporation clerk in the auditor general's office, and also held this position under the Hon. Thomas McCamant. Shortly after the law creating the office of corporation deputy was passed, Col. Glenn was appointed to that office by Auditor General Amos H. Mylin. So well did he perform the arduous duties of his office that he was reappointed by Auditor Generals McCauley, Hardenbergh and Snyder.

There was probably no man in Pennsylvania better acquainted with the subject of taxation than Col. Glenn, as he made it a life study. He raised the contention that the indebtedness of corporations should be included in the valuation of their corporate property. This contention was stoutly contested by the corporations of the state. The matter went to the courts for adjustment and Col. Glenn practically handled his own case all the way through to the supreme court, where he won a sweeping victory. By this single decision he succeeded in adding many thousands of dollars annually to the state revenues.

Col. Glenn had hosts of friends in every county of the state. Despite the fact that he was intimately concerned with the politics of the state he had no known enemies. His opponents always respected him for his peculiar fitness for his position. He was a close friend of the late Senator M. S. Quay and was engaged in writing a history of the Beaver statesman when he was stricken by paralysis.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral services, but the body will be taken at once to his home in Philadelphia, and announcement of the services and interment will be made later.

JACK O'CONNOR OBTAINS DIVORCE FROM HIS WIFE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, MO., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Cora O'Connor, a beautiful woman, whom society accused of separating Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Orthwein, millionaire society leaders, was divorced today. Her husband, the famous baseball catcher, Jack O'Connor, formerly of Pittsburgh, secured a decree when he told of her association with Orthwein and other men.

James Maher, a saloon keeper, testified he had served drinks to Mrs. O'Connor at various times when she was with Harlow Spencer, son of Corwin H. Spencer, vice president of the Louisiana Purchase exposition; young "Dick" Kerens, son of R. C. Kerens, millionaire aspirant for a United States senatorship; Ralph Orthwein, Tommy Burns, the famous jockey, and other lesser lights.

Orthwein first met Mrs. O'Connor shortly after he became president of the St. Louis American League Baseball club in 1901. On the Browns' team was O'Connor. The two formed an acquaintanceship and O'Connor introduced his wife to Orthwein. Orthwein, possessed of a generous share of his father's $8,000,000 estate, spent money freely on many outings at which Mrs. O'Connor, but not her husband, was present. When Orthwein had wasted half a million dollars his family interfered.

Braddock Library Is Reopened.

The Carnegie library and club at Braddock were reopened last evening with a large reception. Several thousand persons visited the building and inspected the $20,000 improvements which have been made in the last few months. In the music hall Walter E. Nail and the boy choir of Trinity church gave a recital. Thomas Morrison presided at a platform meeting and three addresses were made, C. E. Dinkey, general manager of the Edgar Thomson steel works, on "What the Club Means to Do for the Workingman;" Superintendent Grant Norris of the Braddock public schools, on "What the Library Does for the Public Schools," and Librarian H. Lamb on "What the Institution is Doing for the Community."

OHIO WILL POLL VERY HEAVY VOTE

Reports Indicate It Will Nearly Equal That of the Presidential Campaign.

HERRICK'S SUPPORT GROWS

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 30.—From reports of the registration of voters, Ohio will poll very nearly as many votes this fall as were cast last year when the state recorded its heaviest vote. Here in Columbus 38,310 voters have been registered, which is a few more than last year.

Up in Cleveland the registration this year does not equal that of last, but it is very heavy. The same is true of Cincinnati. In other parts of the state the same condition prevails, which indicates the great interest manifested in this campaign.

No official estimate of Herrick's majority can yet be secured at the headquarters of the Republican state executive committee, although there is an inclination to place the figures higher now than they were a week ago. It is the general opinion Herrick is gaining strength every day.

The final poll is being received from every county in the state and will be complete about Thursday. Senator Dick, state chairman, will not give out his annual prediction until Saturday night, and he may reserve it until Sunday or Monday. He says he does not want to say anything that may cause the workers to cease their efforts during these last days of the fight.

Senator Foraker has cancelled his two remaining engagements for the campaign and Senator Dick has been assigned to take his place at the Toledo meeting.

Congressman Bannon of Portsmouth called at headquarters today and said: "Scioto county will give Herrick a larger majority than it did two years ago. Of course, we will lose some Republican votes, but for every one we lose we will gain at least one Democratic vote and possibly two. Secretary Shaw's speech there last Friday night did us a lot of good."

C. L. Newcomer, Republican county chairman of Williams county, was also at headquarters today. Williams is away up in the northwestern corner of the state. It is part of the infected district, but Mr. Newcomer says the Democrats will not be able to carry it. Said he:

"Herrick will get the county by at least 200 and possibly more. There will be a loss but it will not be sufficient to give the county to Pattison. All the defection up there is caused by the arguments over the Brannock law. A good many people of that county have been impressed with the arguments made by the Anti-Saloon league and will follow the advice of the leaders of that organization. The queer part of it is that the Brannock law does not affect our county at all. It applies only to cities, and there is not a city in the county."

HERRICK'S ELECTION PREDICTED BY SHAW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—"Judging from the meetings at which I spoke," said Secretary of the Treasury Shaw, who returned today from a trip through Ohio, "I should say that Gov. Herrick's election is assured, as well as the entire ticket. Where I spoke the old-time Republican enthusiasm appeared to be fully aroused. This, of course, means a handsome majority for the Republican ticket."

AMERICAN ADMIRAL IS KNOCKED DOWN BY MOB

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHANGHAI, Oct. 30.—Rear Admiral Train, commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic squadron, and his son, Lieut. Train, have been victims of a savage attack by Chinese outside of Nanking. The American officers were pheasant shooting when the admiral accidentally shot a Chinese woman, slightly injuring her. Hundreds of villagers thereupon surrounded the officers, took away their guns, knocked the admiral down in the mud and held Lieut. Train as a hostage. Forty American marines landed as a rescue party were attacked by a mob of Chinamen who tried to pitchfork the officers. The marines were obliged to fire twice. The Chinese officials refused to restore the officers' guns and supported the villagers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The state department had cabled to the United States consul at Nanking, China, asking particulars about the case of Admiral Train. On account of the fact that Nanking is the center of the boycott movement of American goods, the incident is regarded as serious.

Naval officers state that such accidents as this are not infrequent in China. It is the custom of the naval officers of all nationalities to go fowling among the Chinese rice fields which abound with ducks and smaller birds feeding on the rice. One officer recalled his shooting a Chinese babe on its mother's back which was settled amicably by the payment of 50 Mexican dollars, with the result that many Chinamen were tempted to put themselves in the way of shotguns.

Fraternity Gives Dinner.

The members of the Pittsburgh Alumni association of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity gave a dinner last night at the Union club rooms. The Rev. Dr. Henry Rosenmiller of McKeesport was toastmaster. Judges J. S. Young and Samuel A. McClung, members of the fraternity, made speeches. Addresses were also delivered by D. T. List of Wheeling and Thomas H. Johnson. Fifty members were at the dinner.

NEWS OF THE NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

WOMAN THROWS HERSELF UNDER ENGINE'S WHEELS

Domestic Troubles Prey Upon Her Mind and She Suddenly Decides to End All.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

M'DONALD, PA., Oct. 30.—Acting upon an impulse so swiftly that none could save her, Mrs. Hannah Gathers of Burgettstown, threw herself under the wheels of a train at Bulger station this evening and was instantly killed.

Mrs. Gathers, who was 29 years old, had not lived with her husband, Walter Gathers, a miner, for several years. Her domestic trouble preyed upon her mind, it is said, and she brooded constantly. She was visiting the home of her uncle, James Bradley, at Bulger station, near here, when the tragedy occurred.

Bradley had just come from his work and was chatting with Mrs. Gathers. As they talked the Steubenville accommodation on the Panhandle railroad, whose tracks run in front of the Bradley home, was heard approaching. "I'm going to end it all!" she suddenly declared, and before Mr. Bradley could divine her intention she had rushed through the yard to the railroad track, where, without an instant's hesitation she dropped to the ground and placed her head on the rail. The top of her head was cut off by the wheels.

Funeral of Thomas Baker.

LISBON, O., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The body of Thomas Baker of Elk Run township, who died in the National Military home at Dayton, aged 81, will be brought here for burial. He was a veteran of the Seventy-eighth Ohio volunteer infantry and had been an inmate of the soldiers' home 18 years. He is survived by a son, Reasin of Conneaut, O., and two daughters, Miss Susan Baker of Elkton and Mrs. Mary Tullis of Salem.

Big Line Buying Rights of Way.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Three large farms east of this city have been purchased by the new traction company which is to enter this city from Pittsburgh by way of Ellwood. The farms belonged to Mrs. James McMurray, Edward Gardner and Andrew Weir. Mrs. McMurray sold her farm for $10,000, after purchasing the property two years ago for $4,800.

Can you save $5 a week? That amount deposited each week in the Peoples Savings bank, Fourth avenue and Wood street, at 4 per cent compound interest, would amount in five years to $1,462; in 10 years to $2,352 and in 20 years to $8,070. Accounts may be started with any amount from $1 up.

AGED BANKER GOES HOME.

James L. Patterson, of Burgettstown, Closes a Long and Useful Career in Town Where He Was Born.

BURGETTSTOWN, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—James L. Patterson, president of the Burgettstown National bank, died at his home here today after a brief illness with heart failure, aged 81.

Mr. Patterson was a charter member of the First Presbyterian church and a member of the session since 1864. He was also a member of Richard Vaux lodge No. 454, F. and A. M. He was born in 1824 in a house which occupied the site of the home in which he died and his whole life has been identified with Burgettstown. He graduated from Washington college in 1842. From 1849 until 1868 he was engaged in the store business and when the railroad was built through Burgettstown, he became the first agent. With other local financiers he organized a savings bank which later became the Burgettstown National. He was its first cashier. Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian church, Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Fairview cemetery.

TWELVE SMALLPOX CASES DISCOVERED AT ALTOONA

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Twelve cases of smallpox were reported to have broken out in East Altoona, a suburb, today. Among the patients is James Steiber, an undertaker. The cases are mild.

Folk's Inspirer in New Castle.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The Rev. Clayton S. Brooks, D. D., the St. Louis pastor whose denunciation of grafters in that city aroused Gov. Folk and inspired him as district attorney to prosecute the corruptionists, is in the city and will preach here for four weeks. He will assist the Rev. W. L. Fisher of the Park Christian church.

Office Seekers Are in a Hurry.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Allan Handley, postmaster at Winfield, Putnam county, died last night from typhoid fever, and within six hours after his death Congressman Hughes of this district had received applications by wire from 14 persons who desired to succeed him as postmaster.

Accident Gives Mob a Chance.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. David S. Evans was accidentally shot in the arm today by Dominick Lozzi, an Italian. The Italian was pursued by a crowd of excited men who thought he had killed Mrs. Evans. Finally the man was captured and is now in jail.

WHILE THE WORLD WAITS.

Superior Court Will Decide If Playing Poker for Chips Is Real Gambling.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The state superior court will be asked to decide the question whether playing poker for chips is a violation of the anti-gambling laws.

Lewis Edmonston and Scott Shaw, proprietors of an alleged gambling establishment in Altoona, were recently convicted of breaking the law and are now in jail. Their attorney is appealing the case to the higher court on the ground that the state failed to prove that the chips had any money value and that there can be no gambling without money being at stake.

STRIKE GREAT GAS WELL.

Kanawha Company Gets 20,000,000 Feet Producer in Charleston (W. Va.) Field.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—A gas well having an estimated flow of 20,000,000 cubic feet, was struck on the Bird farm, six miles from Clendenning, this county, yesterday afternoon by the Kanawha Gas Company.

This well is near the one recently shot by the same company, where a flow of 12,000,000 feet was obtained. State Senator Joe McDermott and Secretary of State Swisher are the principal owners of the Kanawha Gas Company.

OVER 8,000,000 PERSONS LIVE IN EMPIRE STATE

Neither New York Nor Its Metropolis Are Growing So Rapidly as Ten Years Ago, However.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 30.—There are now 8,066,672 people in New York state. These figures were announced today by the state enumeration bureau. In 1900 the population was 7,268,894 and in 1890, 6,003,174, including Indians and other persons on Indian reservations.

The population of the state has increased, therefore, during the past five years, 797,778, or 11 per cent, as against an increase during the preceding decade of 1,265,720, or 21.1 per cent.

The population of Greater New York, as counted by the state enumeration bureau June 1, and announced today is 4,014,804, as compared with 3,437,202 in 1900, and 2,507,414 in 1890. These figures show an increase in the population from 1900 to 1905 of 577,102, or 16.8 per cent, and for the same area during the preceding 10 years of 929,788, or 37.1 per cent.

GREAT COAL DEAL CLOSED.

Millions of Dollars Involved in Transfer of Thousands of Acres in West Virginia.

UNIONTOWN, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—It is stated that a deal has been closed for one of the largest West Virginia coal tracts yet handled, both in acreage and amount of money involved. The coal is located in Marion and Monongalia counties, lying north of the main line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, between Fairmont and Wheeling, and extends north of the Pennsylvania state line.

Options on all this tract were secured by Phil. Seiler of Uniontown and C. L. Shaver of Fairmont, W. Va. The names of purchasers and the prices received have not been given out, but it is said that several million dollars are involved.

Says Roomer Robbed House.

John Murphy was committed to jail on a charge of larceny preferred by Mrs. C. A. McClintock, 1119 Bedford avenue, who alleges Murphy engaged a furnished room from her and, after staying four days, left with a black suit, an overcoat, shoes and other goods, valued at $100.

MIKE'S GIFT OF COAT DID NOT INCLUDE CONTENTS

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The wife of Mike Welch used an old overcoat for a bank and when her husband brought home $850 she deposited it. Nip Banes asked for a coat and received it from Mike. He thrust his hand into the pocket and found the money after he had left the house. He began to distribute the money among his friends, but when they tried to spend it they were arrested. All the money was recovered but $150.

THIRTEEN DIE IN SANTA FE WRECK

Passenger Coaches Are Crushed Against the Sides of Rocky Gorge.

THIRTY PERSONS INJURED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

KANSAS CITY, MO., Oct. 30.—Thirteen persons were killed and 30 were injured in the wreck today of a westbound Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe passenger train, known as the California Express, which while running 35 miles an hour, struck a loose rail, ditching five cars near the eastern limits of Kansas City. The dead:

ROY STAFFORD, 100 Hayden avenue, Cleveland.

LEE D. MONTGOMERY, Linneus, Mo.

JAMES SEYMOUR, Richmond, Mo.

JOHN McGREGOR, Fort Madison, Iowa.

MICHAEL SCHNEIDER, Chicago.

J. F. CAPPS, baggageman, Chicago.

CARL EMIL TOREN, immigrant, 254 St. Marks street, Brooklyn.

ROMASTICIO PECCI, immigrant from Naples.

POMERIO ROCCO, immigrant from Naples.

ADRIAN PEATTECT, immigrant from Northing, Switzerland.

LUTHER RICHARDSON, negro waiter.

WILLIAM HARRISON, negro porter.

J. B. WHITTEMORE, Carrollton, Mo.

The wreck occurred at Rock creek cut on a curve, where jagged rock walls on each side of the track form a bluff almost 100 feet high. The sides of the coaches were crushed against the rough stone, killing and wounding passengers and trainmen.

One of the first bodies removed was that of the dining car porter, Randolph Richardson. When killed he was passing through some of the rear cars and had just made the announcement, "Last call for breakfast."

J. D. Whitmore, one of the injured, was in the smoker, which, had an old-fashioned coal stove heater. He was thrown in such a way that one leg was jammed into the broken stove in contact with the live coals, and was so covered with the debris that he was unable to get out and his foot was burned until it must be amputated.

WHEELBARROW FACTORY IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Spectacular Flames in the West End Defy Fireman Handicaped by Low Water Pressure.

In a spectacular blaze the entire plant of the Pittsburgh Wheelbarrow Company, 56 South Main street, West End, was destroyed last evening, with a loss of $20,000. The flames also burned a $500 trestle of the West Side Belt Railroad Company and part of a box car. Wheatland's row, composed of eight frame dwellings nearby, was saved from destruction only by the efforts of the firemen, who kept two streams playing on the buildings. In trying to turn off the gas Foreman William Berrey of the company, who had been on the second floor, was burned on the face and hands.

The fire broke out about 7:20 p. m. The plant had been rushed with orders and had been working at night. It was a three-story frame structure, covered with sheet steel. It is said that if the pressure on the water pipes had been greater much more good could have been done by the firemen, as the flames had wrecked the building before the engines could get up sufficient present. About 40 per cent of the plant's value is covered by insurance. Among those interested in the Thomas L. Kearns, president; Charles Denny, S. C. Cover, Andrew Johnston, W. J. and August Lagman, all of Crafton, and W. J. Griffith of Pittsburgh.

Moon Succeeds Storrs.

CLEVELAND, Oct. 30.—D. C. Moon was today appointed general superintendent of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway, to succeed the late H. S. Storrs. Mr. Moon has for the past two years been assistant general superintendent, prior to that time being assistant general superintendent of the Lake Erie & Western.

LOCAL COMPANY DOING BIG WORK

Stockholders of Kansas Natural Gas Approve of the Second Mortgage Bond Issue.

ENLARGE THE SCOPE OF PLANS

Stockholders of the Kansas Natural Gas Company yesterday approved the proposed issue of $2,500,000 bonds secured by a second mortgage upon the company's property. These bonds are to bear 5 per cent interest and are for a five-year term.

The meeting of the stockholders was held at the company's general offices in the Farmers Bank building, and the action was unanimous. It was shown that outside of the companies absorbed and the leases secured in the original scope of the company's plans, there have been secured the entire control of the Peoples Gas Company of Coffeyville, with 40,000 acres of leases and a capacity of 50,000,000 cubic feet per day; the entire Parsons and Thayer plant and the control of the Caney Gas Company and the Caney Oil & Gas Company, the entire interest of the Montgomery Oil & Gas Company, the D. M. Robbins leases, the Issett-Irwin leases and the Smith-Dean leases.

The company's entire capacity with the new properties acquired is placed at 2,500,000,000 cubic feet per day. It will reach a population of 700,000 and hundreds of industrial establishments.

The addition of new properties and the cost of constructing the pipe line extensions and working the entire group into one compact system caused the necessity for the additional bond issue, which was deemed better financing than carrying the obligations by floating indebtedness.

The firms are doing some interesting engineering work in building the pipe line for the company across the Missouri and Kaw rivers. The Missouri is crossed at Kickapoo. The T. A. Gillespie Company is doing the work. On account of the shifting character of the stream and its unstable foundation, it was necessary to put six 10-inch lines across the river, each curved up the river. The gas is received from a 16-inch pipe on one side and delivered to a 16-inch pipe at the other. Four miles of 10-inch pipe is required, and there are 825 river sleeve couplings, weighing 800 pounds each. The same number of collar leak clamps are used. The river crossing alone is costing $10,000, but the permanency of the work is assured. The J. G. Corcoran Company of Pittsburgh is building the line across the Kaw river at Lawrence, Kas.

In the making of its pipe the company at one time had the McKeesport, Lowry and Middletown plants of the National Tube Company, the Spang-Chalfant works and the LaBelle works all busy simultaneously. The Wheeling Steel & Iron Company, the Youngstown Iron, Steel & Tube Company and the South Chester Tube Company also made parts of the pipe. The entire capacity of the Custer Coupler Company of Bradford for over six months was required.

OLD DOCTOR TAKES YOUNG BRIDE TO NEW HOME

Dr. A. M. Grubbs, aged 74, and his 18-year-old bride, who have been living at the home of the latter's parents in Sand alley, McKeesport, sought new quarters yesterday and this morning will begin housekeeping in Fifth avenue, that city.

John Beatty, the young wife's father, declared yesterday that the excitement and notoriety which have followed the marriage of his daughter to the aged physician, are killing him. He said that he can never be reconciled to the marriage and believed it better for the two to live under another roof.

MRS. FISKE IN "LEAH KLESCHNA" WINS APPROVAL OF LARGE AND CRITICAL AUDIENCE

AT THE OTHER THEATERS

One is logically inclined to write as a caption over the review of the Belasco theater the name of the actress in the chief role, rather than the name of the play which is titled by that role. If the names of at least four of Mrs. Fiske's associates could be added to the caption conveniently the reviewer would feel that he had appropriately and legitimately focussed the power of the performance where it really belongs. The action of Mrs. Fiske, Mr. Arliss, Mr. Mason, Mr. Mack and Mr. De Belville gain for C. M. S. McLellan's one-grained, psychological problem melodrama a prestige that perhaps the play of itself would not secure—indeed, did not secure in other hands and amid the colder environment of an English playhouse. And yet I am not disposed to underate Mr. McLellan's play. It is a terse, direct, dramatic cluster of episodes in the career of a woman's life, and that woman one whose humanity is readily understood, though her kind is not familiar to the people who go to see plays in a fashionable theater. It is this quality of Mr. McLellan's drama that grips the sympathy. He has written a melodrama in which prologue, play and epilogue lie almost wholly in the latitude of melodramatics, and yet so cleverly does he evolve the problem of Leah Kleschna's reformation, and the heart interest out of which that reformation grew, that one is irresistibly led to the conclusion that the force of both plot and denouement have been created by fresh and original material. This play is, however, only a refined and highly-polished melodrama. The lodgings of the thief, Kleschna, his daughter Leah, and their associate in crime, Schram; the early morning attempt at robbery by Leah in the home of Sylvaine; the melodramatic finale of that robbery, and the theft of the jewels by a third person, together with the dramatic interview between the awakened woman, who is no longer a thief, and her father with the real thief thrown in to add to the picture, are all the threadbare concomitants of melodrama. We have seen them time and time again and our fathers have seen them before us.

But here's where all analogy ceases. Mr. McLellan's melodrama and the thing we commonly call melodrama are no more akin than an Ethiopian and an Anglo-Saxon. "Leah Kleschna" is a melodrama of nature's stock. It seeks to take the possible facts of human good and human evil and by the refinement of imagination blend them into a real, convincing, flesh and blood appeal to our sympathies. There are structural defects about the piece. It is sometimes palpably melodramatic, as in the trap in suicides at the part of Leah. It is at other times at a loss for reasonable excuse for some things that are done, as the connection of Sylvaine with the epilogue and the disposition of his fiancee and her family, who drop out of the plot abruptly. These things are merely the exposed frame work of melodrama. In "Leah Kleschna" the superstructure has been so finely fashioned and the imagination so keenly stirred that one must pronounce the play a good one, and, in respect to the deftness and incisiveness of its problem, a great play.

Leah Kleschna is an Agnes Ebbsmith of another sort. She has no sex problem befouling her skirt. But like Pinero's heroine Mr. McLellan has struck the roots of his moral problem in the soil of inherited tendency. Leah is a thief because she never knew anything else, but served as the link to bind her back to the verities of a better life and to make her love for Sylvaine more powerful a necessity in breaking the spell of evil. But in her case the memory of her mother's house in the peasant fields of Austria little of the play is given over to moral platitude. It is simply a direct melodramatic treatment of a theory, withdrawn of the facts used before your eyes. I am sure that the skillful blending of the several parts of the play is due quite as much to Mrs. Fiske as to Mr. McLellan. She is an actress of infinite resources, and the play as it stands bears all the earmarks of the actor's finesse, not the author's dramatic acumen.

As has been already said, however, the play is not really the great thing. It is the acting in some of its phases. Mrs. Fiske as Leah is still Mrs. Fiske, but she brings that wonderfully dynamic and nervous temperament of hers into full contribution to the character she portrays. Her Leah is stronger on its mental than on its physical and visual side.

There are one or two tense moments, like the farewell to her father and the interviews with Sylvaine, when you are fairly borne along on the tide of the highly wrought emotionalism that is lashing itself to a climax in the mien, voice, face and poise of the actress. Here is Mrs. Fiske's greatest power. She startles you by the "pentness" of her vivid moods. Her voice is bad at times, but the express train rate at which it whips along, or the monotones which at other times that detract the hearing, are part and parcel of the mental processes that are blazing through her acting. In Leah she steps more nearly into our own comprehendable world than she has appeared for a long time, and yet she brings to this ordinary heroine of melodrama the same psychological finesse that characterized her Becky Sharp or her Hedda Gabler.

John Mason does an exceedingly fine and sympathetic piece of work as Sylvaine. The author has not drawn the character lines very clearly in Sylvaine's case, but Mr. Mason sets them out clearly and boldly. It is in every way an admirable, vigorous, manly portrayal. George Arliss is so clever in a small character that he lifts it to a place of commanding interest. Mr. Arliss is an actor of splendid resource. He convinces you by the very facial mimicry that becomes a salient method of his expression of mental conditions. W. B. Mack is strongly suggestive in his work. He keeps attention fastened upon the thief hanger-on of the Kleschna entourage by being that thief so really, and yet so humanly, as to startle at times. Frederic de Belleville's Kleschna is strong, rugged, but to my mind, lacks some of the realism of the picture in which it is set. Mr. De Belleville never misses the technical excellence of his art or falters over the intelligent understanding of the role; but he is less convincing than his associates. Miss Fernanda Eliscu does a small bit with gracious artistry. Emily Stevens, more beautiful than ever, and more a replica of her distinguished aunt, the star, is excellent, while Mary Maddern as Charlotte, is another representative of the same family that reflects the fine acting strain.

Scenically the drama is beautifully staged, the last act, the lettuce field, being a strikingly effective picture that brought liberal applause.

CHARLES M. BREGG.

Grand—Refined Vaudeville.

Several acts worthy of the head line position are on the Grand program for the week, first of which may be mentioned Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Crane and company in "A Yankee's Love for Dixie," a wartime playlet of Old Virginia. It is about a Yankee captain's love for the always lovable Dixie maiden and a rebel brother who complicates matters by coming inside the Yankee lines. Mr. and Mrs. Crane easily take their audience back to the scene and alternate quaint humor with dramatic tension up to a happy denouement with tears. In typical vaudeville contrast the Elinore sisters convulse the audience with their original specialty of singing and general nonsense talk. Measured by the applause, Saderno, a new European juggler, was the hit of the evening and in cleverness he places the standard of his art several notches above all his contemporaries yet seen here. A novelty in his work is his ability to keep his audience in ignorance of what he is going to do next, and the surprise and amazement striking home at the same time brings out continuous rounds of applause that are expressive of his cleverness. He leads the jugglers, imported and native. Bergae's circus of ponies and donkies is made roaringly funny by the efforts of several young men in trying to ride a bucking donkey. The rest of the program is made up of the usual good specialties and all held the interest of the audience and were generously encored.

Alvin—"Way Down East."

"Way Down East" received the warmest kind of a welcome at the Alvin last night on its coming to Pittsburgh from a ten weeks' stay at the Academy of Music in New York. The old songs have evidently lost none of their charm, for they were met with hearty and frequent applause. In the oft repeated scenes on an old New Hampshire farm there are woven such rich veins of pathos and comedy as to merit the comment made sometimes that "'Way Down East' stands at the head of the long list of bucolic plays. Again was the audience convulsed by the genius of that prince of chore boys, Hi Holler, whom John E. Brennan makes equal to the most verdant specimen of the jolly oddity that often serves in that capacity around the farm. The antics of the freak summer boarder, Prof. Sterling, are so well described by Frank Currier as to make him a close second in the humorous effects of the performance. The stern phases of New England character are well brought out in the brief life of Anna Moore at the farm house during which her past life is a constant barrier to her union to David, the old 'squire's son. Phoebe Davies in this role is a decided favorite and no better example of the country 'squire could be desired than Robert A. Fischer. The production is well staged and its cast is worthy of the approval it received from the large crowd at the initial evening performance.

Nixon—"The Shepherd King."

Wright Lorimer's beautifully staged Biblical play entered last night upon the second and last week of its engagement at the Nixon. An increasingly large number of people are from night to night finding this remarkable series of stage pictures interesting and entertaining. Mr. Lorimer approximates with youthful enthusiasm the character of David, while his principal associates, Miss Holmes, Miss Reed, Mr. Kent, Mr. Eckstrom and Miss Margaret Hayward as the Witch of Endor, continue to give the star valuable aid. "The Shepherd King" is undoubtedly the most beautiful Biblical play of recent times, and its reverence is one of the charms of the drama. It deserves a far more extensive indorsement than it has yet received in Pittsburgh, despite the fact that it is as a whole not so well acted as the theme and setting of the play deserve. Would-be reformers of the stage usually thunder in the Index about plays of weak and evil suggestion, but when opportunity is presented to approve a clean, elevating production they usually stay at home or have poor memories.

Empire—"The Gypsy Girl."

That dainty melodramatic actress, Miss Dolly Kemper, appears at the Empire this week in a play by Hal Reid entitled "The Gypsy Girl." The piece is full of thrills and dramatic situations as usually go with a play of this sort, but a different touch has been given it by the appearance of three villains.

The gallery gods were delighted when they found out they had three persons at whom they could devote their hisses, and the number of hisses given the villains and the wild applause which Miss Kemper received easily showed that the entire house was soul intent in the play.

The different characters of the piece are in very able hands, Ben S. Mears and W. H. Carter were typical villains, while the tramp part was essayed by John Flataw in admirable style. While being an actor of no mean ability, Mr. Flataw has a very novel and entertaining dancing feature which he introduced during the evening. Of course Miss Kemper is the heroine of the piece and this dainty little actress portrays her part in excellent style. She was compelled to answer several curtain calls last evening. Her specialty during the second act, singing from an illuminated swing and distributing carnations in the audience, is very well done and made quite a hit. The other persons engaged in the play are very good, and the play is sure to be popular with the patrons of the Empire during the current week. Miss Helen Desmond, who has an important part in the performance, appeared on the stage last evening contrary to her physician's orders, and was quite ill during the evening, although she continued playing.

Gayety—"Golden Crook."

This new burlesque and variety aggregation has been heralded as something out of the ordinary in the style and completeness of its spectacular features. It makes good in one particular, at least. There is quite the handsomest bevy of chorus girls who display themselves in pink tights on all occasions. The scenic investiture is new, and in the transformation scenes which are by no means original or extensive, the stage presents a pretty picture. The Four Seasons are represented and then we are told that it is "Cupid's Golden Palace" in which is the scene of some ballet dancing by Senora Alvora and the Yaltos. The latter are supple dancers and do some clever acrobatic dancing that is pleasing. Senora Alvora has a grander name than she deserves. Her dancing is simply the old variety dance. The entire part of the entertainment given over to scenic display is rather tame, and the audiences yesterday were not unduly excited. The opening burlesque displays all the pretty girls in pink tights, but does not display any brains in the authorship of the skit. It is silly, slap-stick drivel. Of the olio the Onlaw Trio captured the largest share of applause, though Ed Morton, the Brothers Buch, Miss Maryland Tyson with her 18 ladies, are pleasing numbers. The olio is the strongest feature of "The Golden Crook." The skit "Sporting Life" is not noteworthy, and the finale is a march of many colors and of some attractiveness." As burlesques go, "The Golden Crook" is better to look upon than some of its predecessors, but it would seem to be hopeless to expect any real humor and originality in the modern burlesque. Fortunately, the eagle eye of Manager Orr is keeping them reasonably clean at the Gayety, and for that "good Lord make us duly thankful."

Academy—"Colonial Belles."

Burlesque, fun and humor is brimming over at the Academy this week with Charles Robinson, one of the best hobo comedians on the circuit, as chief funmaker, and Charles Falk, the best-known of the illustrated song singers, directing the musical interpolations. There are two lively burlesques and a host of vaudeville acts that seemed to the patrons to be about right. Rose Carlin heads the list as a singing comedian and fashion plate, and three very funny sketch offerings are presented by Cook and Barrett, the Farrell-Taylor trio and Nelson and Milledge. Charles Robinson and Charles Falk are of course the big features of the bill, and they were the favorites of the audience in their specialties. The usual crowded house was on hand at both the afternoon and evening performances.

Bijou—"Child Slaves of New York."

This drama of caricature and metropolitan low life is no stranger on the Bijou stage, and the audiences yesterday laughed and applauded at exaggerated phases of New York life involving a lost child in the slums of that city and the heroic efforts that attended its recovery. William H. Vedder, who is featured as the boy detective, is a clever young actor and the scene in which disguised as a store dummy he thwarts the various villains brought forth roars of applause. Harry Lee Van, who acts as the office boy, is a George M. Cohan imitator so far as voice and mannerisms go. The play is well staged and appeals to people who like to laugh at the caricatured Jew, Irishman and Italian, or who rejoice in the meanderings of vice in the lower life of New York.

Sam Bernard Coming.

When Sam Bernard and his four-score associate fun-makers appear at the Nixon theater next Monday night in "The Rollicking Girl" it will be their first appearance outside of Greater New York in a musical play that has run for more than six months. "The Rollicking Girl" was one of several productions put on at Broadway theaters last spring, but it outlasted them all in the favor of the metropolitan public.

"Belle of the West."

At the Alvin next week R. E. Forrester will present Florence Bindley in a new musical comedy by Harry B. Smith and Karl L. Hoschna, entitled, "The Belle of the West." The scenes are laid in Wydaho, a mining town on the border lines of Idaho and Wyoming, and represent the principal street in the mining camp, and also shows the model ranch of Sir Montague, an Englishman, with seven lovely daughters.

"Loveland" Follows Mrs. Fiske.

Beginning Monday, October 6, and continuing for one week, with a matinee Wednesday and Saturday, the musical comedy success, "Loveland" will be at the Belasco theater. The "Musical Pastime" as it is called, is in two acts, and is said to be full of snap and vigor in the way of dialogue and music.

HEART DISEASE KILLS TWO MEN WHILE AT WORK

One Was John G. White, Formerly Engineer at Garfield Pumping Station. Epilepsy Causes Death.

Charles W. White, aged 63, formerly an engineer at the Garfield pumping station, dropped dead yesterday while working for the McClintic-Marshall Construction Company at a warehouse the firm is building at Euclid and Center avenues. White had heart disease. He had been engineer at the pumping plant for years, but was dismissed when the Citizens party came into power. He was married and lived at 5461 Rosetta street.

Charles Armstrong, aged 52, employed in the plumbing establishment of Childs Brothers, McKeesport, fell over on the floor while working yesterday and died of heart disease. He leaves a widow and family in Wilkes-Barre.

Albert F. Behl, a barber, died at the Allegheny General hospital of epilepsy. Behl was taken to the Allegheny central police station a week ago and from there was sent to the hospital.

Mrs. Cecelia Hershey, aged 25, died suddenly at 2:15 a. m. yesterday at her home in Natrona.

THE STEEL CAR FIGHT MAY GO TO THE SUPREME COURT

In the supreme court of the United States yesterday at Washington Senator P. C. Knox presented a petition for a writ of certiorari in the case of the Pressed Steel Company vs. John M. Hansen to bring the case to the supreme court to have the decision of the circuit court of appeals for the third circuit reviewed. Hansen was formely chief engineer of the steel company and while in that employ made a number of inventions relatating to steel cars. The company claims the right to control those inventions. The court of appeals decided against the company.

LOOKS LIKE SEA SERPENT, BUT IS ONLY SWEET POTATO

This strange freak of nature is a sweet potato found by W. C. McCullough, manager of the grocery department of the Wilkinsburg Mercantile Company store, Penn and Swissvale avenues, Wilkinsburg, in a load of sweet potatoes delivered at the store several days ago by a local commission house. The Rev. E. L. Miller of Swissvale, yesterday saw the potato, and borrowed it to show to the pastors at the ministerial meeting in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church yesterday. After the meeting Mr. Miller took it to the "punkin" show being held in Old City Hall. It was placed on top of a big "punkin" and attracted much attention from people who visited the "punkin" show.

THE BRUNSWICKS ARE BEATEN

Friendship Boys Down Them in Two Out of Three Games by Steady Work.

MANY MATCHES ARE ROLLED

There is weeping and wailing among the champion Brunswicks, who yesterday were beaten two out of three games on the Wylie avenue alleys by the Friendship boys. Not one of the champions was at himself, whereas the Friendships were at their best and in dead earnest. Hoover, who was the star of the evening, started off with a strike and did not let up until he had five Xs in a row, winding up the game with 225, the biggest score made by a Friendship player, and the second highest made in the Pittsburgh section this season. His good work was the main cause of the downfall of the champions. He averaged 194 2-5. The winners won the first and second games with comparative ease, but in the third they fell down, and the champions had no trouble in capturing it.

Two new teams in the league have now caused the bowlers to stop and ponder—the Ungers, with their three 900 scores, and the Friendships. Of course, the season is still very young, but every game counts, no matter whether made now or near the end. The champions were outplayed last night and that is all there is to it, but they are not the boys to brood over it. They will be found toeing the scratch at their next appearance and trying to regain lost ground. Needless to say that the Friendship lads celebrated their glorious victory in becoming manner. Scores:

The Hazelwood and Glenwood teams of the Pittsburgh section met on the Hazelwood alleys last night for the first time this season, Glenwood making a clean sweep. The teams are rivals and the defeat was a bitter pill for Hazelwood to swallow. Fatkins was the only roller to reach the 200 mark. The Glenwoods chalked up an 800 score in each game. Scores:

On Sirlin's alleys in Millvale the Millvale team won all three games from Haddock's North Side troupe. Both teams were slow in starting, but when they got off the scratch the Millvale boys were ahead and kept ahead to the finish. Haddock had high score of 195, but he and all his men fell down in their game, as the scores will show:

In the Diocesan league last night there were scores put up by the St. Josephs and St. Anthonys that any teams in the country could be proud of. The St. Josephs won all three games and in accomplishing the feat had to put up the magnificent average of 906 2-3. The defeated team had three good 800 scores, in fact, scores that are a credit to any team. Scores of 200 were too numerous to mention. Milfelt was the boss bowler, having high score of 246, and also best average. Scores:

The Drug league had its opening on the Wylie avenue alleys last night and the honored teams to be scheduled for the first contest were the Pittmorys and the Allegheny. The Allegheny druggists won two out of three games, they losing the first by only one pin. The Drug league has been in existence for six years and the different teams are composed of some good bowlers. All the contests have been interesting in the past and no doubt they will be more so in the future. Hunter had high score of 214 last night and best average. Scores:

The rules of the Allegheny County league will be published in tomorrow's Gazette.

The Braddock Jrs., formerly Seng's Colts, challenges the Harvards, Arsenals and Bocks Colts. They want a game for Friday night, Harvards preferred. Answer through The Gazette.

Thomas Gwyer has joined the Cecilia team and will be eligible to bowl on November 3.

The North Side team of the Allegheny section is composed of: D. T. Haddock, captain; Emil Weber, F. Downey, A. Hepler, Elmer Vey, Joseph Dinkel and Mr. Gardner.

AMONG THE KICKERS.

The Pittsburgh Eagles want games with 70 to 80-pound teams. Call 68-J, Turtle Creek.

The M. G. Leslies are without a game for Saturday. Any good 55 or 60-pound team call up Grant 334 or 335.

The Pittsburgh college sophomores will play W. U. P. sophomores tomorrow afternoon at Exposition park. Game called at 2 o'clock.

Linwood practices Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and desires a home game for Thanksgiving with some good 90-pound team.

Bedford A. C. would like to hear from all good 70 to 75-pound teams for Saturday. Address Hugh Deaver, 1832 Bedford avenue, city.

Kenwood A. C. will meet the O'Hara A. A. Saturday at Carver field. Kenwood still has November 11 open for some good 75-pound team for the home grounds. Address J. L. Carey, 154 Luna street, city.

Colombos would like to arrange a game with some good 70-pound team for Saturday. Either call 1288 Court for W. J. Hilmer, or address him at 922 Chislett street, city. Colombos will practice Wednesday night instead of Tuesday.

Monterey A. A. went to Sharpsburg on Saturday and was defeated by the score of 21 to 0. Monterey was outweighed by 20 pounds to a man. Monterey challenges all good 90-pound teams. Address William F. Woelfel, 617 Union station.

The Army 11. team has Saturday and also election day open and would like to hear from the following 75-pound teams: Pequots, Gallants, Franklins, Meadows, Linwood and Sayer college. Address William Wiley, 2929 Smallman street.

The Coraopolis Indians desire a game for Saturday with some good lightweight team. The Indians also have November 11, 25 and December 4 open. Address E. C. Harper, Coraopolis, Pa., or call P. & A. 46-4; Bell 30, Coraopolis, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

The Devlin A. C. have open dates for all Saturdays in November and would like to hear from all 75-pound teams in Western Pennsylvania, barring none. Would like to know if the game with Johnstown High school is good for Thanksgiving. Address John J. McMahon, 194 Pike street, Pittsburgh.

Pequot I. play the Wilkinsburg Athletics Saturday on W. U. P. campus. These teams are considered among the best in their class and a tight game is expected. All of Pequots' injured players are doing well. Owing to cancellation, Pequot has November 11 and 18 open for first-class 75-pound teams. Address W. E. Gillespie, 507 Union station, Pittsburgh.

Kenwood II. has been reorganized and is still traveling under the same weight, 65 to 70 pounds. All players and those who would like to try for the team are requested to report for practice Wednesday and Friday at 7:30 at the Carver street grounds. Quakers will please take notice, their game for Saturday is good. For games address Thomas D. Newell, Jr., 823 Lincoln ave., East End.

The Albions, a 60 to 65-pound team, are without a game for Saturday. Address L. E. Orgill, care American Bridge Company, voucher-ing department, Pittsburgh. It seems as if someone is cancelling Albion's games, as they have been disappointed for the last three Saturdays by teams who said they would be sure and show up. As the Albions give full expenses and good treatment and have as fine a football field as any in the city, they cannot understand why teams do not show up, unless it is somebody cancelling their games.

The Schenley A. C. would like to hear from all good 75-pound teams for games at home for November 11, 18, 25 and Thanksgiving day. The Schenley A. C. will line up against the fast Bowmonts, formerly the Park A. C., at Keystone park Saturday. All Schenley players must report Thursday and Friday evening of this week, those failing to appear will be kept out of Saturday's game. Any others wishing to try for the team should report to the manager or captain on practice nights. For games address R. H. Breitenbach, 5325 Stanton avenue, Station B, Pittsburgh.

Tonight at 8:15 Allegheny Star Course presents Senator Dolliver, with his lecture on "A Boy's Worth." Season tickets and seats on sale at 800 Federal, corner Diamond street, Allegheny.

ACTIVITY ON THE FOOTBALL FIELD

FINE WORK DONE ALL AROUND

Coach Mosse had 29 men out yesterday afternoon for one of the most severe practices which the team has gone through this season. Almost the whole afternoon was spent in a prolonged scrimmage battle between the varsity and scrubs, one of the most heated practice games indulged in up to this time. The work was fast and furious, and was spiced with several phenomenal plays. Frank Griggs, who engineered the team in the Dickinson game last Saturday, was at quarter on the varsity. Griggs is working the pivot position with satisfactory smoothness and is a very likely candidate for quarter. Arthur McKean was back at center and worked well with Griggs. Swenson is first substitute for quarterback and had charge of the second team yesterday.

The coach intends from this time on to run a regular eleven continuously in order to develop an approximate team work, the necessity of constant drilling together in order to put an absolutely reliable eleven in the field against the several strong teams which will be played during the coming month will require the hardest kind of work from the players. Practice from this on will consist almost entirely in long scrimmage duels daily.

Schmidt, Danbury and Art Griggs composed the varsity backfield yesterday. The first team presented almost the same lineup as that in Saturday's game. The reappearance of Waldy Zlag, the star guard, was very pleasing to the coaches. The absence of the big German has been severely felt during the past few games. Mosse is at present preparing the team for the midweek contest, which will be played at Exposition park on Wednesday with the Mt. Union college aggregation. From recent reports it appears to the local management that Saturday's game will be very interesting contest. Mt. Union has been bending every energy toward the strengthening of her team for Wednesday's game. It is claimed that several valuable additions have been made to its squad. Coach Buchler, who played on Michigan last year under Yost, has charge of the Alliance team this season, and is working hard to get his eleven up to its best speed.

The Middies.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Some of the Navy football cripples were on the field in uniform this afternoon, while others came out, but did not put on football clothes. Half Back Bernard went in the scrimmage and Spencer was in football togs, but limped badly and did not get in the game. Captain Howard also did not get in the scrimmage, as his shoulder is not yet strong. Douglass, Doherty and Welch were on the side lines. Charley Gould, ex-captain and end of Yale, was an addition to the coaching staff this afternoon. No score was made in 20 minutes of fierce work against the scrub, the first team being drilled mainly on defensive tactics.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Only three of the Yale football players who were in the game against West Point last Saturday were sent into scrimmage practice this afternoon. Not that any of the others were suffering from serious injuries, but Trainer Mack deemed it wise to give them at least two days' respite from hard work. To keep the pot boiling with new plays, Captain Sheviin assembled two elevens, however, for a short secret drill and one public period of 15 minutes. Tripp, guard; Stevenson, half back; and Levine, full back, were the only regulars in this work. The varsity scored one touchdown by line plunges. It is planned to have hard drills Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to prepare for Columbia, with light work on Friday. After that day the daily drill will be longer and harder, with an eye single to Princeton only, since Brown University is not held any longer to be dangerous. John L. De-Saulles, former quarterback, and Harold Metcalf, former halfback, joined the coaching squad today. DeSaulles went in at quarterback on the scrub team.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The squads are resting a bit after their strenuous exertions of Saturday and practice this afternoon was hardly worthy of the name. The varsity were driven over, but the rest of the squad took the three-quarters of a mile to the field at a trot. Herring appeared for the first time today, but will not be allowed to scrimmage till Wednesday. In company with a number of others, he was put to work getting his wind in condition. His confinement to the infirmary, however, has not caused any special falling off in his condition. Except in this respect, he is all right. The men ran several laps around the track and those who were taken out before the end of the practice were told to run along and had to trot all the way to the gymnasium. It was a very hard breathing squad that at last reached the gymnasium and they did not even pretend to enjoy Hillebrand's new training idea. Thrasher is to be given a good rest. He was kept out of the Columbia game almost entirely for the sake of the rest and it is very probable that he will not appear in the Cornell and Dartmouth games unless it be for a short period. His arm is severely sprained and his present fine physical condition makes it imperative that he shall be saved as much as possible till the Yale game. The playing today consisted almost entirely of formation and signal drill and was in many ways the lightest that has been held this year.

Pennsylvania.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—In the presence of about 2,000 spectators interested in seeing how the team fared after its hard game Saturday with the Indians, the Penn football squad began this week's work with renewed energy and vim today. There was a big squad of graduate coaches present and the men were put through a hard day's work. Pickarskie, the famous guard, now coach of Washington and Jefferson college, was in the field in togs and assisted Coaches Wallace and Wharton in putting the linesmen through their paces. Maxfield Reynolds took charge of the punters and the backs practiced catching and running punts back. After practicing sometime in running through signals the varsity lined up against the scrub for 30 minutes' hard scrimmage work. The varsity scored two touchdowns.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 30.—With the four hardest games of the schedule coming in the next four weeks, most strenuous football practice began at Cornell today. It was again behind closed gates and when it was over the coaches did not feel at all satisfied considering what is before them. Although the student body has a feeling that "the big red team" is bound to make a good showing against Princeton, Columbia and Pennsylvania, and there is even talk that their representatives should win, Coach Warner is rather pessimistic as to the outcome. He attended the Princeton-Columbia game on Saturday, and upon his return today made it plain that he realizes that Cornell has got to do a lot of hard work if she intends doing herself justice against these opponents. Warner also feels that Cornell will have a difficult debater in Swarthmore next Saturday. Her defeat administered to Annapolis showed that she is on a par with the big college elevens, and Cornell will have to play her best to defeat these Quakers. The development of a number of new substitutes was begun today to furnish sufficient material to meet the contingent this week and make sure that the regulars will come through the Swarthmore game and be in prime for the Princeton game the following Saturday.

Carlisle Indians.

CARLISLE, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—With high hopes of defeating Harvard next Saturday, the Carlisle Indians began the week's practice this afternoon in the best condition they have been in this season. The Redskins were not disappointed over their defeat by Penn, and, according to Coach Woodruff, will be in complete flower for the Harvard and West Point games. Tonight's practice was lengthy and the first part of it was given over to kicking and signal work for the four practice teams that were out. Assistant Coach Kinney worked the line at several exercises for speedy starting and showed them several new ways of passing the ball. Jude and Dillon at punting and play kicking excelled themselves.

Old Boys of Indiana in Line.

The Old Boys' basketball team of Indiana, Pa., has organized and all the old players will be in line this season, such as C. McCreight, Gamble, St. Clair, Moorhead, Brotherton and McKallip. Two or three more good players will be secured, and they wish to hear from all first-class teams for games at home and abroad. Address H. Lynn Brotherton, manager, Indiana, Pa.

KISKI OUTPLAYS INDIANA NORMALS

Kulmer's Punting Is a Feature and McGregor's Sensational Run a Surprise.

WINNERS HAVE HEAVY TEAM

INDIANA, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—The game here this afternoon between the Kiski and Normal teams resulted in a victory for the visiting boys by a score of 10 to 0. McGregor and Kulmer played the best for the visitors. The punting of the latter was the finest ever seen on these grounds. Duffy was the mainstay for the local team. In the first half each team held the other until McGregor got past Normals' end and made a sensational run, resulting in the only touchdown of the game. In the second half each team depended largely on punting. When the ball got within the 20-yard line it was passed to Kulmer who made a suessful try for a field goal, which ended the scoring. Lineup:

Normal—0.		Kiski—10.
Dorr	L. E.	Larimer
K. Kennedy	L. T.	McCreight
Murray	L. G.	Osburn
Schugar	C.	Wagner
Earhart	R. G.	Hayward
Goheen	R. T.	Kulmer
Merlin	R. E.	Andrews
Moffitt	Q. B.	Wilson
Smith	L. H.	Lewis
C. Kennedy	R. H.	McGregor
O'Leary	F. B.	Graham

Field goal—Kulmer. Touchdowns—McGregor. Goal from touchdown—Kulmer. Officials—Mr. Church of Johnstown and Mr. Creamer of Greensburg.

After the game Coach Young of the Shadyside Academy team said: "In my estimation Kiski is stronger than last season, possessing a heavier and a much better balanced team. Its defense is good and its style of attack varied." Coach Stetler said that Kiski has the best team in her history, almost in a class with W. and J. and W. U. P., and has a very dangerous man in the giant, Kulmer.

The Kiski coaches could give no definite figures as to the weight of the team, but it is a fact that they will outweigh Shadyside at least 12 pounds to the man. After the game, speaking of the average weight of the Kiski men, Coach Ambers of Indiana said: "They will average 170 pounds." "Dad" Owens, another Indiana coach, said at least 165 pounds, while Eddie Cremer, the referee of the game, also placed the figure at 165 pounds.

Pittsburgh Lyceum.

On account of Halloween festivities, the Lyceum players have transferred their practice to Wednesday night, when all men are requested to report. The rest last Saturday put the Lyceum squad in good condition and hard work is mapped out for them for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. Lyceum's old rivals, the Steubenville eleven, will play here Saturday. Last year the Pittsburgh Lyceum eleven were victorious over Steubenville after a long and hard struggle. This year Steubenville expects to reverse things for in her lineup she has all of last year's players and five new men. They have played six games so far this season and have not been defeated. The Lyceum has a two-fold object in this game, the first to defeat Steubenville and secondly to win the confidence of the large crowd of Lyceum rooters, who have taken to heart the recent defeats at the hands of W. and J., Toledo and Villa Nova.

Captain Brown Against American Turf.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—It is generally reported, and is given credence by many horsemen at Latonia, that negotiations are under way for the combination of the American Turf association and the Western Jockey club under the name of the latter organization. It is well established that at least tentative proposals have been made by the American Turf association, and it is further said that Capt. S. S. Brown, the Pittsburgh coal baron and a member of the board of appeals of the American Turf association, has withdrawn his support from that body. Another report is that Capt. Charles Bush and Bud Renaud, who recently sold controlling interest in the fair grounds at New Orleans to John Condon and Louis Cella, want to buy the City Park track at New Orleans, owned by Joseph L. Rhinock and Edward Corrigan.

Strong Teams for Sewickley.

The Sewickley Y. M. C. A. football team has a strong schedule arranged for the entire season. East End Lyceum will be the attraction next Saturday, and following will be Latrobe, California, Steubenville, Ellwood City and others as strong. The team has not been scored against this season.

SPORTING NOTES.

Arthur Duffy, the sprinter, has declared himself a professional.

Running races in the east will close on November 15 at Aqueduct.

J. P. T., Oakmont, Pa.—No license is required to hunt in this state.

Metzkes, of last year's Manchester team, is requested to call Bell 'Phone 784, McKeesport, between 12 and 1 today.

B. L., Pittsburgh—In Pennsylvania rabbits can be hunted from November 1 to November 20; in Ohio from November 15 to December 5, and in West Virginia from September 15 to January 1.

HOCKEY SCHEDULE FOR THIS SEASON

First Championship Game Will Be Played in Pittsburgh on December 12.

THE LAST GAME ON MARCH 6

HOUGHTON, MICH., Oct. 30.—Everything is shaping up fine for a successful season in the International Hockey league. The schedule provides for 24 games for each team, and the opening games will be played on December 11 and 12 at the Palestra with the Canadian Soo and Calumet teams opposed to each other. In Houghton the first game at the Amphidrome will occur on December 24, the Canadians playing the Portage Lakes. Seven games will be played on each rink with the exception of Pittsburgh, which has only four, but exhibition matches will be arranged during the winter with teams from other cities outside of the league.

The players have not yet been selected, but arrangements and negotiations are now in progress with several of last year's men and some new ones. There is an understanding that no two clubs are to bid against each other for the same man and the salary limit was decided last summer at Chicago, and will not be exceeded except in the case of certain exceptionally good men. It is reported that Bruce Stuart will play with Portage Lake again, and the personnel of the team will be a strong one, with every prospect of standing a splendid chance of recovering the championship.

The following is the schedule as arranged and adopted at the meeting of managers of the International Hockey league at Sault Ste. Marie:

American Soo at Pittsburgh, December 12, 14 and 16.
Canadian Soo at Calumet, December 11 and 12.
Canadian Soo at Houghton, December 11.

Basketball Passers.

Freedom will be represented on the basket ball floor this season by two teams, Regulars and Reserves. All strong clubs wishing games address L. B., 56, Freedom, Pa.

The Pennsylvania Lines Basket Ball team organized with the following players: Yeager of Manchester, Ebert of Fosters and Heuring of Fowlers, forwards; Donaldson of Chicago University, Stetler of Olympics, Forrest of Acorns and McGovern of Pittsburgh Lyceum, guards. Harry Yeager was elected captain and A. C. Ebert manager. Out-of-town teams such as Irwin, Jeanette, Butler, Freedom, Steubenville, Apollo, Altoona and East Liverpool are requested to communicate with the manager at 411 Union station, Pittsburgh.

Butler Wants a Basketball League.

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Basketball patrons in this city are anxious for the formation of a basketball league and are willing to do their share in organizing one. Leading local players and Abner C. O'Brien, who is spoken of as manager of the local team, have made arrangements with the Butler Street Railway company for the closing in and heating of the big dancing pavilion at Alamanda park in case a league is formed. The Butler players would like to have some Pittsburgh newspaper call a meeting at its office and representatives from this place promise to be on hand.

Heine Gives a House-Warming.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peltz gave a swell party at their home on Walnut Hills Saturday night, as a sort of house-warming for the winter, now that Heine is back home for the off-season. The local baseball colony was well represented, and there were dancing, refreshments and a general jolly good time, such as none know how to give better than the genial German backstop and his wife.

Strong Man of Canada Dead.

MONTREAL, QUE., Oct. 30.—Etienne Desmarieu, the famous athlete of the Montreal police force, died last night of typhoid fever. Desmarteau, who was only 29 years old, won the Olympic championship at St. Louis for throwing the 56-pound weight, and held the world's record for throwing the 56-pound weight for height.

AMONG THE BOXERS.

Young Bijou is requested to meet Tommy Trimble at this office this evening at 8 o'clock.

Eddie Lenny wants to box any 124 pounder in the business. He has been taking several weeks' rest and claims to be in good shape. Lenny wants to match Fred Lucas against Billy Burke or Sailor Burke.

CITY REFUSES TO ACT AS THE HOST

Bigelow Defeats $5,000 Appropriation for Convention of American Federation.

PREVENTS COUNCILS MEETING

The city of Pittsburgh will not entertain the American Federation of Labor, which holds its annual convention in this city in two weeks, despite the fact that Director Bigelow and other city officials positively promised that an appropriation of $5,000 should be made to provide for the expenses of the entertainment.

By the order of Director Bigelow quorums in both branches of the city councils were broken yesterday because it was the last regular meeting before the election. This was done to prevent the introduction of a bill for the appropriation of $5,000 for the Federation of Labor convention and also to prevent the appointment of a joint committee to represent the city in the entertainment of the several hundred labor delegates from all parts of the United States who will attend the convention.

It was the intention of the Federation of Labor to have a resolution adopted yesterday in councils, if a meeting had been held, for the appointment of a committee with authority to incur the necessary expenses of the entertainment of the labor representatives.

Promised $5,000 by City.

When a committee of the local labor bodies called upon Director Bigelow to request an appropriation for the convention, similar to the ones provided for the entertainment of the Filipinos and the rivers and harbors committee of congress, they were assured that the city would show its appreciation of the labor element in Allegheny county by making the appropriation.

They were promised that the administration would have the matter properly brought before councils at the next meeting. Director Bigelow had other uses for the $5,000, and he secretly laid his plans to frustrate the object of the labor people. Controller Larkin was also opposed to the appropriation.

Director Bigelow's lieutenants were busy yesterday carrying out his instructions to prevent a meeting. All members who could be reached by mail or telephone were notified to be absent from the city hall. Those who failed to get word were turned away from the city hall when they arrived yesterday afternoon. Sufficient members to make a quorum were in the building, but they were given the tip and faded away. Only 10 members of the upper branch answered the roll call in select council. With one or two exceptions they were Republicans.

Light Was Shut Off.

Marked preparations were made that no meeting of common council should be held last night. The electric light plant in the basement of the city hall was shut down, and the building was only dimly lighted with few gas jets. In the common council chamber objects could hardly be discerned. The elevator, which is always in operation at council meetings, was also stopped. Only nine members of the lower branch were present, all Republicans with the exception of President Ward.

The convention of the American Federation of Labor, which Director Bigelow and Controller Larkin refuses to recognize, will be in session in Pittsburgh for nearly a week. Samuel Gompers, president of the organization, has been invited to deliver an address before the chamber of commerce.

SCANDRETT IS TO FACE CHARGE OF COMPLICITY

Chief of the County Detectives Says Information Will Be Made Against Him.

An information, it is alleged, will be made against Director Thomas B. Scandrett of the Allegheny public safety department, who is charged by Samuel C. Wilkinson with complicity in fixing the jury in the second trial of Police Captain James Wilson. District Attorney Robert E. Stewart would not say anything about the prospective action against Scandrett, but conferred for a short time yesterday with Judge Macfarlane concerning the matter. Assistant District Attorney Robb was in the conference but none of them would say anything for publication.

Chief Robert G. Robinson of the county detective force is authority for the statement that action will be taken against Scandrett for his alleged part in tampering with the Wilson jury. Robinson would not say when proceedings would be started, but intimated nothing would be done until after the election next week.

Scandrett had a talk yesterday morning with Mayor Wyman, but the latter said the two were merely talking over general political matters. Scandrett adheres to his declaration that he never had any dealings with Wilkinson, and says he will be able to prove the assertion if it becomes necessary.

OBJECTORS SAY LINCOLN PARTY USES TELEPHONES

In Papers Filed in Dauphin Court It Is Claimed Vouchers Were Taken by Wire.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—Objections containing serious charges were filed to the amended nomination papers of the Lincoln party nominating Judge James N. Ermentrout, the Democratic nominee for judge in Berks county, today in the Dauphin county court, which has fixed Wednesday for a hearing.

The objections, which are signed by the officers of the Berks county Republican committee, charge that the papers are signed by certain men who have not lived in that county long enough to give them residence, and that certain signatures were vouched for by telephone and not by personal visits.

Objections were also filed by D. J. Driscoll of St. Marys, acting chairman of the Democratic state committee, to the nomination papers of Luther A. Hayes of Ridgway, the nominee of the Taxpayers Protective party of Elk county, for associate judge. The chief objections to the papers are that they contain only 67 signatures, when 77 are necessary to entitle the party to make nominations and that these signatures are not properly vouched for. This case will also be heard Wednesday.

Precaution With Aperients.

A medical journal in an article on aperient waters states that they have very properly come into general employment, but that the public should not overlook to ascertain whether these laxative waters have been bottled with the scientific care that should be accorded a medicinal agent. It quotes Prof. Liebreich of the University of Berlin as saying that one such water, the "Apenta," from springs near Budapest, affords this necessary guarantee, as it is bottled under eminent scientific supervision.

The Apollinaris Company of London controls the Apenta springs of Budapest. This London company also controls the immense output of the Apollinaris spring which is located at Neuenahr, in Germany, a beautiful spot, which attracts many tourists.

BIG HOUSE SALE IN THE EAST END

George N. Powell Sells Six Twentieth Ward Residences to H. Rosser for $63,000.

IMPORTANT WABASH LEASE

George N. Powell yesterday disposed of six first-class residences in the Twentieth ward for $63,000, making the largest deal for East End houses closed for a long time. The buyer is Henry Rosser of Allegheny, who takes the properties for an investment. Three of the houses face on the south side of Adler street, near Spahr street, and three on the south side of Walnut street, near Denniston avenue. The lots are 22x100 feet and the houses are six of a lot of 17 residences which Mr. Powell built in the two streets named, most of which have been completed only recently. All the houses are 10-room reception hall brick dwellings, with hardwood finish and tile bath rooms. They are rented for $60 a month each and being new houses are considered a very good investment. This deal closes out six of the seven Adler street houses and four of the Walnut street dwellings, evidencing the popularity of the district with the better class of investors. Mr. Powell, who has confined his operations to the Twentieth ward, is now arranging to build 10 more houses of the same kind this fall in that ward which will sell for at least $10,000 each.

Reno School Gets Wabash Rooms.

Through the office of Avey & Irish the Reno Shorthand school leased the eighth floor of the Wabash station and office building for a term of three years. The rate is $4,000 a year. By the deal the school gets a space of over 4,000 square feet, or the equivalent to the room that 10 good-sized offices would occupy. It comprises the whole Liberty avenue frontage and gives the school the best light and ventilation. This floor of the building was never entirely finished and the rooms will be arranged now to suit the needs of the school, which has been located for some time at 539 Wood street. The lease dates from next April and the rate is considered remarkably low for the accommodations secured, as it is only $1 a square foot or very much less than the prices charged for office space in the Diamond National building or Fourth avenue Keystone scrapers, and even less than is received for rooms in the Ferguson block. In view of the location a much higher price was looked for by most brokers.

Prosperous Realty Concern.

The Realty Corporation of Pittsburgh, which was organized two years ago, has just secured the last subscription to the increase of $100,000 in its capital stock which was voted a few weeks ago. This makes the total capital $200,000, and every dollar of the last issue was taken by old stockholders of the company, among whom are included some of the most prominent younger business men in the city—21 in all. The company was formed to buy and sell property on its own account and has never done a brokerage business. It now owns 11 pieces of real estate, the total of which is about $225,000. Its last two large purchases were of the Montgomery block in Wilkinsburg, for which it paid about $35,000, and the Hopkins property in Penn avenue, East End, which cost $25,000. The company has paid 4 per cent dividends since its formation and has invested the rapidly accumulating surplus in property. William D. George is president of the corporation, Daniel H. Wallace is vice president, Charles F. Clubb is treasurer and F. S. Guthrie is secretary.

Fine Residence for Dahlia Street.

Architect Nirdlinger & Simpson have awarded the contract to William O. Wright for a unique and costly residence for G. Cooke Kimball, assistant engineer of the American Sheet & Tin Plate company. The house will be built on Dahlia street, near St. James, and will cost $25,000. It will be of the English style, the first story to be of stone and the second of half timber construction. Stone porticoes and stone terraces will also be provided.

Architect Thomas W. Boyd & Co., who took bids a few weeks ago on the Masonic temple to be built at New Brighton, are revising the plans and will be ready for new bids shortly.

Architects E. J. Carlisle & Co. have closed bids on a four-story business block for Katz & Goldsmith of Braddock.

Maynard & Flinn have the specifications for the construction of the plant of the Warren Brewing Company at Warren, Pa., which will cost over $200,000.

The W. E. Thimble & Sons' Company of Allegheny have received the contract for the erection of the new passenger station on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad at Economy. The station will be at the lower end of the old town, near French Point, and will be reached by a winding drive from Marchant street, the main street of Economy and Ambridge.

An Erroneous Report.

John J. McKenna of the John J. McKenna Company, who is one of the heirs who owned the property at 1226-1227 Liberty avenue directly opposite the Union station, reports that the sale of this property to Jacob Tannebaum for $62,500 was made direct and not through the Aronson Realty company, as published in the Gazette Sunday. The property, he says, is known as the McKenna holdings, and is at 1225-1227 Liberty avenue instead of being the Rolfe heirs' property at 1227-1229 as first reported.

The Aronson Realty company reports the sale for J. J. Ricketts of Pasadena, Cal., to S. Jacobs, a well known merchant, of three brick houses at Locust and Marion streets, Sixth ward, for $15,500. The lot measures 24x105 feet and two of the houses are six room dwellings, the other being an eight-room store and house.

L. D. Statler has sold to W. F. Buchanan lot No. 55 in the Mt. Lebanon plan for $950; to Mrs. John Westerbeck lot No. 56 in the same plan for $950; to R. D. Hamilton lot No. 25 for $625; for Annie A. Given to William S. Worcester lot No. 86 for $900. Dr. Lake is just finishing a $5,000 residence at Lebanon and Academy avenues. J. Holzer of Allegheny has under way a similar house in Academy, and J. J. McHigh has finished a $4,000 house in the same street. Calvin S. Boyd has started a ten-room reception hall, frame house, in Academy avenue and two more houses to cost $5,000; each have just been started at the lower end of Academy avenue.

Summit park: Keck, Helle & Daschbach sold for the Summit Park Land Company to Joseph M. Jones 100x200 feet at Center street and Liberty road, Summit park, for $855.

Bigham: James M. Gray sold to Ella Waggoner 50x100 feet on the east side of Bingham street, Thirty-second ward, for $5,000.

Liberty avenue: George B. Wilson sold to Patrick McKenna an improved lot, 20x100 feet, in Liberty avenue near Fortieth street, Sixteenth ward, for $4,050.

Miller street: James H. Sauce sold to Israel Parker an improved lot, 20x100 feet in Miller street near Reed street, Eleventh ward, for $2,700.

Five building permits amounting to $13,700, were issued in Allegheny yesterday. The following were granted: To Mrs. E. Bader for a two-story frame dwelling on Hazel street, to cost $2,700; to R. M. Wallace for a two-story frame dwelling at 2040 Perrysville avenue, to cost $3,700; to Silas Brown, for a two-story brick addition to a dwelling, to cost $1,000; to Elliott & Co., for a two-story brick warehouse on Unity alley, to cost $2,500; to Sophia Litter for a two-story brick veneer dwelling on California avenue, near the Country club, to cost $5,500.

HEARS APPEALS IN MURDER CASES

SUSTAINS NEW EQUITY ACT

The supreme court yesterday heard arguments in three cases in which men were convicted of murder in the first degree and then appealed. The court refused to interfere in the case of Lewis O. Hine; all the arguments have not been heard in the other two cases. Hine shot and killed his wife in Woodside park, Philadelphia, where she had a side show. The shooting was the result of jealousy. Hine applied for a new trial on the ground of after-discovered evidence tending to show that he was under the influence of liquor for several days before the shooting, and did not know what he was doing. His petition was refused and he appealed to the supreme court. In dismissing this appeal the court says:

"The single assignment of error is that the court below abused its discretion in refusing a new trial. There is nothing in the case that justifies such a charge or that even requires discussion." The order reads: "Judgment affirmed and record submitted that sentence may be executed according to law."

One of the appeals argued is that of Frank Johnson, from Lawrence county. Johnson in January, 1902, married Catherine Genkinger, a widow with five children. She owned a house in New Castle, where the family lived until January, 14, 1905. Herman Genkinger, one of the sons of Johnson's wife, was 21 years of age, and Fritz, another son, was 15. On the date mentioned Herman ordered his stepfather to leave the house. Johnson refused to go. There was a fight and Herman was killed. Johnson put in a plea of self-defense, but was convicted of murder in the first degree.

In the appeal it is claimed that the jury was improperly drawn, that Mrs. Johnson indirectly testified against her husband by procuring and furnishing evidence against him, and that the court erred in the charge relating to the law of self-defense.

Object to the "Sweating" Process.

The other case is the appeal of Charles Johnson from Bradford county. Bigler Johnson, a brother of the appellant, was married to a woman with whom he did not live. On September 18, 1904, the house in which she lived was burned down. A niece, Annie Benjamin, was staying with Mrs. Johnson and neither of them was ever seen again, but bones were discovered in the ruins and identified as probably human remains. Bigler Johnson was arrested first and subsequently his mother, his brothers, his sister Nancy, and brother, Alanson, were taken into custody. Bigler Johnson was convicted and executed, and Charles is under sentence of death. The rest of the family was discharged. In the appeal considerable stress is laid on charges that all the members of the Johnson family were "sweated" and that, being ignorant and illiterate, the prosecution took advantage of them.

The act authorizing judges of the Orphans court to sit in common pleas courts in equity cases was sustained by the supreme court yesterday, but by a very close margin. Chief Justice Mitchell wrote the opinion, Justices Fell, Potter and Elkin concurring. Justice Brown in filing opinion wrote that he dissented, which indicates Mestrezat and Stewart concur. It was a case of four to three.

The question came up in the case of James W. Morgen against Mary Olive Reel and others: The chief justice in his opinion says the important public question in the case is the constitutionality of the act authorizing judges of separate orphans court to sit in equity proceedings at the request of judges of common pleas. He quotes the act and says that a number of the sections in the judiciary article of the constitution are referred to as being contravened by this act. Such as refer to the orphans court may be dismissed without detailed notice. Notwithstanding the phraseology of the title and first section, the act has no bearing on the court itself. There not has no bearing on the court itself. There not has no bearing on the court itself. There not

BETTER TONE TO STOCKS AT HOME AND ABROAD

The Market Rallied in the Face of Higher Rates for Call Loans and Closed at the Best—Local Securities Were Extremely Dull.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There was a better tone to the stock markets at home and abroad yesterday, and although trading was dull, closing prices in Wall street were at the highest. The improvement in sentiment was based upon the absence of any additional unfavorable developments in Russia over Sunday, or rather the news was not worse than expected. The slight recovery in English consols and the rally of 1¼ per cent in Russian bonds in Paris were interpreted as indicating a less critical state of affairs in Russia, and the fact that London was a small buyer of American securities strengthened this view of the situation.

At the opening there were moderate advances throughout the list. A rather sharp reaction followed during the morning session, induced by the higher rates for call loans. The latter opened at 4 per cent, immediately advanced to 5 per cent and ultimately reached 5½ per cent. At the close the quotations were 4¾ per cent bid, 5 per cent asked, and the final loan was made at 5 per cent. It was reported that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. called in about $10,000,000 loans during the day. Inasmuch as this firm is the managers of the American syndicate which underwrote the Japanese loan, it was inferred that the calling in of loans yesterday meant that the Japanese government had called upon its agents in this country to remit the proceeds of the bond sale. If such were the case it would increase the probability of gold exports this week. The higher rates for money, however, had the effect of depressing rates for sterling exchange, and at the close of the day no gold had been engaged for export, and none is likely to be shipped with sterling at the present level. The National City bank and J. P. Morgan & Co. were free lenders of money at 5 per cent, but there was practically no money to be obtained under that rate. In some quarters predictions were made that call loan rates would rule still higher before the end of the week.

One of the strongest stocks in the market was American Smelting common, which advanced to 136⅞, the final sale, and the highest price ever quoted. There was no news accompanying the rise, but the pool working in the stock talk confidently of a still further advance. Copper held very steady and closed at a net advance of ⅝ per cent.

A feature of the iron and steel issues was the sharp advance which occurred late in the day in Tennessee Coal & Iron, the stock advancing 3 per cent to 89¾ in the final dealings. American Locomotive common also made a strong rally and closed 1½ per cent higher than on Saturday. Pressed Steel Car closed ⅝ higher. United States Steel common declined to ⅜, but recovered to 37⅝, while the preferred ranged between 104 and 104¾, closing with a net gain of ¼ per cent. The quarterly report of the corporation will be made public this afternoon. As heretofore stated the estimates of net earnings range all the way from $32,000,000 to $35,000,000, and it is expected that the statement of unfilled orders on the books of the company will show the largest tonnage in its history.

Rock Island was one of the weakest of the railroads and declined to 28¾, recovering to 29⅜ at the close. The stock has been declining ever since the appearance of the annual report, and the preferred stock has dropped to within 1½ per cent of the low level of the year. A movement of this kind becomes all the more conspicuous in a market that is registering new high average prices every week.

Reading was one of the strongest of the railroad list, advancing to and closing at 125⅝. The other hard coalers were steady to firm, but the net gains were confined to small fractions. The Harriman stocks were moderately active and closed firm with the remainder of the market. St. Paul closed 1½ higher than on Saturday. The fractions, after ruling quite weak during the early part of the session, recovered the loss and closed unchanged for the day.

The local stock market was again extremely dull and the business poorly distributed. Pittsburgh Brewing common was the most active of the regular list, but it fluctuated within narrow limits and closed ½ lower. The preferred stock closed unchanged at 48. Independent Brewing issues were unchanged at 15 for the common and 41 for the preferred. Crucible Steel common lost ¼ per cent on sales of 200 shares. Only 20 shares of the preferred changed hands at 67. The total business in National Fire Proofing consisted of 5 shares preferred at 21½. Pittsburgh Coal common declined to 15⅝ and the preferred at 55¾. River Coal preferred closed ½ lower at 24. Dealings in the Westinghouse stocks consisted of 20 shares Air Brake at 150, and 10 shares Electric at 84¼. Luster Mining was weak, declining to and closing at 33½. Bonds were dull and unchanged, and there were no transactions in any of the bank or trust company stocks.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The money question was again brought prominently to the fore in Wall street yesterday, and had more to do with the fluctuations in prices than the news from abroad, although the latter had its influence. The flurry in call money was due to the calling of loans by the bankers having in charge the recent Japanese loan flotation. It is understood that November 1 is the day for turning over the proceeds of that loan to the custody of the Japanese fiscal agent and that the calling of loans was in preparation for that operation. There are other large requirements to be met for the November settlement, preparation for which also was responsible no doubt for the disturbance in the day's money market. Following the transfer to Chicago on Saturday through the sub-treasury of $500,000, an equal amount went to the same destination yesterday and reports were current that the demand from this source within the next few days will call for further large sums. St. Louis also took $200,000 yesterday. The sub-treasury operations are yielding nothing to the money market, owing to the decline in the tide of pension payments. A loss to that institution by the banks since the last bank statement is already indicated of $1,184,000. The price of gold was marked up in London and sterling exchange fell in Berlin and remained stationary in Paris at the low price of Saturday. The Bank of England, however, was able to secure some large sums of gold arriving in London.

Of 18 securities dealt in on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday nine closed fractionally lower and nine closed unchanged from the last previous sale. The largest dealings were in Marsden, 800 shares changing hands. The smallest sale was 5 shares National Fire Proofing preferred, which sold unchanged at 21½. The narrowness of the market is thoroughly tiring the patience of brokers and their clients.

Unlisted mining stocks were quite weak in the local curb market yesterday, and on the exchange Luster broke to 33⅛, despite the very glowing reports of the property brought back by Pittsburghers who have recently visited Mexico.

Directors of the Braddock National bank will apply for a trust company charter, the new institution to be known as the Bessemer Trust Company. The incorporators will be Colby G. Morey, president of the Braddock National bank; James B. Corey and Charles A. Anderson.

The National Carbon directors have declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable November 15.

The Prolific Oil and Gas Company, a local corporation with an authorized capital of $125,000, yesterday paid a quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent.

Almost exactly one-fourth of the total transactions in bonds on the New York exchange yesterday consisted of Japanese issues, the sales of which reached $500,000, par value.

Predictions of 150 for Smelting common were made in Wall street yesterday.

New York Air Brake closed 1¼ per cent higher at 161. Westinghouse Air Brake closed unchanged at 150.

Standard Oil closed at 698 bid yesterday. In the first week of May, 1901, the stock sold at 842, and in the panic of May 9, dropped to 635, but later rallied to 775. Dividends in 1901 amounted to $48,000,000 or nearly 50 per cent on the capital stock of $100,000,000. The recent activity is due to a heavy increase in business resulting from the destruction of the petroleum wells in Russia, which have cut off Europe's largest source of oil supply. The appreciation in Standard Oil stock within the last four months amounts to more than $90,000,000.

It is reported that the Bank of France has declined to pay interest on gold in transit. Rates of exchange at present show no profit in gold exports without the payment of interest by the Bank of France on the gold in transit.

Wall street had a story that Rock Island interests are short of market and are depressing this stock to affect general market.

With reference to the impending Japanese loan conversion scheme it is said in London financial circles that the scope of the offers to the bondholders has not been definitely settled. It has, however, been decided to propose terms of repayment or of exchange into new 4 per cent bonds, both to the holders of the two 6 per cent external loans aggregating £25,600,000, floated in 1904, and to the holders of the two 6 per cent internal exchequer bonds series, totaling 200,000,000 yen. ($100,000,000.) issued in the first half of the present year. Little doubt exists that the conditions of the conversion offer will prove acceptable to the great majority of bondholders.

A report that Swift & Company has purchased control of American Hide and Leather was not credited in well-informed circles. Ultimate amalgamation with the Central Leather Company, however, is deemed probable.

Imports of iron and steel in September amounted to $2,164,127, against $1,938,037 in September last year. For the nine months ending September the total imports amounted to $18,566,756, against $16,698,566 last year and $24,652,254 in 1903.

The exports of iron and steel in September amounted to $12,126,875, against $11,126,815 in September, 1904. For the nine months ending September the exports were $102,904,857, against $92,551,947 in 1904 and $75,714,386 in 1903. The exports of steel rails in September amounted to 29,180 tons, valued at $729,474, against 62,425 tons, valued at $1,893,886, in September, 1904.

United States Steel stocks yesterday did not discount the quarterly report due this afternoon. Sales of the common were only 46,000 shares and of the preferred 14,000 shares. The fluctuations were unusually narrow.

HIGH GRADE EGGS TOO SCARCE FOR DEMAND

Expected Rise in Butter Does Not Materialize and Prices Remain Unchanged.

There is a strong demand for high-grade eggs and there is hardly enough for urgent needs. The expected rise in butter did not occur yesterday and the prices are the same as last week. There is still a strong market for good creamery butter and the receipts are small.

The market for Irish potatoes continues firm. Sweet potatoes are selling fairly well at steady prices.

The vegetable market remained practically unchanged with a fair demand for almost everything.

The sale on mixed nuts and small baskets of fruit was good yesterday. This was perhaps caused by the numerous parties to be held in celebration of Hallowe'en.

The flour market is remaining steady with small receipts. A raise in the price is looked for, as wheat is slowly going up, caused by the Russian situation.

The provision market is dull and featureless. Prices remain about the same, with a slight advance on hams.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 33 cars hay, 9 cars corn, 41 cars oats, 3 cars feed, 3 cars rye; Baltimore & Ohio, 3 cars hay, 3 cars corn, 20 cars oats; Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 30 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 2 cars rye, one car feed.

Market continues strong and active. The two days' receipts in yesterday were readily picked up. This trade is becoming convinced of the fact that corn and oats are selling here cheaper than in the east and the western markets are bidding more that what selling prices are here. As long as this condition exists there is no fear of a decline. Hay, straw and feed are steady.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Furnace No. 4 of the Calumet and Arizona has been working a week now, and is up to 300 tons of raw ore daily. It is running out about 20 tons of blister copper daily. Its ore is about 200 tons Lake Superior mine, and the rest from the Duluth, and the two mines are able to exceed this tonnage.

The Copper Queen mine is now shipping 50 per cent more ore than 60 days ago, and should make the coming month not less than 3,000,000 pounds of blister copper, perhaps more. As the Calumet group will be making above 3,000,000 pounds for the month, the Bisbee production will exceed all previous estimates.

A steel gallows frame is building at the Colo shaft of the Lake Superior mine, and while this work is in progress all ore from the Duluth mine is hoisted out of the Congdon shaft, which has been reopened for the purpose. Drifts working in the 1,250-foot level of the Pittsburgh mine are in high-grade ore, and have been so for a week or more.

Calumet and Arizona is increasing its copper production from the two smelters in use, and is now making as high as 120,000 pounds a day. This is of blister copper, about 99 per cent fine, carrying some gold and silver values. The south part of the mine, where most of the present development is going on, is finding much rich ore and several new crosscuts are reported all in ore.

The Copper Buttes Mining Company, which owns a large group of claims in the Kelvin district, east of Phoenix, Ariz., has given an option on them to a Minnesota party headed by Martin Pattison of Duluth. The optionholders will explore the property quite thoroughly at once. This property has been examined by various parties from the northwest. Its stock is held in Phoenix and in Minneapolis, Minn., and there are 8,000,000 of it. This price at which it is under option does not exceed $800,000.

The new test plant for the Keystone Copper Company near Globe, Ariz., is to be in operation in January. This plant is merely to prove that the process undertaken by the company at the suggestion of expert metallurgists is feasible and adapted to its ores. The method is a combination of chlorination and electrical deposition from electrodes. There are several thousand tons of ore in the dumps, and no mining will be required till the system has been proved and a working plant of at least 70 tons daily capacity shall be erected and in operation.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The London tin market was firm and higher with spot closing at £149 10s, and futures at £148 12s 6d. Locally the market was firm, with spot quoted at 32 77½@33.25.

Copper was somewhat irregular abroad, closing at £71 7s 6d for spot and £70 7s 6d for futures. Locally the market was quiet and unchanged. Lake is quoted at 15 37½@16 75; electrolytic at $16 25@16 62½, and casting at $15 90@16 37½.

Lead was higher at £15 in the London market. Locally the situation continues unsettled, but spot quotations are firmly held at $5 00@5 40, while supplies to arrive are subject to market quotations at date of invoice.

Spelter was easier at £28 7s 6d in London, but remained quiet at 5 15@5 25 in the local market.

Iron was easier in the English markets with standard foundry quoted at 48s, and Cleveland warrants 52s 7½d. Locally the market for foundry iron continues firm. No. 1 foundry northern and southern are quoted at $18 25@18 50; No. 2 foundry northern and southern at $17 75@18 00.

Wants News of Her Son.

Mayor Hays received a letter yesterday from Mrs. Catherine Allan of 1079 East Twenty-second street, Paterson, N. J., asking him to make inquiry here for her son, whose name is James Allan. The writer is 74 years old and says her son, who is 39 years old, left home last May and went to Greensburg, where he was employed as an inspector in an iron mill. He wrote her later saying he did not like the place and meant to go to Pittsburgh about July 1. Since then she has not heard from him.

GRAIN MARKET HOLDS FIRM ON FOREIGN TALK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—The Russian crisis buoyed up prices today in the wheat market here, although a temporary sinking spell early on profit-taking followed a sharp break at Liverpool. Closing prices for May were up a shade compared with final figures of Saturday. The December option shows a gain of ¼c. Corn is up ½c. Oats and provisions practically unchanged.

The wheat market opened weak on heavy profit-taking and on liberal short selling by commission houses. May was off ⅝ to ¾ at 81 to 81¼c. December was down ½ to ¾ at 83½ to 83¾c. At the start the market was influenced by a decline of 1@1½c in the price of wheat at Liverpool.

Another factor that had some effect was wet weather in the American southwest, where rains were greatly needed to germinate the fall sown crop. Shorts took advantage of the initial weakness and covered freely, forcing the price of May up to 81¾ and December to 80¾c. Further profit-taking resulted in another reaction, but prices held above the lowest point touched on opening transactions. It was soon evident that several bull leaders were supporting the market and picking up all offerings. This eventually started renewed covering by shorts and resulted in a complete recovery of the earlier loss. A cablegram from Odessa stated that there was a possibility of shipments from that port being stopped tomorrow. As a result the market during the last half of the session continued strong. For May the highest point of the day was reached at 82c, December advanced to 80¾c. The market closed steady with May at 81¾@81¾c. Final quotations on December were 80¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 362,000 bushels. The amount on passage increased 1,704,000 bushels, and the visible supply increased 1,166,000. World's shipments of last week were reported as 15,128,000 bushels, compared with 10,856,000 bushels the corresponding week last year. The Russian and Danubian share of this total was 5,776,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,969,000 bushels compared with 1,525,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 1,127 cars against 1,398 cars last week and 1,330 cars a year ago.

The corn market was influenced largely by the situation in the wheat pit. Commission houses were sellers early, but later became active buyers. Shorts covered freely late in the session. Local receipts were considerably in excess of the amount estimated. This had a bearish effect at first start. The market closed strong with prices at the highest point of the day. December opened ¼ to ⅜c lower at 45½ to 45¾c, and sold between 45⅜ and 46c and closed at 46c. Local receipts were 39 cars, with 34 of contract grade.

Heavy liquidation caused weakness in the oats market early in the session. Later the market responded to the strength of wheat, a steady to firm tone being manifested. There was no particular change in the general situation, shipping and export demand being still urgent. December opened ¼@⅜ to ⅝c lower at 30½ to 30¾@30¾c, advanced to 30⅝ and closed at 30½c. Local receipts were 400 cars. Sales were firm on an excellent shipping demand for lard. The rapidly decreasing stocks of lard formed the basis of the demand for the product. At the close January pork was unchanged at $12 45. Lard and ribs were each up a shade at $6 85 and $6 52½ respectively. Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 247 cars; corn, 287 cars; oats, 441 cars; hogs, 24,000 head.

RAILROAD WORK BEING DELAYED

CAR CONDITIONS WORSE

Important railroad construction, as well as other building work in the Pittsburgh district, is being held up on account of lack of material. Because Pittsburgh abounds in mills for the manufacture of this material, it would seem that this district should be the last to suffer in that way. Information was secured from two local railroad officers of different lines, however, that goes to the point of the matter. Aside from the structural material for bridges and buildings, there has also been a scarcity of rails, frogs and switches.

"We have never known such a period as the present," said one engineer, "It is absolutely impossible, it seems, for us to complete any small piece of railroad work in harmony. There is always something lacking somewhere. For the past few months we have had trouble getting structural material and frogs and switches. The latter is in better shape just now, but the matter of structural material is a stickler. We must give plenty of leeway when beginning a job where such stuff is needed."

The other railroad engineer gave something of the same experience. In one instance the inspectors have found defective material, but this was not in the bridge iron or steel. It said that this circumstance was doubtless to an overworked factory and the inabil cope with the situation. Most of the is in a condition that the inspectors c a flaw, and the railroad people say most marvelous when one consi mence amount of manufacture has to be turned out to me mands upon the mills.

Car Situation [illegible]

Unless conditions a couple of weeks, Pittsburg he worst car famine in its h railroads are complaining rs to handle the business off been so complaining for s The traffic representatives s' end when they book a big ir roads, and the operating best to have the cars on hand with the best results er required. The situation be late last week and it was said even a temporary relief had been by Sunday's return of cars with noth- going from the mills. The roads are going each other for using cars not belonging to them, but this is said not to be such a large matter as in past years when the per diem charges were less. As noted in The Gazette several days ago, it is the taking of Pittsburgh district cars, particularly cars loaded with coal, to far-away points. The journey requires considerable time and if the road on which the cars are run does not get them back in a hurry there is another delay.

It is not a question of operations on the local roads, there need be no fear of a congestion of freight traffic here like that of 1903, for the roads are prepared amply from terminal and operating standpoints to cope with probably double the present traffic without experiencing any difficulty. The shortage extends to all roads. An officer of the Bessemer & Lake Erie said yesterday that the car shortage has become a problem for even the local business. When the freight is once loaded, there is no delay of the railroads in delivering it at the earliest possible moment, for the cars that take that shipment are wanted at once for half a dozen other shipments.

Northwest System Time Card Meeting.

The official meeting on the fall time card of the Northwest system of the Pennsylvania lines west, which will become effective all over the Pennsylvania on November 26, was held at the Union station. Nothing of the action taken was made public, aside from the announcement that there will be no change in the running time of the Pennsylvania special or any of the limited trains. The subject of increased service to Cleveland from Pittsburgh and New Castle was discussed, but official action will not be taken until later. It is probable that the time card meeting for the Southwest system will be held in a week or two, but the schedules may be worked out otherwise. Charles Watts, general superintendent of passenger transportation, presided at yesterday's meeting. Among others present were General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer, Passenger Traffic Manager W. W. Atterbury, General Passenger Agent Samuel Moody, Chief Assistant General Passenger Agent Frank Van Dusen and all of the superintendents and division operators and some of the trainmasters of the Northwest system.

The official time card meeting of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad will be held at Baltimore tomorrow. General Superintendent Robert Pitney, Superintendent P. W. Duer and Assistant Passenger Agent J. P. Taggart will attend from Pittsburgh.

Taking Precautions.

The Pennsylvania has just taken further safety precautions in its passenger train operations by giving notice to the passenger train crews about the proper care of vestibuled equipment. As rapidly as possible the company is replacing all of its open platform cars on the lines east and west with vestibuled platform cars. The new orders refer directly to caring for the safety of passengers on the vestibuled trains. The side and trap doors of the platforms are to be opened only on the side of the station platform when the train stops, and the crews are instructed not to allow the car platform doors to be open on any other occasion. In the terminals the vestibule doors opposite the trainshed platform are to be closed always 20 minutes before the time of the train's departure. This is to avoid the trouble experienced by passengers endeavoring to cross the tracks from one station platform to another and thus risk stepping before an outgoing or incoming train. The orders extend to the Pullman equipment used in the trains.

Complete B. & O. Inspection.

The annual bridge and structure inspection of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio was completed yesterday forenoon, and Assistant Engineer W. M. Graham and his party of engineers proceeded from New Castle on the inspection of the New Castle division. Division Engineer L. P. Rossiter of the local division returned yesterday afternoon. He said that considerable new work will be done on the division if the recommendations are approved. The trip over the New Castle division will end Thursday, after which Mr. Graham will proceed over the Wheeling system and Chicago division, intending to complete the inspection of the entire system by December 3. All of the lines have been inspected as far west as Grafton and New Castle.

New Rolling Stock for the Erie.

On November 1 the American Locomotive Company will deliver to the Erie railroad 16 new passenger engines of what is known as the 2510 type, the largest locomotives ever built exclusively for passenger service. This will complete the delivery of the 159 locomotives ordered for the Erie for the present year. With the other rolling stock, box cars, refrigerator cars, gondolas and other equipment that was absolutely imperative for delivery before winter sets in, the Erie will have expended $15,000,000 for locomotives and rolling stock, orders for which were placed within the past 12 months. This will give the road a better working equipment than it has ever had in its existence.

Orders have just been placed with the Pressed Steel Car Company and the Standard Steel Car Company for 2,200 self-cleaning hopper gondolas to care for the steadily increasing coal traffic. Delivery of these cars will begin in January or February next.

Railroad Notes.

A. L. Rice, Pennsylvania train dispatcher at the Union station, is on the sick list.

Conductor C. S. Mantooth of the Panhandle is again on duty after a brief illness.

Walter S. Newhall of Cleveland, former chief engineer of the Wabash, was circulating among the local railroad officers.

Vice President B. A. Worthington and other Wabash officers went to Cleveland to inspect the docks of the company.

The Pennsylvania will place a couple of miles of new second track in service on the Sewickley branch this week.

E. H. Turner, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, is in the west attending the funeral of a relative.

J. H. Wray, former agent at Riboll, has been appointed agent for the Baltimore & Ohio at McCrays, in place of A. L. Emert, resigned.

W. H. Moore, one of the principal owners of the Rock Island road, passed eastward through Pittsburgh in a special train, himself and party occupying two private Rock Island cars.

W. V. Blackstone, clerk in the office of Superintendent Duer of the Baltimore & Ohio, returned from an eastern honeymoon trip and took his bride to the new home that he had provided in Allegheny.

The annual election of members to the advisory committee of the relief fund of the Pennsylvania railroad will be held November 27. Members are to be elected this year to serve three years from the Philadelphia & Erie railroad division, the Buffalo & Allegheny Valley division and the Northern Central railway.

Textile Strike Is Averted.

FALL RIVER, MASS., Oct. 30.—At the conclusion of a conference between the manufacturers' association and the textile council here today, it was announced a compromise agreement on the wage issue had been reached, and that a threatened strike of 20,000 or more operatives would undoubtedly be averted.

THE first large church wedding of the season took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Trinity Protestant Episcopal church in Sixth avenue was filled with representative residents of the two cities to witness the ceremony making Miss Gladys Lonsdale Painter the wife of George Washington Nicola. Prior to the ceremony the church organist gave a delightful musical program, including Schubert's serenade, the "Tannhauser" march, a gavotte by the talented Frederic Archer, the overture to "Martha," a selection from "Mignon," overture, "Wilhelm King Hal," and concluding with the march from "Ada," to which the bridal party entered.

The ushers, Edward P. Mellon, Hay Wa Wilfred DuPuy, J. Julson Brooks, P O'Connor Jones and George S. Oliver, the way, were followed by the bri Miss Mary Louise Ferin of Balti Rebecca Anderson of Cincinnati, M Hawkins, Miss Marian Leffingw land, Miss Martha Heron and M Knight. Next in the proc the maid of honor, Miss Edith who immediately preceded the on the arm of her father, by gave her away. The men met at the altar by the bride best man, Oliver P. Nicola, w ace of Austin Nicola, who the officiating clergyman, Dr. Alfred W. Arundel.

lace bertha. The gown was cut en princesse with a train to the end of which fell a long tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms. The only jewels worn were a diamond pin at the throat, a diamond and topaz pendant, and Mr. Nicola's gift, a ring set with three large diamonds. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley on chiffon. A departure from the usual routine was made in the selection of the bouquets carried by the maids. Miss Hay's was of the tiny red Bon Selene roses and fancy ferns tied with maline embroidered in a medallion pattern. Great clusters of pink roses were carried by the six bridesmaids, long bows of tulle ribbon falling from the stems of the flowers. The directoire mode was followed in their gowns, the long-skirted coats being fashioned of taffeta silk in a delicate shade of pink. The skirts were of lace caught up at intervals around the bottom by bows of narrow pink ribbons. The sleeves, coming scarcely to the elbow, were made in three puffs, each puff being divided from the other by a narrow band of bows of pink ribbon. A lace yoke fell in bertha effect over the top of the coats, cut into the directoire point in the front. The hats, matching in shade the pink silk, were trimmed with two ostrich tips of the same color at the right side of the crown, while from the underbrim on the left were drawn the long pink bows which fastened under the chin. A single rose of silver tissue, nestled among the clouds of tulle at the side of the underbrim, Miss Hay's gown was cut on very little different lines, but one difference was made in the material, her coat being of taffeta figured in pink roses.

It was a scene of exceptional beauty that the chancel of the fine old church presented during the ceremony. As a background there was the white marble altar adorned only by a cluster of white baby chrysanthemums on each side. From the midst of large pink blooms twinkled the lights of the candles; around the sides of the chancel were gracefully drooping palms, while at the foot of the steps stood high wicker standards of the same pink flowers. These, tied with bows of broad pink satin ribbons, also marked the pews. Smilax draped all the lights and the windows were banked with ferns, garden chrysanthemums and tropical plants.

Following the church ceremony the Painter home in Ridge avenue was filled by the reception guests. The drawing-room, a notably handsome apartment done in gold and white, was made more handsome by great quantities of feathery asparagus plumosa which was used to the exclusion of any other vine. It draped the white pilars at the side of the mantel; it was festooned over the doors and window curtains and was also draped below the mantel shelf and above the mantel mirror. A huge vase of white chrysanthemums completed the decorative scheme in this room. The mahogany finished library adjoining was brightened by a jar of pink chrysanthemums. A pleasant contrast to the oak finishings of the hall was the touch of American Beauty roses used there and the smilax which trailed over the banisters and railings. The bridal table was laid with covers for 18, in the dining-room, and had a centerpiece of pink chrysanthemums. Smaller tables, with centers of pink roses, were placed on the basement floor and here the guests were served.

The magnificent gifts received by the bride occupied two white draped rooms on the third floor of the Painter home. At either side of the bay window were handsome rugs, gifts from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nicola. An exquisite set of flat silver was the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Painter; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Darlington gave silver dishes, and the silver table also held candelabras and a beautiful tea service, gold lined, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver P. Nicola. There were lamps, electroliers, pictures, jewels, jewel cases, a full set of rock crystal, silver platters, dainty vases and numerous other things. Mrs. J. C. Hazen, principal of Pelham Manor, from which Miss Painter was graduated, sent a framed document concerning the change in George Washington's name, this being in compliment to the bridegroom, who bears the same name. The out-of-town guests, in addition to those in the bridal party, were Mrs. Nelson Ferin of Baltimore and the Nicola families of Cleveland. Mr. Nicola and his bride expect to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse next week to spend some time in European travel before being at home in Sewickley.

Among the guests at the church were Mrs. Thomas McK. Cook, who wore a toilette of lavender chiffon and a plumed hat; Mrs. William P. Snyder, in a long black coat over white lace; Mrs. W. N. Kerr, who was in black velvet with a white hat; Mrs. Haines Allen Macheseney, in an entire suit of white with a white ostrich boa; Miss Jenny A. Bradley, in a dark green coat suit and small black hat; Miss Marguerite Singer, in a handsome embroidered coat of white over white gown with purple hat, Miss Susan Shields Williams, in white lace and small white lace hat trimmed with pink roses; Miss Kate C. MacKnight, in a black velvet coat over white silk; Mrs. Henry Lafayette Collins, in a complete toilette of old rose cloth; Mrs. Alexander Laughlin, Jr., entirely in black; Mrs. William McBride, in an exquisite gown of pink chiffon and lace insertion; Mrs. Elizabeth M. Horne, in white chiffon and liberty silk with a white hat and plumes; Mrs. John Brown Heron, in white lace and crepe de chine and a lace hat; Mrs. J. M. Schoonmaker, in a plum colored coat suit; Miss Anica Rumbird, in a toilette of pale blue chiffon and taffeta with a chic French hat and white furs; Miss Marian Wedding Anniversary Celebrated.

Miss Laura White, Mrs. Harry E. Wilson, Mrs. I. T. Whitaker, Mrs. M. Murphy and Mrs. Albert Opperman won the prizes at Mrs. John Richard Russell's euchre yesterday afternoon. The affair was conducted at the home of the hostess in North St. Clair street in celebration of the 15th anniversary of her wedding, prior to which she was Miss Mary St. Kennedy of Baltimore. The card party yesterday afternoon was followed by a similar affair of 12 tables in the evening at which Mr. Russell and John K. Russell, son of the host and hostess, received with his parents. The assistants, who were entertained at dinner, were Mrs. Harry E. Wilson, Mrs. P. J. McNulty, Mrs. Clarence M. Greene, Mrs. Charles Myers, Mrs. Harry Lappe, Mrs. Howard Shaman, Miss Elizabeth Kirk and Miss Irene McNulty.

Important Wedding Date.

In order to avoid a clashing of dates Miss Elizabeth Sellers has chosen a date far into the winter, Thursday, January 4, for her wedding to Fletcher Collins, a son of Mrs. Henry Eaton Collins of Dallas avenue, Homewood. It will be a brilliant afternoon event, probably at 4 o'clock, in Calvary Protestant Episcopal church, with the Rev. Dr. James H. McIlvaine officiating. Miss Anne Burgwin has been asked to serve as maid of honor, and there will also be several other attendants. The church service will be followed by a small reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Sellers in Wightman street.

Wedding at the Schenley.

The engagement of Miss Martha Grace Brown and Robert Perry McCurdy which was announced a short time ago, will terminate in a quiet wedding at the Hotel Schenley tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Dr. Robert Waddington Grange, rector of the Church of the Ascension, will solemnize the marriage, the guests including only the immediate relatives. The bride-elect is a daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Brown of Baum street, and of the late P. Benton Brown. She and her husband will be at home after January 1, in Baum street, East End.

Debutante Cards Are Out.

Cards were received yesterday for the tea which Mrs. Samuel Ayers of Morewood place will give to introduce her daughter, Miss Helen Ayres, from 3 until 6 o'clock on the afternoon of Thursday, November 9.

Mr. and Mrs. William McConway issued cards yesterday for the reception which they will give at the Hotel Schenley on Saturday, November 11, from 4 until 8 o'clock, to introduce their youngest daughter, Miss Josephine Eaton McConway.

Farewell for Traveler.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown gave a beautifully appointed little luncheon at her home, Fifth and Murray Hill avenues, yesterday, as a farewell for her mother, Mrs. J. D. Boyle, who leaves soon to spend the winter in California. The luncheon, although informal, was thoroughly delightful. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

Notes of Society.

Mrs. John Little of Sewickley announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Laura Little, to Silas M. Simpson. No date has been named for the wedding.

Senator J. P. Dolliver of Iowa will open the Allegheny Star course of entertainments this evening with a lecture on "A Boy's Worth," in Allegheny Carnegie hall.

Miss Mary Ethel McAuley of Oakland avenue entertained informally at cards last evening in honor of her brother, James B. Blaine McAuley, and his fiancee, Miss Viola Stevenson, whose marriage will be an event of November 15.

Dr. and Mrs. Alexander AE McCandless of Wightman street, gave a dinner last evening following the rehearsal in the Sixth Presbyterian church for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mary Gertrude McCandless, and Robert B. Petty, Jr. The wedding is dated for tomorrow evening in the church.

Exhibition of Miniatures and Antiques.

A unique exhibition will be conducted Friday afternoon and evening, November 3, in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music, for the benefit of the Lawreneeville Public Washhouse and Baths. It will consist of loan exhibition of Oriental rugs, one of the finest displays of miniatures in this country, and a collection of curios including beautiful altar cloths, richly embroidered in gold, relics of different historical periods and events, antique books and various other interesting curios.

The Oriental rugs, comprising one of the choicest collections in Pittsburgh, will be loaned by Mrs. D. C. Clapp of Amberson avenue, Shadyside, the president of the Pittsburgh Baths association, which erected and supports the Lawreneeville Public Bath. The miniatures to be exhibited are the possession of D. C. Clapp, and Miss Sophie Keenan and sister, Mrs. Alfred Pettit, will have charge of this feature. The altar cloths with their rich embroideries, some of them dating back many centuries, belong to a collection owned by Judge and Mrs. James Hay Reed. Some relics and curios which will be placed on exhibition are the property of Mrs. W. M. S. Hammond of Berryville, Va., who has loaned them for this occasion. Among them are garments fashioned more than a century ago, a primitive lamp of the eighteenth century; several relics of the Confederacy, a copy of Welsh music belonging to the eleventh or twelfth century, the Apocryphal Books of the New Testament, rejected by the Council of Nice, A. D. 325; some relics of the days of the first president and a stirrup cut from Sheridan's saddle on his famous ride to Winchester.

Keep Station Open All Winter.

At the meeting of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Sterilized Milk and Ice association yesterday morning it was decided to keep the distributing station in the chapel of the Fourth Avenue Baptist church open all winter if there be any demand at all. The distributing station in The King's Own Mission in Robinson street, Allegheny, will be closed November 1, while that in the Woods Run Industrial home will remain open until December 1, but because there is so much typhoid fever and other sickness in the district supplied from the Fourth Avenue station that will be kept open and arrangements will be made to heat the place. There is plenty of money in the treasury and the women feel an obligation to meet the need as long as there is one. Mrs. Florence Wade, the secretary of the association, reported the work which has been accomplished through the Fourth Avenue station and that in Robinson street, Allegheny, the work of the Woods Run station being reported by Mrs. Fred East of Bellevue, this station having been installed and supported by the Bellevue auxiliary. Arrangements were made yesterday for the annual meeting to be held in the church offices of Bishop Cortlandt Whitehead, Lewis block, on November 27. Mrs. Enoch Rauh, president of the association, presided at the meeting yesterday morning. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. W. G. Bishop, showed a balance of over $1,300 in the treasury.

Taming of the Shrew.

The Taming of the Shrew was the play selected for discussion at yesterday's meeting of the Womans' club of Homestead. In addition to the readings from the play reports of the meeting of the State Federation were given. Miss Martha D. McClure represented the club at Cambridge Springs, Mrs. C. C. Huff being an alternate. Miss McClure was also elected an alternate from the state to the meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs next spring in St. Paul.

Euchre for Members Only.

Mrs. Reese Lindsay will call a meeting of the entertainment committee of the Winodansis club in a few days to arrange for the next meeting of the club, which will be held on Tuesday afternoon, November 14, in Syria Temple. A euchre will be given for the members of the club, no outside guests being invited. A number of young girls, daughters of members of the club, will assist the entertainment committee.

Lecture on Art.

Fraulein Stolle will lecture on Wednesday of this week before the Women's club of Sewickley in the Edgeworth club house, on "Old Friends and New in the Realms of Art." The talk will be illustrated by lantern pictures. Fraulein Stolle is a native of Berlin and a graduate of the Royal academy.

HEAR MANY PAPERS READ.

Ministers in Weekly Session Discuss Varied Subjects—Special Meeting of Pittsburgh Presbytery.

"The Ministry That Is Worth While," was the subject of a paper read before the regular weekly meeting of the United Presbyterian Ministerial association yesterday morning by the Rev. J. G. Kennedy. The paper was later generally discussed. Presbyterian clergymen heard an address by the Rev. Dr. W. R. Farmer on the "Book on the Fourth Gospel." Following the paper a special meeting of Pittsburgh presbytery was held to dismiss the Rev. Drs. S. J. Fisher, Thomas Parry and A. H. Jolly from presbytery to permit them to accept other connections.

John C. Spelcher, principal of Munhall public schools, addressed Methodist Episcopal pastors on "Power of Soul Over Body." The Rev. T. W. Colhour of Waynesburg spoke to the Methodist Protestant preachers on "Press and Religion" and held that there were no more great editors, but that great newspaper men had succeeded them. The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge addressed the Baptist ministers on "Roger Williams and Religious Liberty," while Lutheran pastors were addressed by the Rev. S. M. Carpenter.

IRVINE IN NEW CHURCH.

Unfrocked Episcopal Clergyman Will Enter the Priesthood of the Russian Orthodox Body.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30.—(Special.)—Invitations were sent out today for a divine liturgy in St. Nicholas' cathedral, New York city, next Sunday, on which occasion the Rev. Dr. Ingram N. W. Irvine, the unfrocked Protestant Episcopal clergyman who fought Bishop Ethelbert Talbot so long and so bitterly, will be formally admitted into the priesthood of the Russian Orthodox Catholic church. Said Dr. Irvine tonight:

"I have weighed seriously the positions of the different portions of Christendom and have come to the conclusion the holy Eastern church affords a better basis for the reunion of Christendom than any other part of the Catholic church. In her midst, I hope to be the loving friend of the Anglican church, as well as of the Roman and Protestant churches."

Ensign Wade's Trial Begins.

MARE ISLAND, CAL., Oct. 30.—The court-martial of Ensign Charles Wade, accused of responsibility for the boiler explosion on the United States gunboat Bennington, began today, before the same court that has just tried Commander Lucien Young of the same vessel on a similar charge.

LADIES' FOUR-IN-HAND WIN SINGING CONTEST

Meet All Comers in Warren A. M. E. Church and Beat All Two Pairs Shown.

The "Ladies' Four-In-Hand-Quartet" demonstrated the fact that they were four of a kind equal to excelling any two pairs, in the singing line, in the Warren African Methodist Episcopal congregation, in a contest which was held in the church, Fulton and Clark streets, last evening.

The contest was part of a program furnished by the Young Men's Relief club and the Willing Workers' club of the congregation. The first of the competitors was to have been the Patriotic quartet, but it didn't appear. The four-in-handers then sang "Take Me Home" and the congregation applauded the sentiment. The Osceola Ladies' quartet, which followed, was somewhat handicapped because no one could play the accompaniment of "Take Good Care of Mother, For You'll Miss Her When She's Gone." In order not to have any advantage, the four-in-handers then sang "The Church Across the Way" without accompaniment. The Ebenezer Baptist quartet and the Warren male quartet failed to appear.

The principal address of the evening was made by the Rev. Dr. W. H. W. Rees of the Smithfield Street church, who spoke on "The Southern Problem." He held that education alone would solve the race question, and suggested that the colored man apply himself to three books—the primer, for education; the bank book, for thrift, and the Bible, for character. During the evening a chorus of 50 voices sang "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Master's In the Cold, Cold Ground."

In conclusion, the pastor, the Rev. D. W. Shaw, made two important announcements. One was that Prof. Harry Miller, who answered the Rev. Thomas Dixon's book, "The Leopard's Spots," would deliver an address in the church Thanksgiving evening, and the other that turkey and ice cream were awaiting the congregation in the basement.
